Jesus' Sunday Sermons 2019

The Command

"This is my command: Love each other." ... Jesus ... John 15:17

The Promise

*"If anyone loves me, he will obey my teaching.
My Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our home with him." ... Jesus ... John 14:23*

Holding these words in our hearts, we opened the door to the everyday Presence of Jesus, walking with us ... teaching us ... The Way.

And, onto the mountain,
there came the words
...as promised...

December 29, 2019

“I AM with you. From within you, you hear The Whisper, and The Whisper stirs you, and opens you, and makes it possible for you to hear the words within. I AM with you. If you will listen, you will know the ways of Heaven, the ways of God, the pathway to perfection will be one you travel every day, because all things are perfected in God's love, and therein, in that light of love, you find peace.

“Miracles happen every day. In fact, they happen for you and from you every day. Miracles are those things that cannot be explained, they just happen. Could it be as simple as, miracles are the will of God? They happen, because that is what is meant to be. Miracles happen because of The Divine Plan. Miracles happen in the course of God's will unfolding within you and around you, within the people around you, and these miracles roll-out like a grand carpet onto the Earth, when there are those willing to say, ‘Thy will be done.’

“It is not wrong for you to ask. If you would like something, if your heart calls-out, speak to God. Before your words He know your heart, therefore God knows what you would like to happen; but, having thought it, or felt it, or said it, and with confidence knowing that God has read it on your heart already, be comfortable in the words, ‘Thy will be done,’ so the miracles can flow, for you see these miracles come from something you do not know. You are limited in the asking for what you think is possible, but understand that with God all things are possible, beyond that which you know.

“My earthly mother, a young woman, going about her business during the day, often, as was the custom, to stop and pray, when encountered by a magnificent angel, she had what she thought in her mind would be the way things would turn-out for her, but in faith she said, let it happen according to Your will, let it be done unto me according to Your will. In other words, ‘Thy will be done.’ And, in placing it back in the hands of God, in gently pulling the thread through the tapestry of The Divine Plan of Eternity she bore a Son, she delivered a Son of God into the world of man. This miracle happened, because of, ‘Thy will be done.’

“My life upon the Earth was amazing. You do not forget your lifetime upon Earth. It is an opportunity to do much, but I tell you, in My final hours, I quaked. My heart, My thoughts, My words were prayers, asking if what I was to do could be accomplished in any other way. But, God The Father had already read My heart before I uttered the words, and His gentle response moved through Me like mighty thunder. His gentle response, His loving response was so powerful it lifted Me to My feet and gave Me the courage and the strength to say, ‘Thy will be done.’ And, upon the heels of these words, I too delivered. I delivered each one of you. ‘Thy will be done.’

“You know the desires upon your heart. You know the words you pray, the things you would like to have happen, but you are limited in your knowledge of eternity. You do not know, at this time, the great things that God has in plan for you, but God knows. Therefore, I ask you to find the courage to say, ‘Thy will be done,’ and then watch and see what you deliver to the Earth, for I can assure you, it will be grander than anything you could imagine, because God The Father has plans for you. His hand has moved, and the words are written upon your heart. Deliver the will of God today.”

December 22, 2019

“I AM with you, and, with joyous celebration, I reach-out, and say to you, ‘I AM with you.’ From The Dimension of Perfection, you know as Heaven, I come to speak with you, to talk with you, so that you might begin to know Me better, and understand creation continuing, understanding it in such a way that you know you are an eternal being, and this is but a piece of your life. Let us walk this piece together.

“You have reached a season upon the Earth where many of you are celebrating My earthly birth, and there are stories, and movies, and songs, and conversations about individuals whose names are: Mary, and Joseph, and Jesus. You talk about the angels, and the Wise Men, about the challenges, the terror. You talk about Elizabeth. You speak of many things. You speak of how the journey of a young girl began with a message from an angel, Gabriel, and how this put her in a place which might be considered threatening, and yet angels were at work again, instructing the man to take the woman in. And so, it began, with angels, and dreams, and visions galore, confirmation and acknowledgement from family members, and so, at what seemed miraculous conditions, a young family began. And, you might think that announcement from angels, and singing, and dreams, and prophecies fulfilled might lead them to a life of laughter and joy, but this was not the case. There were tears and sorrow mixed-in with the laughter and joy, and it all seemed to come to a crashing end at a place of disgrace, in a scene which the world would describe as abject failure. But, what appears to be a challenge and a failure, through the eyes of the world, is not necessarily so. It is often the seed which brings forth growth, an eternal garden that is revered by Heaven, and unseen by man.

“If you take away the names, Mary, Joseph, Jesus, Elizabeth, angels, shepherds, Wise Men, take all these names out of what I just described, birth, life, challenge, joy, tears, failure, unseen glory, it could be your story. This thought often escapes those thinking about the miracle of My birth, the celebration of Christmas, but My birth and My life could be your birth and your life. Today, I would like you to sit quietly, and ponder the miracle that is you.

“While the conditions of each of your births are not the same, some of them, some birthing experience, some announcement of birth, could have come at most inopportune time for the mother and the father. They might have thought, ‘It will bring hardship.’ It might have come a time when someone was sick or had lost their job. But, come it did, and during this time of challenge what happened was, the birth of a child, at what appeared to be a difficult time, only brought to the parents the knowing that they did it, they accomplished something they thought would be impossible to do. And, with each step of The Way, these promises, and confirmations, were renewed over, and over again. You see, the challenges that come are only the opportunity to prove that really nothing is impossible, when it is yours to do.

“Even at times when you have felt the sting of humiliation, falling completely on your face, slipping out of grace of family members and friends, the fact that you are listening to these words, or reading these words, means you got-up, you passed through the sting, and the hurt, and the rejection, and you kept moving forward. It wasn't the end of you, because there was more to do. You see, our lifetimes upon Earth are more the same than they are different. I would like you to ponder today, the miracle of you.”

December 15, 2019

“I AM with you. I reach-out to you, the same way Our Father reached-out to Me, when I walked upon the Earth. The comfort that this brought to Me, I wish to extend and continue by offering it to you. I AM with you, know this, then you will be more apt to receive the guidance from this side of the veil, and reject the direction from the ways of the world, for when the ways of the world are of light they will parallel your direction from behind the veil, and this will be pleasing to you as you smile, and see this. When the ways of the world are opposite, they will go-off in another direction, and you will stay with Me. I AM with you.

“At this time of year many of you are preparing, or perhaps are already in the midst of celebrating this season, commemorating My birth upon the Earth. And, when you are celebrating My birth upon the Earth, it is impossible not to bring-in, and recognize, all the miracles surrounding My birth upon the Earth, miraculous occurrences that played-out upon the Earth, because so many were willing to believe. And so that they might not miss the great event, the signs were powerful. The unseen walked upon the Earth, and was seen, so that those who were meant to be present, at a certain place, and at a certain time, were present. There were no accidents. It was all written, and came to fruition, because it was important to do so.

“Today, I wish to encourage you to understand that throughout the day you are giving birth. You are giving birth to your thoughts, and these thoughts, created within you, live. They live in the words you say, and the things you do. These thoughts even impact those around you, for you sieve all that you hear through your thoughts and your beliefs. You arrive at decisions because of your thoughts and beliefs. Once you understand the power of your thought, and see it in this way, you will be vigilant to guard your thoughts, to direct your thoughts as a master would do so, rejecting the wrong direction, knowing within your being, that there is no need to turn right, when you see The Light in the path you are on. Give your thoughts the attention they deserve, and do not let them wander. Your words reveal what is held within you, many times, even when you are choosing to deceive, by speaking words to suit those around you, bits of your thoughts will impact the words you say.

“Throughout this week, when you have a thought, direct the gift of this thought toward The Light. Let your creations be of Light, and send them forth from you, riding upon the words that you do say, by blessing all who come your way. Bless all things. You can change the course of the world by blessing rather than cursing. So, give birth to this change, and let your words bring forth The Deeds of Light. Do not wander in darkness when it is not necessary. Direct your thoughts and see where they will take you. The day is set before you. Thoughts are jumping in your head already. Now, direct them, as a good master knows how to do, and send them forth from you in a celebration of words that are a blessing to all people and all nations, and let this noble deed begin in your thoughts, and come through you.”

December 8, 2019

“I AM with you. I reach-out to touch you. I step through the veil, and the unseen lives in your belief, for believing becomes knowing. That which you believe is your experience. That which you believe alters everything you see. Therefore, believe in Me, as I believe in you. I see you through the eyes of God, and your light will live forever. Believe.

“Sometimes you read a book, or listen to a story, or go to a movie, and the courage shown, in the movie, or written on the pages of a book, or held active in the words of a story, enralls you, is compelling, and you think about the character in the book, or the story, or the movie and you wish you could do the same. And I say to you, you can do the same. All things are possible. The only thing which limits you is all the baggage and debris clogged within you, which you have been unable to remove through forgiveness. This unwanted baggage will cling, and will try to stay with you, but I tell you to experience The Light of God, as you walk upon the Earth, in the way you are meant to experience life upon the Earth, requires that you shed the baggage you carry, so that you can run free, so that you can dance on the wind, so that you can do all things, so that you can be light as a feather, and laughter be your song.

“Whenever something is bothering your eye, you try to figure-out what is in your eye that is either a nuisance or painful, and so you either have someone close to you look into your eye to see what is causing this discomfort, or you go to a doctor. Sometimes it is a piece of fuzz, sometimes it might be some debris that blew into your eye. No matter what it is, once it is removed the irritation diminishes, and soon the eye is back to normal. You can see, because you are free of debris. Most of you have encountered getting a splinter in your finger, or a sliver of glass that you cannot see, something so small that is causing the tip of your finger to turn red, and be very tender to the touch, yet it avoids the eye. You cannot see what it is to remove it, but you know it is there. So, you get help from a friend, or a family member, or perhaps a medical professional. But, as soon as the splinter is removed, or the sliver of glass is identified, your finger begins to feel better. The redness goes away, and the tender spot no longer hurts when you touch something. You are free of the pain. You can touch again, without concern. And sometimes these irritations occur within your heart, from past transgressions, words said in a moment without thought, or intentional insult or abuse. You cannot see the wounds on the body, for they are unseen. They have injured the heart. But, if you will take the time, to sit and go within, and remove each of these painful slivers of glass, or splinters, or dust, or debris the heart will begin to heal, just as the eye, and just as the finger. And, when it is all removed, all that unseen injury, that unseen wound, begins to heal, and you begin to love again.

“It is not necessary to experience life unable to see, or unable to touch, or unable to love, because these things, that are the nuisance, can be removed. And once they are removed, you are free. You are free to be who you are meant to be. Believe in the seen and the unseen, as they are both with you.”

December 1, 2019

“I AM with you, and that is good. I AM with you as God is with you. I AM with you as The Holy Spirit is with you. You have been given so much to assure that you do not feel lost, or afraid, or alone, while you walk upon the Earth. Do not ignore that which you have been given. Do not turn away from that which you have been given. Open your heart, and then open the eyes of your soul, for your heart and your soul will tell you what needs to be told, and these things will be: your anchor in a storm; your ship upon the sea; your light upon a hillside.

“Angels are messengers from God. Their creation was of love, energy that sparked and filled all that was with the presence of angelic beings. God created angels, and their visits to Earth are recorded throughout Scripture, throughout holy writings. And, while every account of their presence, their being, their messages are not complete, there is enough recorded for those who care to know that angels were there. They sang anthems when Earth was created, for they were there with the stars. Angels can take many forms. They do The Will of God, and when they are sent forth, they go, and as they go, they might come to you, choosing whatever form they feel will best complete the mission handed to them by God.

“You have been told to watch for the signs. You have been told to be still and quiet so you might hear. But, how often do you expect to be touched by the presence of an angel. Expect this to happen. Look for signs all around you, for that which God created is good. Do not put their existence on a shelf. Do not ignore their existence, for that which comes from God is holy. Open your heart to the truth.

“You are about to begin a time on Earth that is set on a certain date to remember My birth. And while you do so, this time of year is a time of year that possibly you could open to the presence of angels, because it is impossible to read the accounts of My birth without reading of accounts about angels, from the first announcement, to the celebration on the hillside, to gathering Me up, and taking Me into Egypt. And, that was just the beginning, for all through My life I opened, and welcomed, the angels to minister to Me. During this season, which is commencing, open your heart to The Messengers from God, for the angels of The Lord will bring you words of comfort, courage, love, and wisdom. Do not turn away from that which is sent to save the day for you. Welcome each encounter with the being sent from God, and in this way, while you are living upon the Earth, you will know the guidance from Heaven.

“Be at peace this day, as you prepare to celebrate My birthday later this month. Be at peace and welcome the angels with you, for they are divine, and they are of God.”

November 24, 2019

“I AM with you. Let us walk through this day together, for as you still yourself, as quiet grows within you, you will feel My presence with you, and every aspect of you will realize who you are, and you will stand tall, and embrace the new day, eager to see: what you can create; what you will make your reality; all that you will embrace; and, all that you will reject, outright. So, let us not tarry at the doorway of today, let us cross the threshold, and be on our way.

“Earth is a Garden of Heaven. As time moved, and creation continued Earth was altered, changed. The ways of man created cities and towns, buildings and bridges, and began to master the intellect of the human body, in such a way, that appeared to many (that) it was not necessary to connect with God every day. What was necessary was to work hard, do your best, so that you might amass comfort, and coin, and call yourself wealthy. And, with each passing step, into the world of man, the ego grew, and it became healthy; but, ego isolates you, and you begin to feel you are alone, and the only thing that will help you is what you do on your own, for your own.

“Today, I would like for you to remember, especially those of you who are being cast-aside, or rejected in any way, or perhaps there is gossip about you on the lips of others, or in the thoughts of other, I too was rejected. It was said that I was doing the work of the devil. It was said that I drank wine, and sat with moneychangers, and prostitutes. It was said that I broke the law. It was said that I was a false prophet. I can assure you I could go on and on. These charges, this gossip, this rejection, all had a source, and the source was ego, and judgment, and ultimately condemnation, conviction, crucifixion. But I could not stop that which I was sent to do to take each aside and try to convince them of something they would not believe. What is important, in your lifetime, is that you hold the reigns of your reality in your hands, and you direct your course to accomplish what you were sent to do, and that does not include guiding the course of what others are supposed to do, trying to make others conform to what you are to do.

“The only way you will know what you are to do, every day of your lifetime upon Earth, is to make that connection with God, and make it strong. But even with the strongest connection to Homebase, if you are in an environment filled with chaos, and confusion, and the ways of the world, it will be difficult to hear what God wants you to do. Begin to practice setting yourself aside. Do not stand in the chaos and confusion. Walk into the forest amongst the trees. Walk where there is grass, and you can hear the song of the bird, the rustle of the leaves in the trees as the breeze catches them. Take yourself to a quiet place where you can hear, and then you will know how God is leading you all along The Way. But once you hear, what do you do, what do you say, when the message comes to you that is not quite the message you had hoped to receive? You still, in faith, rise-up and do, because The Will of God is actually your will too.

“The enlightened ones know and embrace the spiritual DNA of God. You are a child of God. You will live forever; and, while you might not grasp this totally, while you are in human form, I can assure you it is true. Your life does not end when your body is through. You rise-up and continue with what you will do eternally, forever with God.

“I came as an example to show what to do. I also was an example of what the world can do to you, but you must not fear what the world will do to you when there is something greater ahead of you. I did many things, worked many miracles, and made a startling announcement to any who would hear. I made it clear. You can do all that I AM doing, and even greater things. Do you believe that? Do you embrace that? If you embrace that you are a child of God, on Earth but for a while, it will not take you too long to see the reason and the truth in that: I too was sent from God; I too wore the human form, the human body; and, I too was on Earth, but for a while.

“The minute you accept that you are a child of God, and God is within you, and Heaven is within you, then the truth does dawn on you in a mighty way. There is great responsibility in what you say. If there is a piece of God within you, you can find the peace of God within you. And once you find the peace of God within you, the clouds of chaos fall away, and you see the light dawning on the new day. Do not waste a minute of your lifetime upon Earth in anger, and frustration, and doubt, and confusion. Today, accept who you are, be quiet, and ask for guidance, and follow, as I did follow. Rise-up, and I will walk with you all through this day. Rise-up, and be still, and God will show you The Way. Let us not tarry in the doorway of this day. Let us step over the threshold and embrace this piece of eternity that is ours today.”

November 17, 2019

“I AM with you. Let there be joy in your heart. I AM with you. And for those of you who believe I AM with you, there is a spring in your step, a song upon your lips, laughter comes quick to your ways, joy fills the air around you, because you believe I AM with you, therefore you are never alone. You always know The Way, and knowing this brings you confidence and peace, no matter what is happening around you. And, because you live in this way you inspire others around you to do so, as well.

“What you believe will be. What you trust is the truth will be your truth; for, when I called to Peter to come out of the boat and join Me, he was so happy to hear My voice that he rose-up, got out of the boat, and began to walk on water toward Me, until ego's tool of doubt pushed him down, and under. And, even though he had already stepped out onto the water, and it was possible to do, doubt told him no, therefore he could no longer do. Doubt removed the belief and the truth and left him sinking in a sea of water. This is what happens every day. What you believe you can do, you will do. It might take practice and effort from you, but still you will do it, because you believe you can do it. When God calls you to do something, if you believe God is calling you to do that something, no matter what the cost to you personally, you will do it, because you believe God is asking you to do it.

“I want to tell you a story, and while you think, when you hear the story, it might not apply to you, I assure each of you, hearing these words, or reading these words, it does apply to you. There was a construction site, and many people working on the construction site, and one of the buildings began to crumble, and steel, and stone, and nails fell and crushed the bones, the backs, and the legs of three men caught under the rubble. They were pulled-out and taken to a hospital. Each of the men had the exact, same injuries to the back and the legs, and it appeared to those professionals around them that not one of these men would walk again. And so, the doctors, and the nurses, and the hospital staff began doing what they could do until the time of release, to send them home. Now, one man began to cry, and believe he would never walk again, that was his fate. Another began to question whether he would ever walk again. And the third man asked if there was anyone else who could take a look and see what could be done. He was told there was a specialist, a doctor who could work miracles, and heal those who others said could not be healed. And, this third man asked if that doctor could be call, and so the doctor came, the doctor who could work miracles when others said, ‘No it is not possible’.

“The doctor went to each of the rooms, three rooms, three men, and said the same thing, ‘I am telling you the truth. I have looked at your records, I have seen the x-rays. I know you can walk, but you must believe in me, and you must practice through the pain, work through the exercise, and stay focused on the goal.’ Three men, three different endings, because... One man could not get through all of the voices he heard saying, ‘You will never walk again,’ and so he did not try, because his truth was gathered from those who said he would not walk. Therefore, he believed he could not walk, and he did not walk. The second man wanted to believe, and he tried, and he worked through the pain, and he hoped he could walk one day, but he struggled with believing that it was true. Sometime later, he could limp, with the help of a cane. He made his way through the days bent over, hobbling from place to place. But, the third man would not believe those who said he could not do it when the doctor who could work miracles said it was possible. So, he reached-out and held the truth, and believed the truth, and worked through the pain every day. A year later, he was walking down a street. He went to visit the man who was in the wheelchair, and he carried the groceries for the man with the cane.

“What you believe is possible, is possible. When the truth is given to you, embrace it, and work through no matter what pain you must work through. The Doctor who can do all things is within you. The Holy Spirit has been sent to each of you, and will show you The Way, even in the darkness, even through the pain. But, even with this miracle Doctor within you, you must do the work. You must believe beyond hope. You must believe, and you must be willing to work through the pain, then you too will rise-up, and be whole once again.”

November 10, 2019

“I AM with you. I love you. I wrap My arm around your shoulder, and draw you near to Me, and laughing we go down a path together, drawing closer and closer to each other with every step we take. This journey is ours together, for we are one. I left this information with those whom I loved before I returned to The Heavenly Kingdom, because it is one of the most important lessons you can ever learn. One, we are all connected as one. That is why: when you are joyful, I feel your joy; when you are sad, I feel your sadness; when you are lifted-up in the air to dance, I dance; and, when you are prompted to sing, I sing with you. We are one.

“For the purpose of a lesson, let us imagine that you have been invited to a social event which includes dancing, with a partner, on a grand ballroom floor, and you are eager to attend this event, because it is a great celebration; but, you do not know how to dance socially. You consider yourself a good dancer behind the closed doors in your bedroom. When the music is playing, and no one is watching, you dance alone. But, in a social setting you are not sure that you can make it across the floor without tripping yourself, or your partner, without looking too stiff, or too loose. And so there comes a plan, to find a dance teacher who will show you the moves, teach you the steps, and you do. And, in the arms of the teacher you learn the steps, you learn the movement, you learn to glide across the floor without tripping, or stumbling. And, with practice you gain more confidence, and soon you are ready for the great event, so skilled in your steps, and your movement, you will be able to step out onto the dance floor, and guide another safely to the other side of the room, to show the way through what you were willing to learn, through what you were willing to practice. And, when it is time for the event, and the music plays, you rise-up, extend your hand, and you and your partner move onto the floor, moving this way and that, no stumbling or slipping, gliding as if you were flying over the ballroom floor. Confidence came from being willing to listen, and learn, and practice.

“This applies to your everyday life. You can choose to move through a day randomly, no intention, no plan. And, when you choose this random path, you can be pushed and pulled this way and that, depending on what is happening around you. Ah, but you also have another choice. You can move into the day with purpose, with intention, preparing for a great event, asking for The Hand of God to guide you as you move through the day, listening to what God does say to you, and making each movement, each step, as it is called. And, you practice and practice. This is not random at all. This is seeking The Master, taking The Hand of The Master, following each step, gaining confidence all along The Way. Today, I encourage you to ask for The Hand of God, accept that which you are given by way of teaching, and practice, so that you might be confident as you move through the day.”

November 3, 2019

“I AM with you. You can feel My presence with you; and, while you might not see Me, with your physical eyes, the eyes of your physical body, you can feel Me. You can feel My presence in your heart, within your spirit and your soul. You do not need to see to boldly say, ‘I see You with my heart, I know You in my spirit, I celebrate and sing of You in my soul.’ I understand, as I walked upon the Earth as well, that you are limited in many ways. So, this morning we celebrate that you have the faith to be still and hear Me, feel Me, and know Me. For, I see you, I see your heart, and your spirit, and I know your soul.

“Sometimes, there is a temptation, while you are living upon the Earth, to believe that all the things that you have done in your life make you unworthy to call upon Our Father, to speak to Me. Sometimes, the debris stacked on your sacredness seems as hard as concrete, or rocks, gravel, stones, steel. Many times, through the course of your life, you are tempted to travel farther and farther away from The Light of God; and, some of you might find yourselves in that state today. You are so far away from The Light, and there is so much debris piled upon that sacred piece of God within you, that you no longer even believe it is there. But it is there. And, The Light of God will summon from you that eternal life that is within you, and that life will follow The Light, no matter how trying the journey, up through the debris, the bricks, and the mortar, and the steel, and the coldness, to be bathed in The Light of God. If you will surrender sweetly to that Light, so completely, it will draw forth from you, the eternal life that is within you, and then, you will walk upon the Earth as an eternal being from The Kingdom of God. And, your walk will be different, your step will be sacred, your words will be holy, and your heart will be loving. You will no longer deliver pain, you will no longer receive the pain, because you are living an eternal life.

“When it is difficult to remember these words, I ask you to hang the two pictures I AM going to paint for you within your heart so it will call the words to memory. Envision a grand boulder, with a little crack, and see the magnificent tree, growing out of the crack of the boulder, lifting up, up, up into the light. The light of the sun drew the life of the tree from out of the rock. See next, a sidewalk, wide, and strong, concrete, people walking up and down the sidewalk, and there, in a small crevice, a little crack, the most delicate flower is growing, and reaching toward the sun. The light of the sun has brought the life of the flower up through the layers of rocks, and mortar, and concrete; and, even the stomping of the feet cannot deny the life of the flower.

“When you feel empty, alone, disconnected from God in any way, see those two pictures, and know eternal life is within you, and The Light of God will bring it forth from you, always.”

October 27, 2019

“I AM with you. It is not difficult to reach through the dimensions to touch one another with whispered words of wisdom. When you close your eyes, and open your heart, and let your soul point The Way, your spirit will dance with delight, because with your earthly eyes, your physical eyes, closed, it is possible to imagine yourself in a space which is uncluttered, unrestricted, undefined or confined. These experiences allow you to open more to the possibility that, as you seek guidance, it will come, and most often it comes in a most unsuspected way, unexpected way.

“It is easy to say that you believe that God is always with you. In fact, sometimes it is said: out of practice; out of habit; out of something you have heard said, many times; something that has been told to you, many times. But, do you understand it? For most of you, you take this on faith. You have faith that God is with you, and when you move deeper into your faith, that God is with you, you begin to embrace God with you.

“Many things, which are not easily understood on the spiritual level, are reflected in things that happen on the Earth. You see them and understand them. As you know nature, and the ways of Earth, you begin to draw nearer to comprehending the spiritual connection with: the beings of other dimensions, the beings of Heaven; those who have passed through the veil, and returned Home; God, The Creator of All Things.

“God is always with you. Heaven is always with you. While you are walking upon the Earth, this can be difficult to remember. But, if you pay attention to what is happening around you, and you watch for the signs, the signs will often reflect that which you cannot see, giving your faith in the unseen a boost, because something so close to it is playing-out in front of you.

“The storm that comes and rattles your windows and your nerves, floods your yard, falls trees, and downs electric lines is an experience you wish to not have many times. It is unsettling. But, above that storm, beyond that storm, there is a peaceful sky, and a bright sun. This plays-out in your relationship with The Creator of All Things. No matter what is going-on around you, The Source of All Power is always there, within you. But, often you cannot feel The Presence of God with you, because of all the clouds, and lightening, and thunder within you, blocking the passageways of your inner sanctuary, crowding the paths, and the roads, making it difficult for you to reach that chamber, and be at peace. But, just because there are storms around you and within you, it does not mean that God is not there with you, as well. For, just as the sun and the blue sky are beyond the clouds, so too is The Presence of God within you.

“Once you grasp this teaching, and fully comprehend the meaning, you will grow in wisdom, and the storms will not threaten you, even though they might invade your present day, you will know that God is with you, not far away. And, the storm will pass, and you will be at peace.”

“I AM with you. For those of you who feel My Presence, even slightly, or hear My Words, even dimly, for those of you who receive My Blessing, even occasionally, there is no doubt, you believe it is possible, therefore it happens. There is no doubt within you, because you know who I AM. But, for those who doubt it is difficult, and sometimes not even possible to feel My Presence, to know I AM with you, because you are not willing to open. And, because you say you cannot feel, or hear, or know, that is your reality, but it does not change the truth that I AM with you, and for those of you who are willing to open you know this.

“You have read a good bit about the living word, you have heard a good bit about the living word, and perhaps you have even talked a good bit about the living word, but today I would like you to consider the power held within the living word. You do not have to live many years to encounter someone, a child, a grown person, who will make a pronouncement, ‘I cannot do it.’ And, because they have made this pronouncement, announcing to all who will hear that they cannot do it, the reality is, they cannot do it. They will not even try to do it, because it is set within their head that they cannot do it. Now, you can stand with them, or sit with them, all day to tell them the ways they can to it, and they might still rise-up, believing on their heart they cannot do it. But, if you show them how it is done, they cannot deny that you can do it, and the next step forward is, if you can do it, they can do it. They might not do it as well as you do it, but they can do it. So, the power of the living word is extraordinary in its course of showing the way. The same thing goes with forgiveness, kindness, love, compassion, understanding. You can talk about these things, from the time the day begins until the time the day ends, and many will think, ‘I cannot do it. I cannot love that person. I cannot forgive that person. I cannot be kind to that person.’ They will hear the words, but it will not set a course for positive results. But, if you become the living word of love, kindness, compassion, understanding, faith, joyful living, if one can see you doing these things, you become the living word, and they cannot deny that you are doing it. Therefore, if you are doing it, they can do it, and the course follows. They might not do it as well as you did it, but it can be done, and with practice it can be done better, and better, and better. This was the reason, this was why, it was necessary for Me to show that it was possible to love, even those ensnared in the web of darkness and shadow. It is possible to love them. It is possible to be kind to those who spit upon your face. It is possible.

“I set the course, so you could see that it is possible. The only thing required is your desire to do that which is possible. You might not do all that I did as well as I did it, at that time; but, with practice you will do it, and you will continue to do it, until it is perfected within you, in such a way, that those watching you say, ‘That man, that woman, they are doing it. If they can do it, I can do it!’ You see it is contagious. If you do it, you prove it to be possible. It is no longer words, flowing in a sentence from this, and that, to the other. You are now bringing those words to life, and they live. This is why I added that you can do everything I AM doing, you can do all that I AM doing. And, besides saying that, I added that you can do even greater things. So, there was no mistake in that message. I delivered the message, and you can do all that I did, but there must be the desire. There is power in the living word, and you hold that power within you.

“So today, as you make your way through the day into the night, know those around you are watching what you are doing, and saying. You are living-out, on a stage for all to see, your thoughts. Let this miracle of the living word take root in your thoughts and rise-up to be the living word of love, today.”

“I AM with you. I AM with you as closely as petals on a flower, as leaves on a tree, as ripples in the stream, as waves in the ocean, as sand in the desert. I AM with you, closely. And, even if you do not comprehend the meaning this day, I AM in you, and you are in Me, and I AM in The Father, a statement said thousands of years ago, so that you might begin to open, to comprehending: One, Unity, Oneness.

“There are some of you who are in the process of completing your mission, your ministry upon the Earth. You know what you have been created to do, sent to Earth to do, and by the grace of God, and your own strength and courage, you are doing what you are meant to do. Through faith you have been led, and you are where you are meant to be, saying the words you are meant to say, and doing the deeds you are meant to do. For this, God's love flows through you as a mighty river. You are the presence of God upon Earth. You are blessed.

“Some of you have an inkling of what you are being called to do, but the time has not provided an open door for you to walk through, so you are biding your time and waiting for the call to stir you to action. You do not have to wait. This is time for preparation. In fact, every day is time for preparation. For, when the call goes out, when the trumpet sounds, when The Whisper is heard from within, that is not the time to begin preparation. Preparation is now, and you can turn the practice of preparing into your mission, into your ministry, for it is the beginning. So, prepare.

“No matter where you find yourself today you have the opportunity to bring forth The Glory of God onto the Earth. If you are a teacher or a professor, you have a position of authority in the school, in the college, or university. Individuals look to you for answers, for explanation, for clarity, for knowledge, sometimes even wisdom. Do not think of what you do as a job. Think of it more as a calling, a calling which provides a space where you can show love, kindness, understanding, compassion every day, to everyone you encounter; and, through your actions, your words, and even your thoughts, you can make a difference, you can bring light where there was shadow or darkness. Do not give away, or reject, the opportunity to let all you do, during the day, be done for The Glory of God. And, the same applies to any workplace. While you might not be in management, you still have a presence, no matter what your job might be. And, as you have a job, there is an opportunity to do everything you do, each day, for The Glory of God. It does not matter whether you are hammering a nail, or signing an important document, or giving a lecture, or teaching work skills. Do not miss the opportunity to bring the presence of God into your workplace. And, what if you are a student? True, you are not the figure of authority in that school, in that institution of learning, but you have the opportunity, just as well. You have the opportunity to gather knowledge, to learn the figures and the words necessary so that you might graduate. But, while you are there, you have an opportunity to show respect, and kindness, and gratitude to all those around you, changing the atmosphere of the classroom so that those who come near you feel the presence of God through you.

“Do not give-up the days you have been given, saying that you do not know what it is you are to do. What it is you are to do will come to you, but most of the time you are led into it: by the daily tasks; by encounters with others; by games played on the playground, or at the gym. Every minute of every day, in your lifetime upon Earth, offers the opportunity to bring God to the center of what you are doing.

“If something is preventing you from walking amongst the poor, the homeless, the hungry, the thirsty, the wounded, those imprisoned and in hospitals, you can pray, you can bless, you can call forth your blessings upon each person you see. And, if something is preventing you from speaking kindly and lovingly, you can pray, and bless each person you see. You can start the changes, which need to be made, so that you are prepared for the mission, for the ministry, in your thoughts. What are you thinking? Are your thoughts a blessing, or are you cursing? Bless all you see.

“If only one of you, hearing My words, or reading My words this day, will rise-up, and accept the responsibility to create the perfect day, solely for The Glory of God, then the world be changed today. One person makes a difference in the energy which is upon the Earth. If ten of you will rise-up to do the same, it will be as a ripple on a pond. You see the importance when you do it. Once you begin to live this way, you will not choose any other way. You will want to live your entire time upon the Earth following The Way.”

“I AM with you. I AM with you so that you might be confident in what you are led to do. I AM with you to remind you of who you are, so that you might do what you are meant to do. I AM with you, and I touch you, so that you might always believe that your life is eternal. There is so much more for you to see, to remember, to return to, and to be. I AM with you.

“I AM with you today to remind you to not complicate the simple, beautiful words of God. There is no need to complicate the directions which come from God. So, I will not complicate what I AM going to say to you this morning. It will be simple, direct, and to the point. You read about My life. You read My words. You ponder My mission. And, most of the time you acknowledge that, as I was sent as The Living Word, The Example, you take courage and find strength in My example. How many times I repeated: ‘These are not My words. They are the words of Our Father;’ ‘That which I do, I do for the glory of God.’ This does not sound unusual to you, because you have heard it said, or you have read it yourself. Therefore, you must take some clue that I was not stringing together a series of incidents, and occurrences, and words that: were My own; were what I thought; were what I had learned in the world around Me. No. I did, and I said, as I was directed by God. That was My life, and that is why My mission, My ministry, holds true today, as it did thousands of years ago, because there were no worldly flourishes, or decorations, attached to what I did. I did as I was told to do, I spoke what I was told to say, and My mission was perfect each and every day. And, I took great joy in doing it.

“Do not loose sight of the fact that, if you are upon the Earth, you too have a mission. Do not focus so much attention on what I did and what I said that you lose track of what you are doing, and what you are saying. If you take what I said, and go deeper, you will understand, more completely, and succinctly, The Living Word, an Example, a Guidebook, just for you. You do not even have to think on that, just rise-up with great joy, because you will be guided to know exactly what you are to do, and what you are to say, if you can pull from you the power of the ego that distracts you, reminding you: what the rules of the world are; what the teachings of the world are; what other people will do or say, if you act in a certain way. My brothers and sisters turn your head from that immediately. If you want to live a joyful life of meaning, rise-up and do as God guides you to do.

“I Am the vine and you are the branches, this is a teaching of oneness, coming together. The vine and the branches.

“The Parable of the Prodigal Son, this is a teaching of great importance; but it was told simply as a story that everyone who was listening might understand and comprehend. Ah, but those who were open, and waiting, and thirsty, and hungry for more, they took it deeper, and understood the meaning. It was guidance, direction on how you should live your life: giving what you have to others; accepting them back into your arms and heart, even when they throw what you have given them away, and denied you their presence, denied you their kiss, for a while. Give, and then give more, and then stand ready to open the door when they return. It is guidance. It is simple. What about the story, the parable, about the workers in the field, who line-up, and are paid equal, no matter when they came to work in the field? Explanation, this parable is explanation! No worker in the world created by man would accept the same payment, if they had worked all day, as the one who had worked fifteen minutes; but, the explanation is of God's reality, what God has, and gives freely to all has no limits, is denied to no one. You come to God, and all the glory that is God, and it is not set aside in boxes for the one who has been 'good' for ten years, or the one who has been 'good' for fifteen minutes. It is all there. It is the same. God is love, simple and pure. It is given freely, because it is.

“Give of yourself freely, because you are. Do not shower your love upon those who do what you expect them to do, and portion it out to those who are not so attentive. Let the glory of God flow through you, so that the glory of God is the story of a child of God. These things are simple. The ways of the world try to make them complicated, and some say, difficult to do. But today, I say to you, they are simple, soften your heart and do.”

“I AM with you. I AM with you in a loving way. Sometimes, you can hear Me call you, in a whisper. Sometimes, you know, just in The Way you feel, that I AM speaking to you, and guiding you in every way, if you will. If you will follow Me, you will be at peace. Peace. My peace I give to you.

“There are so many things going-on in the world around you today. And, those things that are happening pull you this way and that way. Sometimes, the words, the information, the data that has been collected, can be confusing, can be contrary, can be opposite. It is all a mass of chaos and confusion, because there has become a science of knowing how to present certain things in a certain way to elicit a reaction, a response, from you, each and every day. These are the things of the world. These are the ways of the world. And, My brothers and sisters, they have always been the ways of the world; distractions, a multitude of distractions, leading you away, away from The Garden, away from The Way.

“Peace. Just saying the word, or hearing the word, creates a vibration of peace, and you feel it. The vibration of peace is soft and comfortable, and secure. Harsher words carry different feelings, different vibrations, with them. But, oh peace, it is as a soft pillow beneath your head, a warm blanket wrapped around you, a parent's kiss upon your head. This week I would like for you to experience and practice creating peace. Now, while this sounds very simple, I can assure you it is not, because the world you live in is often not peaceful. And, this lack of peace is the cause of so much illness, so much anxiety, so much stress. You cannot read about peace and know it. You cannot march in parades for peace and show it. The only way for you to establish a peaceful presence is to practice the creation of peace within you. And, as you practice creating peace within you, you will soon realize that you feel different. Everything around you looks different, because you are seeing what is happening through the eyes of peace. Do not allow yourself to be rattled, or frustrated, in any way. Your emotional health, your mental health, your physical health depends on establishing peace within your being. If you are at peace within you, then you are experiencing Earth as you are meant to. If you are at peace at the core of your being, nothing can rattle you, because you are living with God.”

“I AM with you. Let us rejoice: that I AM with you; that you are with Me; that we do not lose communication when there is desire to touch, to listen, to speak, to know, and to grow in a relationship that expands, and extends, beyond the limited scope of Earth, into the boundless eternal life of Heaven. It is miraculous that we can speak. It is precious that we can hear. It is wisdom that we can know.

“If you will bear with Me, for just a while, I would like to tell you a story. Once upon a time, there was a community of people, living together, working together, creating an atmosphere of camaraderie, forming a city, if you will, a city that was: composed of shops; extending-out to farm land, where there were rivers, and valleys, and trees, and flowers. It was idyllic, until the people began to notice clouds forming overhead. These clouds felt ominous. Strangely, they did not feel like the clouds that would float over, bringing rain. They did not feel like the clouds which held the thunder, from which lightning filled the sky with craggy light. These were different clouds, coming from all over, gathering above them.

“The people grew afraid, and began fighting amongst themselves, and it began to tear their community apart. Soon, the farmers were so frightened they would not go out into their fields. The shopkeepers were so frightened they would not open the doors to their shops. The children did not go to school. Everyone grew more and more isolated, as the shadows threatened, the clouds grew darker. And soon, out of the sky, there came, from those dark clouds, seven mighty dragons. And, the dragons flew around them, and herded them, moving them this way and that way, having their will with the people of that city. The dragons drove them across the plains, and then began to circle. And, as the dragons touched the ground, they formed a range of mountains around the people, leaving only the corridor to the East open. The people cowered in fear, surrounded by dark mountains, with only one access to the outside world, but they were too afraid to go through the passageway. They were isolated, and afraid to speak.

“The dragons were seven. They formed mountains, seven. At the base of each mountain there was an opening to a cave, and each of the dragons would enter their cave, and for a while be dormant. They would leave the caves, and go to the city, and take that which they wanted, and leave. The city occupants were now the prisoners of the dragons, and all was dim, very dim, because the people believed the dragons were powerful and all-consuming; and, because they believed it, it was so. Once the dragons had taken almost everything that the people of the city possessed, the only thing left for them to do was pray for redemption, pray for a savior, pray for a miracle.

“And, one day their prayer was answered – a solitary man. Heralded by the light of the sun, casting a Path of Light before him, a man walked into the city, surrounded by mountains, and spoke. And, one by one the people of the city came to him and told him their fears. And, one by one he touched their heads, and sent them to their homes to pray. And then, the man, who had entered on The Road of Light, walked back out through the passageway, and summoned the dragons, one by one. The people trembled. What would happen to this man who had come, walking on a Road of Light? And, they saw. As the sun continued its ascension into the sky, up, up, up, he was held in radiant Light. And, from beneath his cloak, he drew a Sword. The Sword was not made of earthly materials. It was a Sword of Light, and he raised it up. When the first dragon came, the dragon sneered at the small man, holding in his hand, a Sword of Light. And, as the dragon rose-up on its hind legs, prepared to demolish the small creature in front of him, The Light of the sun caught The Light of the Sword, and The Light pierced the dragon, and there was no roar, there was only silence as the dragon disappeared. It could not stand in The Light. And, one by one the dragons were summoned, and one by one they were dispersed. As the light revealed they were powerless, they crumbled

“The people began to move around the city. The dragons, who had held them captive, were no more. The man, who was their savior, raised The Sword of Light, and seven angels descended upon the Earth, standing atop the mountains formed by the dragons. The man took The Sword and drove it into the ground. It rose-up, and it continued to grow, until its height reached above the peaks of the mountains. The sun caught the hilt of The Sword, which formed a Cross of Light over the city. And, as The Sword grew, and The Light magnified and intensified, the man disappeared into The Light. The angels began to ascend, as well, and as they rose-up, the mountains fell-down. The city was released. They were captive no more. The meadows returned. The doors of the shops opened. The farmers returned to the fields, and the rivers flowed. The birds sang again, and The Light from The Sword held the city. It held the city in a tender caress. Not one person could be afraid.

“No one spoke of the dragons for a very long time. But soon, fear fell from them, and they could tell the story again, because they realized, if they did not tell the story, the story would be forgotten. And, as they spoke of the seven dragons, the dragons were given names. The names of the seven dragons, which had driven them into darkness and isolation, were: Fear, Anger, Doubt, Anxiety, Ignorance, Greed, and Hatred.

“As the city returned to life as it had been before the great darkness came, the older ones told the younger ones the story: so that they would not repeat the history, but would grow in wisdom from the words of the history; so that they would not be driven into darkness by the seven dragons. And, as they told the story, they sang the songs of The Glory of The One who came to save them and release them from their fear.

“That, My brothers and sisters, is the story I wish to share with you today. Each of you will take a slightly different meaning away into the week with you; but, I can assure you that which you take from the story, to carry into the new days with you, will be exactly right for you, for it is My intention that it be so. I leave you with Peace. I leave you with Light. I leave you with My Love.”

September 15, 2019

“I AM with you. And, I AM delighted, I AM happy to say, I AM with you. I say it with enthusiasm, because I AM sure, if you open, My enthusiasm, for being with you, will travel through the veil, and you will feel it, as that is My intention, I AM with you. I AM with you. You can feel Me, and you can hear Me, and you can know Me, for I AM with you. This is no trickery. This is no magic potion you have been given, so that you might believe I AM with you. It is the most amazing truth, experienced in full, and completely, by those who believe it is possible. And, once that door is open, the possibility of it reveals the reality of it. I AM with you.

“Most of your lifetime upon Earth is spent in the ordinary doing of things, the ordinary experience of a day, or a night. The ordinary: rising-up; brushing your teeth; eating breakfast; going to work, or school, or play; greeting friends all along The Way; touching family members; talking on the phone; relaxing in the sun; maybe even watching a sporting event. Most of your life, upon Earth, is spent in the arena, and on the stage, of the ordinary everyday experiences, allowed each individual upon Earth: parting and saying goodbye; greeting and saying hello; sharing a meal with friends; giving and receiving of gifts; experiencing all that comes in relationships; learning the lessons of life. This is the ordinary living of life. These things happen scattered between the few extraordinary experiences of life.

“It is easy, I AM sure, to put yourself in the ordinary day. You can see it, you know it, you experience it. It is the things that become a habit to you. It is the things that you can do without thinking about it. It is the ordinary. Now, I want you to close your eyes, and see Me, doing the ordinary things I did, during the time I walked upon the Earth. For, it might surprise you to know that the ordinary ways of My life consumed most of My lifetime upon Earth. You have come to know Me: as a Miracle Worker; as The Son of God; as The Messiah; as The One who could heal all wounds, raise the dead, who could feed thousands with a few fish. These are the extraordinary; but, most of My life upon Earth was spent in the ordinary. But, I did not squander the ordinary time, because it was in the ordinary time when I was: quietly living The Word of God; teaching those whom I loved, who walked with Me, how to experience life upon Earth, how to experience the ordinary things of life upon Earth, and do so in a most extraordinary way.

“I AM sure you have not thought much upon My ordinary life, but after today, see Me that way, because I will be closer to you: if you can see Me rising-up; if you can Me: washing My feet, or splashing water on My face; or, enjoying something to drink; or, helping My mother, or My father, when I was a child; or, carrying objects from here to there; helping neighbors; working next to My father in the carpentry shop; running errands for My mother; playing with My brothers and sisters; attending parties as I grew older; touching those around Me in a personal, ordinary way. This is what comprises the lifetime of every, single individual upon Earth. No individual goes from the peak of one mountain to another, as if they were stepping-stones, experiencing only the extraordinary in life. Therefore, if your life is mostly comprised of the ordinary events, there surely must be a reason. And, I tell you the reason is within the ordinary is found extraordinary possibilities to rise above the situation and create the extraordinary from the ordinary experience.

“People observe what you do every day. It is not that they are watching, or spying on, you. It is simply that it is impossible not to notice what someone is doing, when they are in close proximity. People know the ordinary experiences of another, especially in a family situation, where there is a parent, or a grandparent, or an aunt, or an uncle, and children, or a child. You have a scenario where there is one who holds authority, and one who is subject to that authority; the parent figure, and the child. Through the ordinary day, the child observes what the parent figure is doing, or saying. It is not during just those special moments, when there is teaching on an extraordinary level, about what to do, or not to do. The child learns the lessons life, during the ordinary times, when the parent figure is living what to do.

“This week, pay attention to what you are doing in the ordinary times. Let the love of God flow through you, in a very special and unique way, during these times. Bring the love of God to the center of whatever you are doing, during these ordinary times. When you become aware that you can bring Heaven onto the Earth, during these ordinary times, then, through your thoughts, words, and deeds, you have created the extraordinary from the ordinary. During the ordinary times you can actively participate in bringing Heaven upon the Earth in a way that it is seen, and recognized, and realized, because you cannot taste Heaven without wanting more.

“This week, create the extraordinary, using all the possibilities and opportunities held within The Garden of The Ordinary.”

“I AM with you. And, for some of you, it is easy to accept, and to believe, that I AM with you. When you begin to understand: unity; The One; that I AM in The Father, The Creator, that you are in Me, that I AM in you; that I refer to each of you as brother and sister; that I asked the question, who is your family, who is your brother, who is your sister; you begin to understand unity, oneness. And, as this understanding begins to break into knowing, it becomes easy for you to accept that I AM with you. It is the complex made simple. I AM.

“If you could see, if the scales were removed from your eyes, for just a moment, you would look and see The Kingdom of Heaven with you; but, this cannot be done right now. Some, who have prayed and asked to see, have been given a glimpse of eternity, of life as it is created to be. And, I tell you, Heaven and Earth shall be as one. It is beautiful. While you are upon the Earth, the tendency is to think of Heaven as some place far away. Some of you even imagine it is unattainable, when all of the time it is with you: helping you; ministering to you; correcting your path; forming things to meet your free will choices, in such a way, that the outcome is far better than you could imagine. There is so much going on around you, and you cannot see it; but, Heaven is with you.

“There are many creatures who tunnel their way, creating corridors in their communities, deep within inner Earth. Take for example an ant, that never sees upper Earth. They live in the corridors of inner Earth, and there is much life there. They do not know you exist. They are content to spend their lifetime in the corridors of inner Earth, within their community, where they were given birth. And, the same is true for the creators in the deep seas, the oceans. They live their lives, their complete lives, at the bottom of the ocean: content; doing what they are meant to do; having not the slightest clue about you, and what is going-on, on upper Earth. But what you do, can greatly impact the life of the ant in the tunnels, and the creators beneath the sea, and visa-versa. You are connected; and, even though they do not know you exist, you are One. What you do has an impact on them as much as it does on you.

“And, it is the same with the heavenly realm, which exists with you. Blessings, and grace, and gifts abundant, flow to you from The Kingdom of God. And, what you do, for The Glory of God, the noble thoughts, the kind words, the charitable deeds you do, rise-up and move, and The Kingdom of God is aware of you and what you do. And, if you open your heart, you become aware of the gifts that are given to you, that are sent to you from The Realm of Perfection. It is all One: the ants, and the worms, creating life below your feet, in inner Earth; the creators who move, and raise-up the sands of the bottom of the ocean, are connected with you, and you with them, and Earth with Heaven.

“Pray upon this, this week. Walk gently. Let your thoughts be noble. Speak with kindness. And, let every deed you perform be majestic, and a fitting gift worthy of The Kingdom of God.”

“I AM with you. Good morning, good morning, I AM with you. I bring you messages from the other side of the veil, so that you might know, so that you might prevail against the energies of darkness and shadow, against the beings of darkness and shadow, so that you might lift your head and your heart, your spirit and your soul, and proclaim, ‘I am a child of God, and I know which way to go.’ I bring you these messages so you might know The Way.

“As you walk upon the Earth you will surely encounter stormy weather: clouds roll-in, rain falls, thunderclaps, and lightning strikes. You can feel the change in the air. You can feel the charge in the air; and, the winds blow and rage, and then settle down, and it is time to turn the page, as the storm goes away, and skies are blue. You experience different types of weather, sunny days, rainy days, snowy days, wet days, all of it part of the Earth experience. And, how you experience these changes in weather have an impact on your life upon Earth. If you are prepared for that which is coming, it is just another interesting aspect of your life upon the Earth. So, be prepared, for each of you know that what you are experiencing beneath the clouds, beneath the storm, is not the same, if you could rise above the storm, for when you do rise above the storm you see blue skies, sunshine.

“Be prepared for the weather that comes your way. Do not ignore, do not turn your head. Accept the notice and be prepared. So, let us apply this to the storms in your personal, or spiritual, environment, the atmosphere around your body, the turbulence from friends or family, or the turbulence created within you. When things seem unstable, when they seem to be in chaos, when confusion rules your thoughts, it is time to rise above the storm, where you will see The Light. If you get caught-up in the storm, you are held within the winds that batter, and shatter your tranquility. When stormy weather prevails, let your spirit soar above it, and find The Light.

“You can always find peace. Therefore, be prepared. Be prepared for whatever comes your way: spiritually, emotionally, physically. Be prepared by staying connected with God, by staying connected with The Kingdom of God that is within you. Let that connection be the source of safety and comfort, of instruction and direction. When you are prepared in this way, no matter what comes to you this day, or any day, you will be able to rise above it, and find The Light. And, as all storms come, all storms go. Be prepared, and let it flow, as you rise-up and experience The Light above the storm, be it day, or be it night.”

“I AM with you. It is possible. I AM answering your prayers. It is possible. I know your heart. It is possible. I see and watch your journey, until you find Me, and know yourself, that it is all possible. All things are possible with God, and since you are of God, all things are possible for you. Believe.

“Know who you are. It is easy to get lost, or distracted, when you are upon the Earth, for a while. The material things offered by the world created by man are attractive and will draw your attention, and will lead you in another direction; and soon, you begin to believe that your status is marked by: what you wear, what you drive, where you live, the food you eat, the plays you see, the books you read, the colleges you attend, the friends you entertain, the clubs you join. And I tell you this, all of these things, just mentioned, hold no weight, carry no importance at all. They will all fall from you. They will all disintegrate. It is all an illusion. The real value is held in the unseen treasures of love, compassion, of kindness.

“Every day, when you rise-up and go out into the world, you are surrounded by processions of people. They file passed you, going in a direction, toward something. It is a parade, and you see people who believe they are grander than anyone else in their parade. You see the walk of the haughty. You see the slumped shoulders of those who carry guilt, shame. You see the stride of the privileged. The procession continues every minute of the day. People filing passed, no one really stopping to listen to what others say. But there is a way that you can see beyond the trappings, the costumes that individuals choose to cover who they are. Begin to understand who you are, and then, if you can, see Me in every face that passes you by. It will not take long for you to realize that those passing you by are your brothers and your sisters.

“When I walked upon the Earth, amongst those whom I loved, I guided them in certain ways. And, one day I was speaking with My friends, and I made note that, if they did not recognize Me, if they did not feed Me, if they did not give Me shelter and comfort it was a sign, they did not know Me. And of course, they all protested, saying, ‘But, You are our Brother, and we are with You all the time, and You know we give You food, we give You our attention, we give You our love.’ And it was then that I told them, if you do not do these things for those who have nothing, for those who are down-trodden, for those who are sick of spirit or body then you are denying Me your love, your comfort, and your support. After I made such a statement there was total silence. I do not believe they put this together, at that time. They could not understand that we are one. ‘I AM in you, and you are in Me.’ I kept telling them this. ‘I AM in The Father.’ It would roll over them. You cannot say you know Me and turn your head from a stranger in need. You cannot say you know Me and mistreat others, speak down to others, gossip about others. Each of these actions, and many more, cannot be directed at one without opening the door to My face.

“Know who you are, for your actions speak more than your words. Rise-up and understand that you are an eternal being, a child of God, and so are those around you. Address others with respect. Give them your hand and your heart, just as if I AM standing before you, because I say unto you, in that person you will find Me. Rise-up this day and know who you are. Put more importance on your eternal being than anything else. Call upon yourself, your true self, the authentic you that is hidden beneath the muscles, and tissues, and sinew of a body, and let it rise, and let it bring to the surface all the love, and the light, and the peace that is within you. Let kindness be your garment, and let compassion be your jewelry, and let forgiveness be the vehicle that moves you over the Earth, for you have found a home, an Eternal Home, and it is with God.”

NOTE: Michael unexpectedly had to return to Mission Hospital in Asheville, Tuesday, August 6. We have no release date, as of yet. Audio portions of the daily messages will resume when he returns to The Quiet Place. We ask for your continued prayers during this time.

“I AM with you. On this day of days, I AM with you. In rising-up you were introduced to the new day. In washing your face or brushing your teeth you were walking into the new day. As you broke your nightly fast with something to eat and something to drink, you were walking farther into the new day. It is the new day that is unfolding all around you, and you are an integral part of this new day. Be at peace. Look around. What can you do to make this new day a wonderous day?

“So many of you are willing to travel to distant lands to fulfill a mission request. And, many of you are willing to take the time, when you encounter someone who is having difficulties making it through the day, to sit with them for a while, to listen intently with your heart, for a while. Some of you make it a practice to assist a neighbor, or a friend, or a family member, by gathering groceries, or sweeping their porch, or cutting their grass. You are willing to do many things. In fact, the human race, human beings of all sizes, and shapes, and colors are often amazing in their efforts to good, a prompting that comes from a gentle heart to help, in any way. I bless you for doing these things. I bless you for even thinking of doing these things, because it is selfless living, doing for others; and, it opens your heart, as wide as it can be, permitting you the opportunity to love unconditionally, expecting nothing in return, giving so others might have.

“There is one thing that every single human being upon the Earth can do to make the world a better place; and, it is simply by blessing everyone and everything you see. ‘I bless thee.’ You do not have to say it aloud. You can hold it upon your heart, and silently say, ‘I bless thee.’ There is not one situation, one event, or one person, which cannot be helped tremendously by your saying, ‘I bless thee.’ Blessings multiplying and growing, it is a unique way of living, sowing the blessings of God. ‘I bless thee.’ You can say it any way you wish. ‘I bless that man, right there.’ ‘I bless that child.’ ‘I bless that dog that seems to be limping.’ ‘I bless this angry co-worker, standing in front of me.’ ‘I bless thee.’ Let that be your motto of this week.

“In closing I say, with great intention, ‘I bless thee.’”

“I AM with you to bring you comfort, and peace, and wisdom. I AM with you to show you The Way. I AM with you to answer the words you do pray, the questions you ask. I AM with you to be The Beacon in the dark. I AM with you to be The Light. I AM with you to bring you love. I AM with you to show The Way to compassion and understanding. I AM with you to encourage you to rise-up, and live beyond what is considered human standards, and your desire to do so will pierce the veil, and answers will flow to you, and you will walk the Earth, knowing who you are, why you are there, what you must do. I AM with you.

“Today, I wish to speak to you of unseen signs. You know that you are sent signs. You know that these signs, which you are meant to learn, to read, and to follow are sent from the unseen realm to you, so that you might see the signs. But I tell you, there are unseen signs all around you, which will require more of you than just to use your human eyesight.

“Much happens beneath the surface, beneath the waters of the oceans and seas, within the Earth. And, sometimes what is happening can have a devastating result, unless you are trained to look and see, and read the measurements. Unless you have equipment especially designed to measure what is happening beneath the waters, within the Earth, you will be surprised when the tsunamis fall upon you, and the Earth cracks beneath you, and the volcanoes erupt above you.

“It is possible to measure the movement of plates beneath the ocean, or on the shore. And, when such movements take place, those who study these measurements have some advanced notice of a tsunami. They can figure-out where it might strike and give those in its path time to move. It is hidden. It is beneath the surface. So, to prepare you must know how to read the instruments, how to read the signs. The same thing happens with earthquakes. It is all within the Earth. Yet, there are those willing to study the movement, beneath the Earth, and to measure these movements, in such a way, that they might be able to predict an earthquake in time to move the population before the Earth splits, and buildings fall. The same thing happens with volcanoes. It takes those individuals who have the knowledge of reading these signs, and studying the measurements, in such a way, that they can predict, and give advance notice that the volcano is going to erupt, thus saving lives all along the way. On a lighter note, you can think of seeds, planted in a garden. They are sown and ready to grow, only because of what happens beneath the soil, where you cannot see. But soon, the signs of life break-through the upper crust, the dirt, and the garden flourishes; but, this happens only if the one who planted the seed is willing to weed the garden, to water the garden, to tend the garden so it might flourish; but, this garden began its life within the Earth, where you cannot see it. It requires faith and trust that the seeds will sprout and grow.

“Every human being, walking upon the Earth, has an interior capable of producing energies which at times can be devastating, or energies which at times can be elevating and beautiful. The possibilities are there. Take the time to look and see. Listen to those around you, intently. What are they saying? How are they saying it? What is their body language, and how do they move? You can look for these signs, just as those who study the movement of the plates beneath the waters, within the Earth. Every human being has seeds from Heaven. You might not be able to see them. Possibly the garden has not begun to flourish, because it has not been nourished with love, and compassion, and understanding.

“I speak of these different scenarios so that you might take some time to understand that what is on the surface is only a piece of the whole, and that includes the individuals around you. Be mindful, be prayerful, be loving and compassionate.

“Whenever there is an eruption, or a tsunami threatens to inundate the coast, you know it began beneath, beneath the water, within the Earth. Whenever you see eruptions from individuals around you, know it began within. Think on this, this week. All is not what it appears to be on the surface. You only see pieces and parts, until you are willing to look and listen, and measure the words with compassion, measure the actions with understanding, and measure the cries for help with love.”

“I AM with you. It is ‘delightful,’ to be with you, when the fences and the barriers are dropped, and your arms and your hearts are open, welcoming a friend, embracing a loved one. It is a source of great joy, and happiness, completion and fulfillment. To be received in the arms of another is to be embraced in a blessing. Come into My arms, and I will shower you with grace, and I will touch your face, with the sweetness of Heaven!

“Today, I wish to speak, once again, about anger and hatred, and how it pollutes Earth.

“Many of you read about, listen to, or watch others speak about, the damage done to the planet by pollution; and oh, there are so many avenues, and so many definitions of pollution, what type: water, air, food. It would take all day to address the surface issues of pollution; but many, are interested in resolution, of pollution. One would think that ‘a joint cause,’ would settle within the hearts of interested people, the intention to work together to resolve the issue, but this rarely happens. Even when individuals agree that it would be best to address the issue, before the issue can be addressed, there is much in-fighting, arguing, name-calling; and, caught-up in the anger, which soon moves into hatred, the interested parties are distracted, and nothing is done, about the pollution, because no one can agree on how it should be resolved. Those of you who have lived long enough upon the Earth have seen this. There are thousands, if not millions, of missions that were to be addressed, of issues remaining unresolved, because there was the distraction: of fighting, of arguing, of anger, about how to resolve the issue. If you would drop your defense, and sit with this awhile, you must see it is so.

“The most interesting aspect, of pollution, resolution, is that very few are paying any attention to the source. The greatest pollution issue: is not trash, it is not contaminated water, it is not poisoned food. It is the emission of anger and hatred, coming from the bodies of the inhabitants of Earth. If you can envision every inhabitant of Earth as an individual walking factory, you might come close to comprehending that, that smoke coming from that factory has a name: anger, hatred. It does not matter what has made the individual angry. It does not matter what seed was planted that grew into hatred. There is still the poisonous gas, created within. You cannot see it, but each one, who holds anger or hatred within, is emitting toxic gases. It is poisonous. This is where the focus should be, cleaning-up the garbage, the dirt, and debris within, each inhabitant of Earth. This is where the inability is created, and that inability shows its head, when those who are interested in cleaning-up a garbage dump, begin to argue, about how to do it. That difficulty comes from within. You cannot wash your body, and get it clean, with a dirty washcloth.

“These words might be (seem) confusing, they might sound confusing, they might be misconstrued as confusing; but I tell you, it is the truth.

“To see the truth, I would suggest this. For one day, if you can make it, for one week, even better, within your family, or maybe with a friend, conduct an experiment. Clean your inner-chambers, the passageways within your being. Get rid of the debris. Throw-out the garbage. Clean the walls of your heart and your soul and your spirit, so that there is The Light of God, and The Love of God, streaming into you. When you are clean, within, it makes a difference how you see, the world around you, because you are free of debris. When you have people, individuals, gathered together to accomplish a goal, and each one is clean within, they work together, in a way which would have been impossible, before.

“The pollution issues of Earth will never be resolved, until the individuals attempting to resolve the issues, have cleaned themselves, from within! Once everything is moved, all obstacles set aside, The Holy Spirit will guide, and the hearts of the clean will listen, and the pollution will come to an end: with no argument, with no fight, with no anger or hatred.

“To accomplish this, it will take setting aside egos, setting aside arguments and preconceived notions, getting to work, cleaning the interiors of each individual, and being willing to be led by The Holy Spirit of God! Yes, it is possible to be done in this Way! Sit with it a while today!”

“It is only through your belief, that you can hear Me, and feel My presence, that it is accomplished. I AM always with you, but if the door of doubt is shut, and sealed against My coming, you will not realize My presence with you. However, if you crack that door of doubt with the thought that it could be possible, the door will soon swing open, and that which you thought at first was impossible, will light you with all the possibilities of trans-dimensional communication, reaching beyond the flat surface, as you know it, into the amazing mysteries of eternity, where there are no boundaries, no limitations, where there are no doors, where all is open and transparent. Come, I will show you The Way.

“It is time for us to address a topic which is not easily approached, when everything is happy and joyful, and all is good with your world. But, in order to conquer this particular demon of darkness, you must be aware of its presence, so that you can reject it outright, and it will be difficult to reject it outright, if you do not know what it is, if you do not know the power that it holds. My brothers and sisters I wish to speak to you on the topic of anger.

“It can be said that there are times in the world where anger is endorsed. In some cases, it might be called righteous, (when you) stand-up for something that is happening, (when you) strike-back for injustice. There are all manner of phrases which encourage anger, and I tell you there are all manner of ways to stand-up for the freedom of others, (to) encourage justice for all without becoming angry. Have you ever looked-into the face of one who is truly angry? What do you see there? The face of anger is contorted, it is red, and often the eyes are riddled with red veins, they are blood-shot. Sometimes the fists are clenched. Anger contorts the body, increases the blood pressure, and is volatile. It does not matter whether you are the individual who falls easily to anger, or someone else around you, be mindful that anger is toxic. It kills. It will kill your physical body, and it will greatly diminish the light within you. Anger is exhausting. Anger brings-on a headache. Anger can often force individuals into submission. Anger is manipulative. Anger does no good. Reject anger. When given the opportunity to choose peace and calm, in a situation where before you might have chosen anger, use the opportunity to practice, choose to be at peace. When turmoil is all around you, you are going to increase the turmoil, and the chaos and confusion, if you add your anger to it. But, the one, who can rise-up, stay calm, and face the turmoil, brings peace. All it takes to calm the storm is the power of a peaceful presence. You have seen it. Even if you have lived only a few years upon the Earth, you have already seen anger, and had the opportunity to see the opposite of anger. Therefore, you know the power of a peaceful presence. It is not an easy assignment for those who find it easy to fall to anger and find it very difficult to resist; but the effort is rewarded with peace, within you.

“Do not be tempted to blame others, or other situations, for your anger. This is the first step to resolving and casting it from you. Acknowledge you chose anger, over a peaceful presence, each time it erupts. Do not bring others into the situation. Let it be your decision, and your victory, when you can actually stand-up and overpower the desire to wield the sword of anger. Watch it. Pay attention to those who use it, and you will begin to see the destructive force of anger, rampant in the world today. Save yourself from anger by developing a peaceful presence within, and this peaceful presence will move, will move you, will move others to see you, then will move others to follow you and the example you have given, so that all of those around you will become very familiar with the power of a peaceful presence.”

July 21, 2019

“I AM with you... I AM always with you... I begin My messages to you, so that you might remember this, so that you might truly know, I AM with you! Grace ... mercy ... love ... flows to you, to each of you. It is as a gentle ocean, waves caressing the sand of the shore, splashing and touching, and then receding, leaving bare feet, and toes, and ankles, wanting more of the fresh water of the ocean.

“Many of you who believe, and take to heart, and know that I AM with you, are walking the path of faith, because it is a mystery, which must be taken on faith.

“One of the greatest mysteries is the mystery of how The Holy Spirit of God dwells within, each of you, to show you The Way; and, if you spend some time pondering this, many questions arise, ‘How is this possible?’ The answers come in many different ways; and, while you might not at this time understand, how it is possible for The Holy Spirit to be within you, you surely see the results, of The Holy Spirit within you. You see it when, by all earthly accounts, someone should be going in one direction, they pause quietly, and in a peaceful resolve, go-off in another direction, where they do find peace, where they are fulfilled, where they meet their destiny, and complete their mission. Look for such individuals who quietly go about their day, often in what is considered menial chores or tasks, but address these chores, and tasks, with a spiritual resolve, gathering the lesson, of every minute, in that practice.

“Some of you might question – the practice of – listening to the guidance from within. You might say, or better put, you might question, ‘How do I know it is not me, thinking such things, or drawing forth: my intention, my desires, my wants?’ And I whisper gently to you, ask that question, sit and be still. You will begin to understand how to set aside your fears and doubts and worries, your concerns, the intrigues involved with remembering the past, concern(ed) about the future. You will begin to eagerly anticipate the guidance of The Holy Spirit of God, because the guidance of The Holy Spirit of God holds no fear; it does not threaten, it does not tempt, it guides; and, the words of guidance and direction are simple, sure, and promising. If the direction you are receiving, from within, is coupled with the energy of guilt, or punishment, or shame, or fear, or doubt, if it tainted with anger, it is not the direction of The Holy Spirit. This is the beginning – of how you will practice – hearing, and recognizing, the directions from The Holy Spirit of God. It is amongst the greatest gifts God has delivered to the children upon Earth.

“When you are in doubt, be still and listen, and then follow the light, and reject the darkness. When you are afraid, do the same. When you feel guilty, do the same. When you are tempted to punish yourself or others, or point the finger of blame, be still, go within. That Counsel from Heaven will never punish you, or make you feel less, than a child of God. The Whisper you will hear (was) is, ‘It is over this way. Come on. You are almost there.’ It will be encouraging. It will not be diminishing.

“I leave you with these words so that you might ponder them and take them into this week with you. Reject the words of darkness, and embrace the light, that is within you. Use the miracle that is yours, and you will walk unafraid. Your courage and strength will be strong; and, you will most assuredly know The Way; and, knowing The Way will lead you through all that comes to you, because My brothers and sisters, you need the encouragement, you need the strength: to appreciate the lessons; to move to the next place; to accomplish the goal!

“I AM with you this week, so: let us go together; let us meet the challenges; let us learn the lessons; let us celebrate the experience of Earth, as it is in Heaven!”

July 14, 2019

“I AM with you. You are never alone. For those of you who are willing to open and receive, the gifts flow-in, as many as you need, and you begin to carry these gifts with you, and use them as the day unfolds; for, as you use the gifts of Heaven the miracles appear, one after another: exchanging smiles for a tear; exchanging abundance for lack; exchanging peace for chaos!

“Sometimes, there is conflict between the ways of the world and the ways of God. Occasionally, they flow together, but often they are different. If you abide with the ways of the world, you will be hesitant to reveal many of the gifts of Spirit you carry with you. If you are concerned about being thought different, strange, or ill, you will not share many of the messages and the courage you gain from the messages and messengers out of fear. So, I tell you this, most of you have either read these words, or heard these words, or at least have an inkling of these words within you, because, of all the words in the Bible there are many that stand-out, because of repetition, and these stand-out, because of repetition!

“Before I returned to our Eternal Home, I did speak to those I loved, and I said to them, I have more I want to teach you, I have more I want to share with you, because I love you; but, it is My time to go; therefore, when I return to our Eternal Home, I will ask Our Father, and The Father will send The Holy Spirit to dwell within you: so that when you feel lost, you will know The Way; so that when you need words of encouragement, they will be there for you. I also added, that no one around you will know The Holy Spirit; for, they will not see The Holy Spirit, because The Holy Spirit will be dwelling within you. Now, certainly, these words I AM speaking to you today are a paraphrase of the conversation I had with those I loved; but, which of you would be willing to stand-up, and say, without hesitation, ‘I heard the words of The Holy Spirit within me, and these words guided me through the storm, these words filled the sail that carried me over troubled waters, these words were my wings, during the storm, and they brought me home, safely, where I could be at peace, and warm?’.

“Many of you believe the words, regarding The Holy Spirit. Many of you believe that The Holy Spirit was intentionally sent to be your Counselor; but, if you doubt what you are hearing from within, the guidance from within, how can you know where to go? How can you see the unseen? Every aspect of your life upon Earth has been covered with an insurance policy. It is all ready for you. The angels have all gone before you to prepare a way for you to walk, for you to live. No stone has been left un-turned, which would trip-you-up. You have the instruction plans, you have the guidance and the direction maps, they are all in you; but you cannot utilize these tools of Heaven, if you will not open to The Spirit of God within you! And when you open to The Spirit of God within you and find the strength and courage to speak of this direction, that gives you power, over deception and evil, and any type of disruption you might encounter. How can you help those around you; without the willingness to use the tools you have been given, you all become solitary ships in a sea of turmoil. There is no unity. There is no community. There is only darkness, and doubt.

“As you prepare to go into the week, remember, no matter what you are going to face, this coming week, there is already a plan in place. The Holy Spirit is within you to guide you! If you can believe this, then use it! Do not deny it! Do not hope The Holy Spirit is there within you, know it, and then act as if you know it! The more you practice, and the more you open to the communication of this Divine Counselor from Heaven, the less likely you will be to say, 'I thought I heard, I thought I saw, I thought I felt.' The days will pass, and soon, you will be witness to, 'I heard the words of The Holy Spirit, and they guided me all The Way Home'!"

July 7, 2019

“I AM with you. I celebrate you My brothers and sisters; for you are on a mission, you are experiencing Earth, at the present time; and I come to encourage you, to pay attention to what you are doing. I come to lift-you-up. I come to support your efforts. I come, because we are One!

“At the present time you are having a most unique experience, in that you are created by God, loved by God, and you are a creation of Earth. Therefore, you are ‘of Heaven and of Earth,’ and not much time is spent pondering this unique position.

“What can you do, during this time, during this experience on Earth? How much of Heaven, can you deliver to Earth? It all begins with a desire to be more of Heaven, experiencing Earth, than you desire to be Earth experiencing Heaven. Therefore, you must look at these two components, and place value where you wish to grow. Nurture your spirit, and watch it grow. Nurture your earthly body, and tend the ego, and watch it grow. That part of you which receives the attention is the part of you that will grow!

“Most days, I AM sure, you do not consider yourself as ‘the unique being,’ I just discussed with you. More than likely you consider yourself a human being, struggling to get back to The Light, working to know The Way, and walk it; but, it is time to consider who you truly are, and take responsibility for who you are, because the choices you make are your own. You are the living example of Heaven and Earth. Therefore, let it be your purpose to be more of Heaven, walking upon Earth! This is doable; for My brothers and sisters, I have done it; and, once you are more of Heaven walking upon Earth, the miracles of God will spring forth through you, from you, blessing all Earth, blessing all Earth with Heaven!

“This is a noble practice, worthy of praise; but, do not be harsh with yourself, if you stump your toe or fall. You take these things delivered to you, these words of wisdom whispered to you, on faith. Those whom I loved while I walked upon the Earth, those whom I gathered around Me, were with Me every day, for approximately three years, let’s say. They knew the foods, I would like to eat; they knew the stories, I liked to speak; I shared many memories with those whom I loved, during that time; but even though they were with Me, physically, there was doubt, and worry, and concern, and fear. They would often speak amongst themselves, trying to understand, praying to understand, but many times falling short; and, the falling short was never so obvious as after I ascended, back to Our Father’s Home, our Home, Heaven, The Dimension of Perfection. And their fear showed, for they were hiding. But when The Holy Spirit was within them, there was no stopping them and fear was gone! They walked-out into the sunlight, understanding the threat, but fearing not.

“These holy ones touched Me, walked with Me. You, holy ones, take it on faith. You know it in your heart, and you hear it, when you are open to the whispered words of wisdom, you receive from The Holy Spirit of God. You embrace it, when through faith you hear God speaking to you, and when you open to My presence with you.

“Place great value in your worth. Realize, you are of Heaven and of Earth. Feed and nurture the part of you which you wish to see grow; and then, with all you have been given, rise-up and go; go forth into the world, and bless, all you see, by delivering Heaven to Earth through thee; but, be kind to yourself when you stumble and fall, and pause for a moment to pray before you stand tall: whispering, calling, singing, praying, exalting.

“You are of Heaven. You are of Earth. You are a child of God.”

June 30, 2019

“I AM with you; and, the beauty of our relationship, as it is now, is that I AM always with you, we can always talk, you can always ask, and I will always answer. Relationships are different when one is in spirit and one is experiencing the physical reality of Earth; there is a closer union, because there is no distance, there is no argument, there is no anger, there is the eternal presence of peace; and, in that eternal presence of peace, you know I AM with you.

“It is not unusual for those who are living upon the Earth to forget why they are upon the Earth. Their sacred mission gets jumbled-up with the things of everyday life upon Earth; and, when things begin to get jumbled-up, there can be chaos and confusion; and, all of this is a great distraction from the value of your mission, oftentimes from your worth, from your value; and, it seems you get farther and farther away from The Light, drifting, sometimes lost, sometimes afraid, sometimes confused.

“During your lifetime upon Earth you will encounter many challenges. I would like for you to begin looking at every challenge you face as a lesson, a valuable lesson, on how to move through your life in a more peaceful way. Most often, you will find the challenges are not fun, are not easy; and, without persistence and intention to use these challenges as a lesson, the temptation will be to throw your hands up, and cry-out in anger, or frustration, or condemnation of any individual you can blame for your situation; and, things begin to twist and turn, and anger takes hold of your heart, and you wonder, deep inside, why all of these hurtful, hateful things keep happening to you, one after another. Sometimes you find no one understands what you are going through, no one will take the time to listen to you. It seems no one really cares what you think, or say, or do; and, this attitude continues to spiral downward. All of this can be avoided. All of this tangled web is unnecessary, when you look at a challenge as a lesson. I must insert here that many of you know this, you talk about it, you say it; but, when it is happening to you, you do not respond as if you know it, you do not take the challenge as a lesson and move through it, without becoming angry or disgruntled, or frustrated. If you are facing a challenge, do not question the challenge, do not even ask where it came from. Look at it as a puzzle. How should it unfold? One step at a time. It is something you need to learn. That is one of the reasons you are upon the Earth, to know what energy you are to use, to understand the challenge, and dismiss it, as every challenge which comes to you will dissolve in your presence when you know what to do.

“I give you this example. Now, if you are a parent, or if you are a teacher, or if you come in contact with children, for any reason whatsoever, to teach them a way to do something, you will find that when the lesson, when something new, is a bit challenging, or difficult to do, the child will sometimes resist, grow angry, fall on the ground and kick and scream, say ‘no,’ and run away. The example of learning how to put on clothing, put on shoes, count, spell, understand a theory in mathematics, or write a paper on ‘what I did last summer,’ choose any challenge, and then see the resistance of the child; but, with the persistence and loving guidance of a good teacher, the child is drawn into each situation, until the challenge dissolves, and the child can successfully put on clothing, put on shoes, they can count, they can spell, the theory is understood, the paper is written and posted on the refrigerator door, or on the wall. The accomplishment is the reward. The accomplishment, and persistence in following through with the challenge, dealing with it as a lesson, brings value, brings understanding, brings growth, and brings freedom from a challenge, which left unattended, would always be there to bring one down.

“As an adult you face challenges, and it is easy to be frustrated, or to blame others, or to be angry; but, see it as a lesson you must learn, see it as a lesson which will free you from the energies of frustration, anger, sometimes retaliation. Be happy that you have faced the challenge, and that you are successful in this process, and you will be free, and you will know what to do; and, because you faced the challenge you can share this guidance with others, so they too might know The Way to peace, and love, and freedom from all that did challenge them as they walked upon the Earth.”

June 23, 2019

“I AM with you. I AM with you, and I AM close to you. I AM as close to you as a gentle breeze, which seems to flow over you, and all around you. I AM with you. I will often come in answer to your prayer. I will come in answer to your song. I will come to watch you in sheer delight as you are joyful, in celebration of all that has come to you; for, the greatest things that come to you are the ones that come as a surprise, as a gift, fulfilling a need, you did not even know you had, until the gift was there!

“If you are a parent, you might remember, when your child was very small, just learning to walk, and they would often wrap their arms around your leg, and then let-go, a little bit at a time, a step or two, and then run back, holding your leg, assuring their balance, making sure you were there... because to them... that leg to which they did cling was your presence, your comfort, your support for them. And then, as the days and the weeks go by, the steps away lead them farther and farther, until they turn around and see how far they have come from the leg of support, and they run back again. And this continues for quite a while, until the child is in balance, with all around them, can look back and smile, and keep going farther and farther.

“No matter how old that child grows to be, there will be times when they still look back and smile. There might even be times when they run back to that tower of support they knew as a child. This is something that happens every day on Earth. You can see it on the playgrounds, you can see it in parks, you can see it on sidewalks. It is an outward sign of how the children of God begin, clinging to that tower, that tower of power that comes from God alone, taking each little step away, and then hurrying back Home for support.

“I ask you to spend some time today thinking about this. Spend some time with God. It might be wrapping your arms around that leg, that strong leg of God. It might be taking a few steps away, and then reaching back for comfort and confidence. It might be taking a step, then with courage, striding away, looking back, but moving forward. You are only a smile away from God. Look back. You are only a step away from God. Return. God is real, God is love, and the Spirit of God is within you. You are made in the image and likeness of God. Do not forget these words. Hold to these words. See God standing as your Eternal Parent, and know God is just a smile away; looking back, you can gain confidence for the day ahead of you, by touching base with God. Do not go-out into the day unprepared, and The Way of preparation is prayer. That way, when you open the door, and go-off to work, you can look back, and see God standing there, sending you forth with a smile. Be at peace this day, and see yourself as a child, going-out to play, one step at a time, one stride at a time. Go-out and play, in The Garden that is Earth, today!”

Father's Day

“I AM with you. I reach-out in answer to your prayers. I draw near when there is no prayer at all, waiting. Your prayers, your spiritual conversations, move between the dimensions. They pass through the veil, and the answers come back through the veil to you, prayers, asking for direction, answers, bringing guidance and direction, guidance and direction for those who are lost, who need assistance, who call for information, who desire to know The Way.

“Today, it is appropriate to speak to you about your father; this word covers a lot of territory, and many people can fill the role of a father, at different times in your life upon Earth; but, to truly understand where you come from, it is necessary to be open, and willing, to move back through the generations, to understand: the male component of who you are; from whence you came; what you carry within you, in the physical DNA.

“The body, the human body, which you know now, did not just happen without meaning. Hundreds of generations, even more, were involved in the creation of who you are today. That is why it is important to understand your background, your history. Do not pass-up this opportunity, if it presents itself to you, because... in understanding your line, your ancestry... you begin to appreciate, at a deeper level, who you are, on the physical level. This is important. Take some time today to do this, begin first by honoring your biological father, the male component of who you are; and then, be willing to go deeper, to discover rich, full information about all those who have assumed that role, from time to time within your life upon the Earth; and then, if you are willing go further, go back, even if you did not know your great-great grandfather, or even beyond that, it is possible for you to find a name, locate a country, find dates. Know something about your past, because the past, lives, within your present body, now!

“One of the greatest examples of a step-father, one who took the space of a biological father, is Joseph, the step-father, the earthly father of Jesus. He fulfilled that position, so that Jesus could see, growing-up, the male figure, and understand the role a bit better. Another example of a good father is the father described in The Parable of the Prodigal Son, a father who knew his role so well that he was willing to let his son go, to discover what he needed to know on his own; and then, when all was done, to welcome the child home again into loving arms. This example of the father, in The Parable of the Prodigal Son, represents your Heavenly Father, The Ultimate Creator, your Eternal Parent, who loved you so much you were let go to travel to Earth, and once your journey upon Earth is done, your spirit will return Home to loving arms. So, as you follow the trail from man to man to man, going deeper into generations of the past, you will ultimately end-up at the door of your Spiritual Father, The Creator of All Things. And, the perfect way to honor your Eternal Parent today is to quietly speak these words...

“Our Father, Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and, forgive us, our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is The Kingdom, and The Power, and The Glory forever, and ever. Amen.”

Pentecost Sunday

“I AM with you. Hear Me... for those who are willing to open their ears, hear Me; for those of you who are willing to open your heart, feel My presence with thee; for those of you who are willing to walk in faith, reach-out your hand, right now, and take mine, as we make our way, together, into the gift of this new day!

“The Holy Spirit is with you! Do not neglect this gift sent to you directly from God!

“The Holy Spirit is with you. Do not let the wisdom, sent to you directly from God, go unused. Call on The Holy Spirit of God within you. Ask for guidance. Ask for enlightenment about something that is puzzling you, concerning you, or worrying you. Ask which way you should go. Ask, and you shall receive. In the asking for guidance, you are assisting in the fulfillment of The Promise, My promise. I promised to send another Counselor. I said, when I return Home, I will ask Our Father to send someone, The Spirit that will guide you. Many of you recall that I said the world will not recognize The Counselor within you, because this guidance will come from within. It will not be obvious to the world, except through your words and actions; and, through your words and actions, they will ‘know,’ that you have been led by the hand of God, the hand of God we know as The Holy Spirit of God. “Ponder on this. Sit quietly and reflect upon the great gift you have been given. Without even asking, it was given. Now, it is your turn. You have received the gift, show gratitude, be thankful!

“And how can you show gratitude, and be thankful? By using the gift! Do not be afraid of the gift. Do not be afraid to ask the question. Do not be afraid to embrace the answer. Do not be afraid at all.

“When I had fully returned Home, those I loved shook with fear. They felt a tightness in their chest, they sweat(ed) fear; for they had seen what had been done to Me, and felt it was their destiny, as well. They could not move, some could not speak, but they stayed together, as best they could, and The Promise I made came to them. And, as an outward sign, so they would all see and know, the tongues of fire set aglow, shining over them; and, when The Holy Spirit moved into them, those who had cowered in fear stood straight in The Light of God. With the wisdom of The Holy Spirit within them, they understood: the body is temporary, the spirit is eternal; deliver the message you know is true, and The Holy Spirit will guide you through all things. Fear left them. They were filled with the wisdom of The Holy Spirit. Do not be afraid, because you are filled with the wisdom of The Holy Spirit. All you have to do... is use the gift... as it has been given unto you from God, The Creator of All Things, The Perfect and Eternal Parent.”

June 2, 2019

“I AM with you. I bring you greetings from The Dimension of Perfection, from your Eternal Home, from Heaven. I reach-out and say, come, do not forget who you are, remember who you are. You are a child of God. You are on a journey, walking upon the Earth. It is a mission, a heavenly mission; and, once you remember this, then you will sing-out with joy, for you will also remember that: God loves you unconditionally; The Holy Spirit is with you to guide you; and, I AM but a whisper away to assure you, to comfort you.

“Today, I wish to speak to those of you who feel lost, alone, frightened, rejected. I wish to speak to those of you who are walking through a storm, which seems to have no end, or find yourself in a dark pit, which seems to have no out. I wish to speak to those of you who find you are at the center of ridicule and mockery, of judgment and condemnation. Hear Me, for I too was ridiculed, mocked, judged, and condemned. I too walked through storms, and broke-down the walls of pits of despair. I was there. So, I give you guidance and direction this day, on how to lift-up your head, restore the spirit that is you, and fuel your body to keep going, one step at a time, until it is accomplished.

“Remember who you are. You are a child of God, and God loves you unconditionally. Wrap yourself in God's Love. Wrap yourself in The Power of God, and do not listen to those who hate you and berate you, and hurl sticks and stones, and laugh when you fall, or your heart is broken, or you no longer stand tall. Walk in The Power of God, and you will light The Way, and you will show The Way. Do not seek retaliation. Do not seek vengeance. Focus on The Love God has for you and take one step at a time. The Holy Spirit will move around you as a mighty Wind, and in this sacred Wind you will find relief, sanctuary, a whirlwind sanctuary of guidance and direction. The Wind will drown-out all voices of anger and aggression. Ride upon The Wind, knowing you are loved unconditionally. Listen to My words. Feel My presence. Focus on taking My hand and making your way through the challenge. Do not be led astray by angry voices around you. Do not be led astray by the situations which surround you. Focus on The Love of God. Focus on the guidance of The Holy Spirit with you. Focus on My hand reaching out to hold your hand and walk with you. Focus on My words, for I too have walked a path that was difficult, and challenging, and cluttered with obstacles. I did so, so you could know it was possible for you to do it too. I did not come upon the Earth as an invisible spirit. I came upon the Earth in physical form to show you all you could do, all you can do, all you will do, if you drown-out the voices sent to distract you from your mission. Your mission is good. The Love flowing to you is eternal. The guidance within you will not dim, it will get brighter and clearer every time you use it, and its purpose is fulfilled within you. And, I will walk with you every step along The Way until victory is yours at the end of the day, at the end of your time upon Earth. I AM with you.”

May 26, 2019

“I AM with you. I can reach-out and touch you. When you are walking, if you desire, you can feel My presence with you. When you are sitting alone, if it is your intention, you will know I too am sitting there with you. When you open to the possibilities of all the miracles, you begin to understand that Heaven is with you. Heaven is near to you. Heaven is not a distant place, or a planet in space. Heaven is with you, now.

“Over two thousand years ago I walked and talked with those I gathered around Me, for I loved them so. And, I did lead them into new truths, new understandings, new ways. I delivered every message I was intended and meant to deliver. I fulfilled every prophecy set forth in the old scriptures, because that was My mission to do; therefore, it was done, it was accomplished. And then, I began to pave the road, to show The Way, to say, ‘this is how you do it.’ There is not one question that you could think of to ask that has not already been answered.

“I would like you to put yourself in the place of those who lived with Me, when I had a physical body. Many of their names are familiar to you. You know their names. Now, put yourself there. I do not love them any more than I love you. I do not love you any less. I love you all, because that was the message sent from God. Love without qualification. It is not yours to judge. It is not yours to condemn. It is not your place to make these decisions. It is your place to love, because by loving you make The Way easier for those who need that love. You make their path easier. Love them. Love all people. This is what I told those who followed Me, and this is what I tell those of you who follow Me today. Love one another. They will know you, all people will know you, by the abundance of love that flows through you without barriers, or walls, or windows, or doors. Do not be afraid of anything. What do you have to fear, if you believe? Nothing! Move over the Earth without fear, and they will know you by your lack of fear. Be bold about your daily approach to stick to The Source of The Light. Be kind to all people. Measure your words, but live fully, and completely. Let your life be as a sentence that has no period. Let your life be as a book that has no end. Let compassion burn brightly, as a star in the sky, but let that star of compassion be within you. When you stand-up, stand-up with Light. When you move through the world be The Light. Do not push anyone from you. No matter how lowly the world might consider them, open your arms and embrace another child of God.

“Everything has been set before you. You know what to do. Do not get caught-up in the verbiage, or who is doing this or that, or whether they are doing it the wrong way. These are distractions keeping you from doing what is right, what is good, what is of The Light. Let all the world know you by your lack of fear, and your abundance of love.”

May 19, 2019

“I AM with you today; and, as you begin to feel My presence, you will also begin to know The Way. Let us walk together throughout this glorious day. You can ask Me questions, and I will respond with the gift of guidance, with lessons which deliver wisdom, as they unfold all around us. Do not hesitate to ask, and do not hesitate to accept that which you are given in reply to your prayer, as My words, and My directions will not lead you astray. Come, let us walk together into the new day.

“Most of you have found yourself in a situation where you felt as if you were surrounded by strangers. Perhaps this feeling smothered you when you were on work assignment in another country or state. Perhaps it manifested itself while you were traveling afar in another county or on another continent. It really doesn't matter where you were when this sensation hit you. Suddenly it was there with you. You felt out of place, and alone. You looked around and nothing looked familiar, no face held the promise of friendship, or even a friendly gesture to carry with you as you walked through the day. Then, as if out of the blue, you heard a voice which rang a bell, which sounded like 'home.' Finding the courage to initiate an introduction to a stranger was quickly rewarded with an open smile, and a series of stories which began to flow when you and the stranger discovered you were from the same city, and even shared a few friends and had acquaintances in common. This connection changed the entire day, and you no longer felt alone. You parted, waving goodbye, holding a list of recommendations from a connection you made with someone from 'home.'

“I offer this for contemplation during the coming days. You have journeyed from Heaven to visit Earth for a while. Your journey is a bit of work, and a bit of play, travel, and recreation. Your spirit animates your human body, while you are upon Earth. It remains hidden from view, revealing itself in what you think, and say, and do. The next time you are surrounded by individuals, whether at work, or at play, change the way you approach those around you. Listen to what they say, watch what they do. Then, when you hear a voice, which rings a bell, which sounds like 'Home,' do not hesitate to reach-out, and let your spirits meet, like strangers meeting on foreign soil, discovering common ground: heritage, family, friends, acquaintances, creating a sense of comfort between the two of you.

“Look beyond the human body. Be eager to meet the spirit which animates the body, for you all come from the same Home. Some will be so immersed in the material that it will be difficult to recognize the familiar ring, or the tone; but, I can assure you, it is there, maybe covered with the things of the world, maybe hidden from view, but still the spirit is there within each of you. Listen to what they say, watch what they do. Take, what they say and what they do as a sign, as a clue. Making an introduction on a spirit level will resurrect the flame from the embers, and a spark of remembrance, recognition within each of you. As you part company you will begin to understand that this connection of spirits traveling Earth holds promise, and has the potential, to change your entire day. You no longer feel alone, you made a connection with a spirit from 'Home,' and the stories you shared, and the things you learned, during that brief encounter, are worth treasuring as recommendations from 'Home.' Seek to know the inner spirit of those around you, and you will soon find you are really not so far from 'Home.'”

Mother's Day

“I AM with you. I AM with you to celebrate the dawn of a new day. I AM with you to encourage you to celebrate every dawn, and every day. You are in the process of a period of experience. You are spirit, spirit which has donned a body of Earth, for a while; and, the purpose of this human body is to permit your spirit to experience Earth, and all Her beauty and glory, to the fullest. Spirit can move over the Earth and see and know; but the human body can touch, and smell, and taste. This Earth experience of the body is understood and incorporated into the spirit. When you know this, the experiences you seek from Earth change. Your Earth experience becomes fuller, richer, deeper, because you treasure each scent, each touch, each sight, each feeling. I AM with you through your earthly experience, for I too had an earthly experience.

“It was ordained that I come to Earth to bring messages to you, to show you The Way, to make a great decision, to see how the children of Earth could best move forward. I came to be the Messiah. I came to bring messages from God to the children of Earth. It was determined that I make My earthly appearance through My earthly mother, Mary, protected by My earthly father, Joseph; and so, it was accomplished. Through the body of a woman I passed from the dimension of Heaven to the dimension of Earth, where My visit would last a relatively brief time.

“Today, most of you are celebrating mothers. It is a day set aside to honor the one who gave you your earthly birth, the one who was the doorway, the portal, for your entrance to Earth. A mother's arms are the first arms you feel about you. They hold you, and embrace you, and protect you until you are ready to crawl and walk, and then those arms are not very far away. They are there to scoop you up, if you fall while you play. The mother's heart is filled with love for her child.

“You come from love as a spirit, and you come from love in your earthly body. But, as the spirit departed from Heaven to have the Earth experience, so too the earthly child departs from the earthly parent to have a unique Earth experience on their own. Therefore, one day you decide to go out into the world, to work, to play, to seek what is there for you to see, no longer sitting in the lap or at the knee of your mother. But, while the mother's arms no longer hold you, her heart holds you. The heart is the home, it is the love; and therein, you will always have a home.

“No matter how trying the ways of the world might be, you are always held in the heart of love, no matter whether it is the heart of your earthly parent, or the heart of your Heavenly Parent. This is important for you to know, because no matter how far you go, no matter how deeply entrenched you become in the ways of the world, you are always held in the Home of Love. So, you see, your very existence is of love. Your spirit is of love. Your human body is of love. This is what gives you courage and strength to make your way in the world, to push challenges aside, knowing that the Home of Love is always there, always holding you, always caring for you. While the arms cannot surround you, the heart will ever hold you. Do not let the ways of the world throw you into turmoil or despair. Be still and quiet and remember to go there, to the heart of the mother, to the heart of God, for you are held tenderly in both.”

May 5, 2019

“I AM with you. I AM with you today. I AM with you to give you advice, to give you My hand, and say, ‘Come, I will show you The Way.’ Many cannot understand this communication between the dimensions; but I assure you, it is as real as speaking to the person standing next to you. The veil is thin, and for those who are willing to be still, and call for help, the veil parts, and direction comes, sometimes in words, sometimes in knowing, sometimes in seeing, sometimes in feeling; but you are not alone. It is not the intention of those of us who abide wholly within The Kingdom of God to leave you wandering in despair. It is our intention to send you good news and direction while you are there, so you might enjoy the experience of Earth before you come Home, so that you might bring The Kingdom of God onto the Earth before you come Home.

“Many of you might sometimes be concerned about the clothing you wear, or the shoes you wear, or the types of food you eat, or the types of liquid you drink. You might spend some time arranging, and caring for, the clothing, and the shoes, and the food, and the drink. But I tell you, these things will not alter that which is within you, that which is your true self.

“I would share with you today, that in the creation of the human body it came about so that it would be a body of water. Your physical body is created mostly of water; and water absorbs things, things of all kind. You can color a body of water with a relatively small amount of something else. You can take clear, clean water, and by dropping-in some toxic ingredient, you can create water that is poison to drink, or to touch, or to bathe-in.

“Whenever you have a thought of anger, or frustration, or despair, or misery of any kind this ‘thought drop’ is absorbed by your personal body of water. Often, enough ‘thought drops’ of negativity, of anger, or frustration, or greed, or misery, or envy, or hatred will be absorbed by your personal body of water, to such a degree, that you are sick, or filled with disease. This sounds harsh. It sounds unpleasant, in many ways; but it is the truth. As you walk through your regular daily tasks and events, you encounter situations which tempt you to use energies that are shadowy or dark; and, if unchecked, these temptations will become the drop, of whatever you have encountered, which soils your body of water, to some degree. The people who pass by you, they are also bodies of water, bearing combinations that either they have created, or absorbed. So, you pass these bodies of water, back and forth, exchanging pleasantries, most of the time, sometimes exchanging words of anger, and when this happens, the bodies of water, become tainted or spoiled.

“There is a way to clear and clean yourself of any debris; but it takes practice. It takes practice to hold your tongue, and not react; but, when you begin to understand the result of the reaction, the impact upon your personal body of water that this reaction takes, or has, it becomes easier and easier. And then, you begin to see what is taking place as lessons, and you begin to bless the lessons, and send the negativity from you, so that you carry with you the lesson, but it is no longer tainted, it is a stepping-stone, it is a way up and out.

“The best thing you can do is to stay in the light of God, to call upon the light of God to clear and clean you in every way; and, when you call, and when you ask, and when you pray, it shall be done. It does not matter whether it is day or night, it shall be done. Ask, and it shall be given unto you, but you must knock on the door, and ask. Once you have asked, and you feel the cleanliness of the hand of God, and the light of God within you, see your personal body as a reflection of the light, and the glory of God. Let it fill you, because as the light of God fills you, then the deeds you perform, and the thoughts you create, and the words you say become a reflection of the light of God; and, in this way you celebrate the glory of God. You bring The Kingdom of God onto the Earth by being the light of God.

“Today, take some time to clear away all the debris. Clear-out everything by asking for a blessing, and forgiving all things, seeing everything that has happened in a different light. See it from a different perspective. Change the course of your thinking, and the ways of your words and deeds, so that you become the reflection of the glory of God upon Earth. See Earth this way. Begin cleaning-up the world created by man this way. Begin to understand living in The Kingdom of God, while you are upon Earth, this way. And, begin bringing The Kingdom of God upon Earth this way, for this is truly The Way.”

April 28, 2019

“I AM with you. I live, and you live. We live forever. At the present time I ask that you feel My presence with you, for I come to bring you support and comfort, during your time upon Earth. When you believe I AM with you in Spirit as you walk, then The Way you walk becomes the path back Home, and you fully live the Earth experience, carrying the wisdom of Heaven with you, because I AM with you.

“How do you believe I was able to perform miracles while I was upon Earth? The miracles were a reflection of the glory of God upon Earth. But, how was I able to perform these miracles? How could I say that you too can perform such miracles, and even greater things? The answer is that God was and is within Me; and yes, God is within you too. Therefore, it is possible for God to work great miracles through you, just as God worked great miracles through Me. The miracles performed were for the glory of God, so that the glory of God might shine upon the Earth, so that others would know the glory of God through all I did do.

“These following words were an important sign, a key to how I worked miracles, and how you too can work miracles for the glory of God, ‘I AM in My Father, and you are in Me, and I AM in you.’ Take these words into your heart, and know them, for they will lead you into a new life of understanding how the will of God can work through you to accomplish great good, showing the glory of God, while you are upon the Earth. There is much truth and wisdom held in these few words. Pray that The Holy Spirit will lead you into even more truth, and a deeper understanding, regarding these words.

“Today you go forth into the world, and it is a magnificent opportunity to live as if you know God is truly within you, at the core of your being. No matter how dismal or challenging the day set before you might appear, God is within you, whispering, guiding, prompting you toward the light. If you believe God is within you, then you will know there is nothing God cannot do through you. Today, seize the opportunity to be the reflection of the glory of God upon Earth. Miracles await those who believe God dwells within them.”

Easter Sunday

“I AM with you. Today I AM with you in great celebration. I sing-out easily, hallelujah, hallelujah, it is done, it is complete. I AM with you today. I AM with you forever. I AM with you through every challenge, through all types of weather, be it stormy days, or sunny days, threatening nights, or quiet nights. I AM with you. Know this, and you will be at peace.

“Thousands of people waited for My coming. Few recognized My coming, because it did not look like they thought it would be. Hear these words and let them be a lesson to thee. Sometimes, the greatest gift, the greatest deliverance, the greatest victory, the greatest accomplishment takes place, unfolds, in a most surprising way. Yet, for those who will be led by their heart, for those who will go to the core of their being, and listen for answers, they will know, they will recognize, and they will be confident in the knowing.

“I came to Earth. I was born in humble surroundings, in a place fit to keep animals; and, even in these lowly beginnings kings came, because they followed that which they knew within. I lived a humble life. I followed what My Heavenly Father said. I followed the words, and the guidance, and they led Me to a place, when I reached manhood, that I would meet My Baptism in the river with the rest of those coming to John, and then rise-up, and walk into the desert, and let what needed to be done happen, as the will of God dictated the Divine Plan. When I walked out of the desert, I began My ministry, My mission, and I followed through. I accepted every challenge. I took Myself aside, every day, to speak with Our Father, so I would know The Way, and be sure of where I was to go, and what I was to say. I completed My Earth journey, hanging on a cross. This did not appear victorious to most. When they took Me down, and laid Me in the tomb, there were tears, there was fear, there was doubt. But then, there was the rising-up, and celebration when one of the greatest challenges set before a man, or a woman, was accomplished.

“I rose-up, I did; and, I walked with those who loved Me, for some days, answering their questions, and telling them all they could bear to hear. You see, My message, as I was teaching, and working in My ministry, was love, forgiveness, charity. Many did not want to hear the message I brought, but it was the message sent from God. It was what was needed, not what was sought. And, when I departed, and left those I loved, they still quaked with fear, until came the sacred Dove. The Holy Spirit of God settled upon them, and then they too knew no doubt, no fear, because The Whisper of God had found and caught their ear, and led them from within, therefore they knew from within. They did not have to work with the words, and try to figure out what they meant, they knew what they meant from within.

“I speak these words to you today, because I would like to ask you to spend the rest of this day, going within. What do you know from within, at the core of your being? Sit quietly for a while, and write it down, or speak it out. What is at the core of your being? For there, you will find the truth, and the meaning of life.”

April 14, 2019

“I AM with you. I reach-out toward you, acknowledging all you do, each effort, every step, noticing the challenges and trials, embracing the glory of your rising-up to meet them all. Life upon Earth is a series of steps, lessons, challenges, and accomplishments; and, I AM with you through each one, reminding you that your glory is in the rising-up.

“Your mission upon the Earth, no matter what it is, involves bringing The Kingdom of God onto the Earth through what you say, through what you do. While you are upon the Earth your mission might often entail: creating beautiful buildings; constructing highways, and other infrastructure; overseeing projects of every type and size; capturing the things of Earth through your painting; writing books, or plays, or music, or inspiring dance; tending fields, and forests, and oceans, and seas; working in support of your family, and those you love. When your work is exceptional, when it is good, others notice what you have done, and you receive accolades, and awards. Sometimes there is applause from one, or two, or a crowd, in support of what you do. But, do not let these voices raised in praise turn your head, or lead you away from the purpose of your mission. Do not fall to the temptation to please the followers, forsaking the spirit of that which you are to do, for this will surely lead you astray. The applause will come, and it will go; therefore, do not rely on the approval of others to know your worth, for they know not who you are.

“You are child of God, a citizen of Heaven, a noble being on a mission, sent from Heaven to bless Earth with all you think, and say, and do. Therefore, do not let the voices of Earth overshadow that which you are meant to do. Be still, be quiet, and connect with God every day, for that is The Way to secure you are on track, that you remember you are an eternal being. When you live-out your temporary life upon the Earth, knowing it is only a piece of your eternal life in The Dimension of Perfection, then your perspective of your Earth experience is altered, and it takes on sacred value.

“You accepted the mission, and it is yours. Let The Kingdom of God flow onto the Earth in a mighty and glorious way, through you, and all you think, say, and do. Let those of Earth know God, through you.”

April 7, 2019

“I AM with you. I AM with you in all things, in all ways, through all nights, and all days; but for those who will knock, and ask, for those who seek communion with Me, they feel My presence, there is no doubt, they know Me, and I know them! There is no bar on the door. There is no attempt to keep some out, and welcome others in. All you have to do is knock, and ask that that door be opened, and it shall be opened for you! Have faith, and trust, and know this to be true!

“Each of you hearing these words or reading these words have been given gifts, Gifts of The Holy Spirit of God. No matter who you are, no matter where you are, you carry, within you, gifts, borne from The Kingdom of Heaven. My brothers and sisters, it is you, who carry Heaven onto the Earth; but very few, recognize this, and then carry it to its fullest potential. If you carry within you The Gifts of The Holy Spirit, then you carry the gifts of Heaven within you. Every time you choose to use the gifts you have been given, you are using the gifts from The Kingdom of Heaven, and you are spreading them onto the Earth. You are brining Heaven onto the Earth, by using your gifts. And when you use your gifts, without hesitation, resisting temptation and distraction, you pronounce, without saying, demanding or coercing, The Kingdom of God, is with you! It would be good to ponder that, truth! It would be good to imagine that truth, in such a way, that you see every person, as a possibility for The Kingdom of Heaven to pour-out upon the Earth.

“You see, it is important to understand, that you do not have to wait to experience Heaven; for, you carry it! You carry an important piece of Heaven within you. What is that gift you carry? What are the two, or three, or four, or ten gifts you carry? What are they? They are ingredients, seeds if you will, seeds from Heaven, ingredients from the pantry of Heaven; and, it is your honor, and privilege, to sow these seeds upon the Earth, to use the ingredients to bring forth The Kingdom of God upon Earth. Do not spend your days waiting for another to deliver The Kingdom of Heaven to Earth, for you carry The Kingdom, with you.

“It would serve you well, it would serve all who inhabit the Earth well, it would serve Earth well, if you would take some time today, and ponder this, in a prayerful way. How much of Heaven are you willing to deliver to Earth, today?”

March 31, 2019

“I AM with you. I do hear your prayer; and no matter: if you are feeling alone; if you are feeling despair; if you are tempted to be angry about this, or that, or the other; I tell you, My sister My brother, rise-up, and walk with Me! Earth is the most amazing place to be. Do not squander your time: moaning, crying about what is fair, what is not fair, who did this, and who did that. Stand-up. Set your ego aside; and look around you. Look around you; and see! That which you are meant to do, has been written on your heart, by the hand of God! If you will be still, and quiet, you will ‘know!’ Master that which is yours to do! Dispatch all negative, shadowy, darkness, all these energies that distract you, befuddle you, bring you down, are far less than you; and all you need do, is say, ‘Get thee from me! Not today, I will not feed you at the table today! Be gone from me! Be on your way!’

“It is good to want to be ‘of service.’ It is good to desire to help others. It is good to pray for a better place, a sweeter place, a kinder place, for all those who live upon the Earth. It would be good. But today, I wish to speak to you about what you can actually do, right now, that is more important than almost anything.

“First of all, what is your cross? Because if you desire Me, I did say, to all those who would hear, you must deny yourself, pick-up your cross, and follow Me! Now, what does that mean to you? It means, first of all, deny yourself! Do not permit yourself to become ‘victim,’ to the things that distract you. For some of you it might be very easy to be angry. Anger might be your cross. For some of you, your cross might be judgment, quick judgment of others. The cross might be gossip, speaking- ill of others. The cross might be hatred, for those you do not even know. The cross might be mockery. The cross might be anything; but each of you hearing these words or reading these words, ‘know,’ what is yours to ‘master,’ in this lifetime. Therefore, do not permit yourself to go there! When you feel the urge, when you feel the call, when you feel your head is hot, and you are tempted to fall, into anger: stop; acknowledge it. and then, master it!

“If someone is angry with you, and you are tempted to follow through, with a retort, or a reaction, to the things they are saying, deny yourself, pick-up the cross, and follow Me! Instead of tossing their anger right back at them, bless them, say a prayer for them, do anything positive but react to them.

“Each of you know the cross, so begin there. Set an intention to address some things this week, even one thing, address it, acknowledge it, and then set a course to demolish it, to master it, to know what you are doing; for, My brothers and sisters these are the things that keep you down, keep you in place.

“Pick-up your cross, and follow Me. ‘Look, my cross is anger; but I have mastered it.’ Once you have taken care of all of the things that could trip you, make it possible for you to fall, then, you are ready, for something else.

“Today, for most of you is a time of preparation. Practice! Take it seriously! When you are tempted to, let us use the cross of anger, when you are tempted: see it, call it by name, and say, ‘You will not bring me down today,’ and pray. These things you can do, walking through the day no matter whether you are going to work, you are on vacation, no matter what you are doing. This can be done within the inner landscape of your being: preparation; prepare.

“I prepared to walk into My mission by first, walking into the desert, to be alone, to face the temptations which would bring Me down, and knowing them, face-to-face, and choosing The Way of love and peace, I walked out of the desert and into My mission, My ministry. I was prepared!

“You can do all of these things, if you choose. I encourage you to do so. It can be done in quiet. Your work will be inner-work, until you are ready to rise-up, and walk through the door that will open for you; and in that state of preparation, you will know exactly what you are to do, because you have faced your demons, and they have run from you!”

March 24, 2019

“I AM with you. There was a time, when I walked upon the Earth, and I was with you, those of you who inhabit Earth, in a physical form, a form you could touch, and see; but, I tell you, this way that I come to thee now, the spirit way, is a more personal way; for, no one can see Me, speaking to you, but you know, you cannot deny, The Whisper inside of you; it is Me! And I will speak to thee, and your heart will be still, and each breath will be slow and calm, and the frown on your lips will be gone, because I have touched you, and you know Me!

“Sometimes, as you journey over the Earth, experiencing a life time, you bump into difficulties or challenges which are trying; but, when you try, you make it through. If you have reached any age beyond ten, you must acknowledge that there were times in your life: where you felt alone, rejected, isolated, and pretty low, a time when you thought you just might not make it through; yet, here you are. It might be a year later, or fifty years later, but here you are. You made it through. You see, it is an illusion, a temptation, to throw a blanket of doubt, or confusion, or sorrow, over you, keeping you low, keeping you down, so you do not rise-up, and look around, and see all the possibilities set before thee. When the cloud of gloom takes over and covers you, it can be difficult to see the sun, but yet it is there!

“Today, I encourage you. Do not spend another day in darkness and despair. If you are wearing a blanket of grief, cast it from you. Throw it down. If you are wearing a blanket of confusion, even chaos, cast it from you, and throw it down.

“That sounds easy to do, but when you have lived in this cloud, no matter what the cloud might be, if you have lived in a cloud that is harboring thee, it is difficult to cast it from you, to throw it down. For those of you who have spent a lot of time judging yourselves, thinking you are worthless, unlovable, thinking you cannot do anything right, thinking everyone is against you, it is a challenge to cast that blanket from you, that blanket of despair that you have wrapped around yourself. No matter what the energies are held there, you know them, they are familiar. You might not know, what will happen, if you drop the blanket which has hidden you from view; but today, I encourage you. Take your strength from Me! I give it to thee freely. Drop the disguise. Drop the comfort of the blanket wrapped around you and stand there. Once you have found the faith to let it fall from you, you will begin to breathe deeper, your heart will be happier, you will see the sun, and you will begin to know The Way; because no matter how alone you feel, no matter how trapped you feel, no matter how lost you feel there is a way out; it is The Way up, and all you have to do is ask for guidance, and take the step, one at a time, until you feel stronger, and ready to climb on your own.

“Do not devalue the creation of God that is you! You cannot put a price on the creation of God, that is you! You are a piece of The Eternal and Divine Plan! God created you, to live forever, in joy! Reject the temptation to keep you down. Walk outside and look around and as you see life springing forth from the Earth, let it spring forth from you too. There is value in everything you do. It is time to rise-up, and to prepare; and, the way to prepare is to look around, and see. Be vigilant of all that is happening around thee! Celebrate each flower! Celebrate every song of the bird! Celebrate every sunset and sunrise! Celebrate, and one day, in the course of song, you feel a tap, or hear a whisper from within, calling you to your mission, calling you to begin; and, you will be ready, because you spent the season of preparation in song, in celebration!

“So, the day comes, and you have either been tapped, and heard The Whisper to rise-up and begin; or, you are in the time of preparation: to sing, and dance, and love the Earth, and begin to know your value, and your worth, as a child of God!

“Come, it is the new day! The birds sing the song, and The Son leads The Way, toward Home!”

March 17, 2019

“I AM with you. Come, let us walk awhile. Look around you. See where you are. Do not hurry. Pay attention. If you pass a flowering tree or bush, which is fragrant, do not walk by, without acknowledging it, without experiencing it. Pay attention to what you are doing. Move over the Earth, with intention; for the day, or the night, will soon come, when it is time for you to return Home; and, at that point, one of the first recognitions will be how brief your time upon Earth was, in reality; a snap of the finger, a blink of the eye, and it was done. If you will walk over the Earth, with intention, when it is time for you to return Home, your thought will be, as quickly as it passed, the Earth rewarded me, with wonders, great and small!

“Today, it seems most appropriate to speak to you of the times when you are called to retreat from the ways of the world, when it seems right, to be in solitude for a while. Sometimes, these periods of isolation are yours by choice. Something within you rings a bell, and you know, it is time. It is time to be still, so that you might grow. Sometimes, to stop, to retreat, to be still, to be in solitary confinement, if you will, comes to you, not of your own choosing, but because it is your time. These extended times are preparation for what lies ahead.

“My time, as I walked upon the Earth, came before I ventured-out to begin a mission that was Mine to do. My time of solitude was spent in a desert. It was not a weekend, or a week, it was an extended period of time, allowing blessings, allowing Me to be still long enough to hear, and remember, and recall, and to understand completely, and to be held in awe, of what was about to take place.

“When you have times in quiet, everything around you becomes brighter. When the sun shines, you see it, in a way you did not see before the time of stillness. You hear the song of the bird clearer, and your time upon the Earth seems to take-on a sacredness, that might have been missing before.

“My time of isolation was necessary. I walked with The Creator of All Things, and listened and heard, received direction, and took-in every word, knowing that I would be called to walk out of the desert, and move amongst mankind, and deliver the message that was mine to deliver. In order to do it properly required that I ‘know,’ what I was doing, required that I do the will of God, to complete The Divine Plan, without hesitation, moving from woman to man, blessing, loving, healing, touching, dancing with joy, feasting, living My life, but doing so, following the direction of God.

“I invite each one of you to set aside some time to make the journey into a solitary way, for a while and be still. I encourage you, once this is done, the intention is set, not to take the things of the world into the temporary tent of quiet. Reject the temptation to carry books, even music. Reject the idea to take with you that which surrounds you in the everyday world. I took nothing. That which I wore upon My back accompanied Me into the desert; and, that which I wore upon My back, and carried in My heart, and soul, and spirit accompanied Me, out of the desert. Prepare in such a way, and you will find your time in solitary confinement to be exactly what you need, to take the step, up, onto a new platform, into a new place, to breathe the air of Earth, and feel the breeze upon your face, yet 'know,' who you are, and what is yours to do!"

March 10, 2019

“I AM with you. I bring you peace. My peace, I give to you; and, all you have to do is to open to My peace, embrace My peace, and let it flow into you! At this moment, there is nothing more powerful you can do, for yourself or others, to restore peace, anew, is (than) to pray, to be still, to reflect, to seek guidance, from God, about what step you should take, next. It does not matter if anyone, or everyone, around you, is running, from here to there, distraught, in despair, you can be at peace and walk with purpose, and intention, and in peace!

“Today I wish to share with you these few things, because upon the Earth right now, the ways of the world, are more than challenging, and growing more intense every day.

“It is possible to have a deep faith, and to believe, with fervor, as you believe, as you have been taught, as you know, as The Holy Spirit guides you, and not hold hatred or anger for another person, or a group of people, or an institution, or a law, or society. It is even possible to hold your belief, and hold your faith, while walking next to another, who holds another belief, another faith. This is called ‘living in peace.’ This is called honoring another’s belief. This is called respect.

“It is possible to have another, or opposing, position or point of view, to state your position, concisely, without engaging in arguments, or fighting, or without allowing, and permitting animosity, and hatred to grow within you.

“It is possible take a stand and state your case, by how you live, the things you do, without putting-down those who don’t (do not) agree with you.

“It is trickery to believe that the louder you speak and the harsher your language against the opposition, you will gain, your power will grow, and throngs of individuals will follow you, wherever you go. It is not true; for a people will grow weary, of the energies of anger and hatred, and they will soon fall, into a state of misery and despair, which will lead to not caring at all; and, they will fall away from you, because they are growing tired, wishing to distance (themselves,) from the energies of anger and hatred.

“Look around you, seek the leaders who make their decision, or their position, known, with clarity, softly, taking a stand, for what they believe, refusing to raise a hand, or a voice, to those who disagree with them. When you find such people, listen to what they say, and then make your decision, make your way.

“Refuse to hate! Refuse to be angry! Refuse to gossip or speak ill of others! Do not diminish good, by salting it with words of darkness and shadow, for it will soon be obvious, to all who will hear.

“Speak, and let your words be: for the good; for all time; for peace; supporting the freedom of each individual to use the gift of freewill, which God has given unto all of the children! Be at peace this day! Grow in peace this day! Sow the seeds of peace this day, and you will walk in peace, and show The Way!”

March 3, 2019

“I AM with you, and today I celebrate that I AM with you! Talk to Me, I AM here. When you are tempted to speak ill of others, speak to Me, and I will show you how to override the temptation, so that you might bless every person, in your thoughts, as well as your words; for, it is possible to do. It requires faith, and remembering, that I AM, with you!

“Today I speak briefly to remind you, of two things, so that you go into a new week reinforced, reinforced with the wisdom of God.

“Reject ‘judgment,’ of others, and yourself, outright! When you make a judgment that someone is fast or is slow, that someone is smart or not so smart, when you make a judgment of any kind on another, that judgment sticks! Refuse to judge others! And refuse to judge yourself! Move into a more positive way, of living your life upon the Earth. Look at what is around you, and sing of the glory of creation. Do not waste your time judging others. Leave all judgment to God!

“Refuse to ‘react,’ to any situation or person. Refuse to react to any negative conversation or actions. Refuse to react; for, when you react to what another is doing, you are magnifying their action, you are magnifying their creation. Make a creation of your own, do not give your power to someone else’s creation. Refuse to react! Let the love of God move into you, and let your actions be ‘of God.’ Let your actions confirm the glory of God, the light of God, the love of God; and let all (of) the people of Earth see the glory of God in you.

“If I go on, and on, giving you more words to think about, and ponder, then I might water-down what has just been said. Therefore, I will stop. Refuse to judge others! Refuse to judge yourself! Refuse to react to others! Choose to act in the light, and the love, and for the glory of God!”

February 24, 2019

“I AM with you! And it is a joy to be with you! I bring joy, I bring peace, and when you hear Me, or feel My presence, it should settle about you: confidence, courage, strength; for, if I can reach through The Corridors of Time, it soon becomes hope, and hope soon turns to trust and faith, that you too can reach through The Corridors of Time! My words were not false when I said you can do all that I AM doing, and even greater things. So do not let the world tell you, that you cannot do, that which I did; and, this is one of the main reasons I reach through the veil to touch you, I reach to your Spirit to hear Me, so you do not lose faith, so you remember who you are, while you are on your journey, upon the Earth!

“It is easy to take care of that which you see with the eyes of your body. It does not take much to look around and see that which needs maintenance, that which needs tending. You do not sit in a chair and watch something fall into disrepair; for, you wish to take care of that which you use. You do not sit in a chair and watch dust pile-up, or dirt gather upon your floor, for it is important to take care of your home. Most of you will do anything to clean the environment, the air you breathe, to pick-up trash along the road, to keep your world, your environment, free of debris; and, you go to great effort to do so.

“Because you cannot see the realm of Spirit around you, you do not take as much time to tend the Spirit realm. Remembering that you are Spirit, first, will open the door to keeping your inner-corridors clear and clean, keeping the body of your Spirit clean. If I could peel the scales from your eyes, you would see, and you would know, instantly, you are never alone. There is so much going on around you; and, the world of Spirit, needs tending, observing, watching.

“So, if you cannot see it, you might ask, ‘Well, how do I go about keeping my spirit clean?’. And, I will tell you. You feel it, sometimes you hear it, and sometimes you know it. You see a soiled spot on a garment you are wearing, and you wash it. You see dirt on the floor of your home, and you sweep it clean. You see the things which require attention, and you take care of them. This is how you keep your spiritual house clean! You pay attention to it. The more attention you pay to your spiritual life, the more you feel it, the more you know it, the more familiar it becomes!

“When you permit anger to move into you, you feel the rising-up of the anger, and you feel the exhaustion after the anger. You feel anger. You create anger. You feel hatred, you know what it feels like. You do not see the energy of hatred, but you see the direct results of hatred. You feel it, you know it. Some of you hear the voices within you, the tempters, calling you to hate, to be angry. These things are the dirt, these things are the unclean spirits, these things are the source, of your discomfort, from within. And it is possible for each of you to free yourselves from this dirt, from this unclean environment, but you must recognize it, as such. The only thing that is required is attention to what is going-on within you; and you know it, oftentimes you hide it, from others around you, but that does not deny it exists within you. Therefore, clean it out!

“The best way to begin focusing on that which needs to (be) maintain(ed) in your spiritual environment is to stay connected with The Creator, with God! Go to God, at certain times of day, and even if you do not have an hour or two to spend this way, you certainly have a minute or two. Connect with God: 'Here I am, God, guide me.' 'Here I am, God, I love you.' 'Here I am, God, thank you.' Any form of greeting, or acknowledgment, is as if you have taken a cord and plugged it into an electric outlet. Instantly, a source of powerful energy is yours, a source that has been with you all of the time, but you just have not used it. Today I urge you to use, this, that is yours, the power of God, which will flow into you, and all you have to do is acknowledge, and begin to understand the power, of God, within you. Make the connection. Begin sweeping-up, and cleaning-up. Do not permit anger to soil your inner chambers. The temptation will be there, yes; but you do not have to give it entrance. You are the only one, who can permit entrance, into your inner-being. Say, 'No!' Say, 'Go!' Say, 'Be gone!' Say, 'I cast thee from me!' Say anything you choose to string together with words that are familiar and comfortable to you; but begin to understand the importance of cleaning the inner-you, the real you, the Spirit that is you!

"The things you are tending today that you can see will all fall in disrepair, will all melt away, including your body; but the Spirit that is you, that was created in the image and likeness of God, will never die! Therefore, focus, on what is eternal, the eternal you! The eternal you is what is animating your body right now.

"Today, begin focusing on the eternal you, by connecting with The Eternal Creator of you, and begin to be familiar, with the power that is yours, as a child of God!"

February 17, 2019

“I AM with you. I AM with you to bring you positive reinforcement, encouragement, and support; for you are upon the Earth now. Some of you are in the middle of your journey, a lifetime of experience upon Earth. Some of you might just be beginning. Some of you are drawing nearer and nearer to the end, the time to return Home. But no matter where you are along your journey upon the Earth, I AM with you: to encourage you, to keep moving; to put one foot in front of the other; take a step every minute, every hour, or every day; but, move forward. Do not be distracted, from the fact that you are on a mission; and the first thing to do is to make sure that your connection is clear to Home Base, the place where guidance is sure. I AM with you so that you might endure, enjoy, celebrate, that, which you see, and come to know, as life upon Earth; for it is fleeting, and soon will pass, and you move on to another segment of your eternal life, at last. But until that time, there is much to do; and The Way, will be made clear, for you, if you maintain your connection with God!

“Today, I wish to touch briefly upon the exercise of judgment, which is something that each of you do many times, sometimes one hundred times a day. It has become a practice, something ordinary, something accepted. It seems natural, when something happens, or something is broken, or there is an accident, that immediately, the first step is to find fault. ‘Who did this?’ ‘Why did you do it?’ Questions, distractions from resolving the matter at hand. This judgment is learned early in life. At some point, in the history of mankind, it will become vital that you stop the judgment, and address that which needs your attention.

“If something is broken, let us say a glass falls to the floor, and breaks, oftentimes it is the case, that there is a voice, coming from authority saying, ‘Who pushed this glass?’ ‘Who knocked this glass?’ ‘Who dropped this glass?’ There is judgment, there is blame.

“I would like you to begin looking at these incidents which occur in a different way. In fact, why don't you try this today. If you encounter an accident, instead of turning around to see who knocked over the glass, begin cleaning the glass from the floor. Pick-up all the glass, make sure it is safe to walk there once more. If a door to outside has been left open, rather than setting a course to find the person responsible for leaving the door open, be quiet, close the door. Now, I could list five or six, or a thousand and six, incidents which could direct you, but these few things said this morning are enough really to show you The Way to begin addressing the matter at hand, rather than fault finding. Slowly, this will begin to change your perspective, and it will become more important to set things straight: to make the repairs, or clean-up the mess, than it is to find fault, to blame, to criticize, to correct. Some of you will disagree. Some of you will think it takes too much time, and the person who did it should fix it, or pay for it. But I tell you it is better to address the issue at hand because in this way you are living the words you would say. It is a better lesson. It is a better way to teach children, or others around you. It does require some humility. It does require you to hold your tongue, often. But it will begin to change, how things unfold in your household, or in your workplace, or on the playground. Things such as this are learned, by example! Soon you will find that even a child who knocks over a glass of milk, after they have been in this type of environment, will simply get down on the floor, and clean-up the mess. There will be no issue about who did this, or who did that, because there is no fear of judgment, of harsh language, of punishment. You will begin to notice that cleaning-up the mess, or setting things straight, is really the issue at hand; and it only needs a little bit of example for others to see, if you topple a glass, then get down on your knee, and clean it up. No fuss, no tension, no stress.

“A glass of milk might seem small, insignificant, but you can apply this to anything. It takes someone to begin. It takes someone willing to go down on their knees, and clean-up the mess; but it is the only way, for others to see, how to proceed, without arguments, stress, guilt, punishment, or shame.

“I suggest you try one day and see how it works. I believe you will find it will eliminate judgment from your mind, when the goal is to set straight, to walk The Way in peace, to take care of that which comes to you each day quietly, and reverently, blaming none, loving all, setting things straight, and rising tall, to walk The Way!”

“I AM with you. I reach-out and gather you, drawing you nearer and nearer to Me. Do not reject, the idea, of our communion, our communication. Do not resist the call. I speak to you in a whisper: so you might know; so you might be encouraged; so that in following one step at a time, you gain strength; and, with every step you take with Me, this courage grows within you, until there is no hesitation in your step, until your gait is filled with confidence, and you are dancing over the Earth.

“Today I want to share some things with you, that might appear random, as they make sense only when you address these things individually; and, there is so much to say to you, that I will just say them as they come.

“As you are living in the world today, it is not so much different as it was when I walked upon the Earth two thousand years or more. The garments you wear are different. The mode of transportation is certainly different. I AM addressing the heart, the soul, the spirit, of human beings; this has not changed so much. In fact, the hearts of human beings might have hardened just a bit. I AM encouraging you today to guard your heart against this harshness! You will see, and hear, and read, things which will tempt you to close-off your heart; you might experience, things that break your heart, or so it feels; but, do not let these things harden your heart! Do not close your heart! Do not deny yourself the experience of love!

“Every day, in the morning, when you rise-up from your rest, you have an opportunity to see what will be set before you, one way or another. You can see things shrouded in shadow or darkness; or, you can bring the light of God, to every situation, illuminating it, with truth! However, you see, that, which comes to you during the day, will determine your Earth experience for that day. We are addressing only one day, because as you see one day, as you create one day, so you shall see and create each day, until you have completed your lifetime upon Earth. So, if there is a possibility to change each day, by what you are thinking, and how you are seeing, why not give it a try?

“If you find a cat up a tree, calling-out for help, it does not resolve the issue by pointing the finger at the dog, who might have chased the cat up the tree. The issue is resolved, by simply getting the cat out of the tree. This might sound simplistic, but it is The Way to look at everything! If you encounter someone who has fallen, along the sidewalk, it does not help them rise-up, by asking how they got there, what made them fall. What resolves the issue is to reach-out your hand, so they might stand. This might sound simple, as well. If you encounter a mess, for example a room that looks as if it has not been touched in years, with regard to straightening things, and dusting. It does not resolve the issue (of) blaming others for the messy room; but, correcting the situation begins by picking-up one thing and then another, until the room is restored, straight, and clean.

“Now the cat might stay in the tree, if those who see it begin an argument about why it got there, how it got there, whose dog was responsible for getting it up the tree; and, the argument might remain under the tree, while the cat remains up the tree. The person who has fallen might remain down and low, while others around try to figure-out how they got there; but, until someone reaches-out a hand, and provides an opportunity for them to stand, the fallen... will remain low. And, the house in disrepair, will soon fall, and crumble, until there is someone (who is) willing to pick-up one piece at a time, without concern about who is responsible for the mess.

“There will be arguments to what I say; but, there were arguments when I walked upon the Earth, and suggested: that it would be better to turn the other cheek, than continue an argument or a battle; that it would be better to love your enemy, which was basically unheard of at the time; that you should give: drink to the thirsty, food to the hungry, clothes to the naked. All of the things I said then, two thousand years ago, were questioned, because they did not seem possible.

“No one was willing to understand, and without understanding they would not see, that the arguments and battles will not end, until there is someone with the courage to begin; and, it begins by turning the other cheek, refusing to engage, stopping the energy, bringing the light!”

“I AM with you, ever with you: walking with you, talking with you, encouraging you, supporting you. I AM with you! We have a trans-dimensional relationship, extraordinary, and ordinary, all at the same time. I AM with you.

“So many of you, hearing My words or reading My words this day, feel a fire within their being, and long to go out, to complete a ministry, a mission, to do something great, in the name of God. They are eager to begin, they are eager, for the chance, the opportunity, to do good in the name of God. They gather people around them, and they encourage them to do the same; and, pretty soon they are out, working, gathering funds to build buildings, gathering food to fill shelves that are empty. And this all sounds good, doesn't it? However, if you are not mindful of what you are doing, you will soon be exchanging one busy day at work, for another busy day, and it will all become work, perhaps in a different way; but, the temptation is to carry that work-day habit, into what you are doing for God; and soon, the prayerfulness of it slips away, and it becomes a business of sorts, accomplishing some things, yes; but, I tell you, the most important component, the love, the joy and the laughter needs to remain, needs to be there. It should not look like work. It should come from a place of 'gifting others.' To explain that these things are done for the glory of God, and it is the love of God, pouring through each of you to others that brings it forth (is good). You can say that all day, but if the love of God is missing, then there needs to be a slight alteration, there needs to be an adjustment.

“It is a beautiful thing to see so many willing to assume the responsibility of accomplishing a mission, for undertaking a ministry. Today, I tell you, it needs to be done simply, so it can be done, with ease and grace, so that everyone who receives the gift, receives the love of God at the same time. Before you begin anything, any mission, any ministry, any one to one, relationship, intended for the glory of God, return to the beginning, and let it be done, with love!

“This sounds easy, and it is easy, if you open to the love of God, and let it flow through you. Yes, it is that easy, because when you open to the love of God, and let it flow through you, that which you are asked to do in the name of God will flow, and it will flow through you; and, you will have all you need to accomplish that which you have been asked to do; but, it comes easily, because it is God, working through you.

“So, today I give you a lesson plan, for one day, for two days, ideally, work with this plan for a full week, because then, you will see the results, and you will be surprised, because this sounds too easy; yet, it is The Way to begin. Resist the temptation to correct, to criticize, to tell others all the things they do wrong. Put that away for a while. Your world will not fall apart, if you resist the temptation to correct others for a day or two. They will not go astray either, because you will be following something, I asked you to do; and, you will be surprised, at the impact it has on all those around you, and you. Set your intention, as you begin each day, to point-out all the good points, in anyone who comes your way. Resist the temptation to focus on their faults, on all of the things they do wrong. Practice before you encounter each one, and let your encounter be a song, of encouragement and support. Instead of telling your child, 'Look, you put on the wrong shoes,' tell them something they did right. Point-out the things they are able to do on their own. Remark on how their voice reminds you of angels singing. Remark on their penmanship, or simply on them bringing you joy; and, let this carry through from children to spouses, to parents, to all those close to you; and, once you have mastered this, reach-out farther. There is no need for harsh criticism. The biggest change comes when you focus on what those around you do, and what they do well. Focus on their love, their kindness. Focus on their purpose and determination. Focus on anything, which they have accomplished. Soon you will notice that when you point-out the positive, the positive thrives, and the negative withers. When you tell a child, 'Oh, you sing like an angel,' they will be singing all day long. When you tell your spouse, when you tell your partner, that you appreciate the things they do for you, that focus, brings their actions to the foreground, and they do more, and more. The negative withers, the positive flourishes, in the light you are shining upon it. Be the light and shine on the positive, the positive will grow like a well-tended garden, and the weeds will wither, because they will not be in the light.

“If you take the time to practice this, during the coming days, come the end of the week, you will notice, that the light you have been shining upon others has brought forth the growth, in the garden they are. This is how you begin to change the world. Once you have mastered this practice, once the light, reflected from you onto another human being, is bringing forth all the positive, all the best they have within them, then you are ready to move-out, to widen the circle, to make a bigger impact; but, I tell you this, you could build a castle for others, and it would be cold, dark, and possibly empty, unless you first filled it with light, and the warmth of that light welcomed all who would step inside. Do not go forth with the building, and the gathering, until you have set the stage, within your being!

“In the coming days, set the stage, alter your perspective, focus on the positive, and that is what you will realize. You will see the light of God, in all you know, in all you encounter, when that is what you bring to every situation, and every person. Be the light of God!”

“I AM with you. I AM with each of you! It is gloriously possible, because we are one; and, once you pass, back through the veil, and return Home, what seems a mystery, while you are upon Earth, will be illuminated and you will remember, how this is possible, how basic it is: the connection, the roots, the one!

“Everything upon the Earth would seem a bit disjointed, (disjointed,) if every individual upon the Earth was a farmer; for, while the farmer is a very important position to hold: you need builders; you need those who can teach; you need those amongst you who will stand-up and share their unique gifts. You come together as one, one celebrating the unique abilities of the individual.

“It is possible to be one, and be different, be unique, be authentic. You have one physical body, it operates as your body, yet: your toes do not see as your eyes; and your fingers do not hear as your ears; your ears cannot grasp the hand of another; and, your eyes cannot move you from one place to another; individual pieces of the body, functioning as they are meant to function, contributing to the one. Look at your physical body. Look at the pieces and parts. Your elbows do not rise-up in dissention when your back is being rubbed and massaged, because the rubbing of the back, the massaging of the back, is relaxing the whole. Your body, your physical body, is one of the best examples of individual pieces of the one; and, in the example of your physical body, the one is you. When one piece of your body is injured, or not operating as it is meant to operate, it impacts the entire body; and, the entire body does not return into oneness, to wholeness, to health, until that particular area is healed; and, when it is healed, it is made whole, with the entire physical body. Your physical body would be a good example when you are thinking about the situation of the world in which you live.

“When you go out into the world created by man: let your thoughts be one; let the words you speak be as the light of God, illuminating the one; let the deeds you do, contribute to the peace, and the wellbeing, of the one; for, there will be those who will tell you that you must choose to fight this battle or that battle, when, all the while, when the light of God would illuminate each position, each stance, ultimately, you would see, there is no need for battle, at all. Find the source, find the one. Do not spend your days thinking-up ways, that one side might win, defeat the other. Spend your days opening to the light of God, so that all might be illuminated, and The Way made clear. Peace is always possible, if it is peace that is on the heart of all interested parties. I will say that again. Peace is always possible, when it is peace, on the heart, of all interested parties!

“Ego can cause disruption, in the power of God, flowing upon the Earth. If you can imagine, if you can see, with your eyes closed, a massive tent, under which all people gather, and in this seeing, or imagining, see the people happy and content, until something happens that separates the people. Let us say, the way they look, the set of their eyes, the thrust of their chin, the color of their hair, the clothes they wear; and soon, these individuals, who are different from the rest, are pushed out from under the massive tent, and form a tent of their own. And if you can see this multiplying over, and over, and over again, until all those who appear, whether it is by the words they say, or the way they think, or what they do,( they appear) to be alike, are soon gathering under tents which are smaller and smaller: individual tents where there had been one. Once the division begins, there is no end to it, and those who found safety in numbers, soon find they are pushed from the tent as well, because once you give a place to ego, then ego begins to take its place!

“It is true that once you turn from God and decide that you can make your way on your, using your talents, to establish your position, ego is vital. You must incorporate ego, so that you stand strong, against all comers, so that you can hold your stance, hold your position. But taking this perspective, you find that: you are isolated, even amongst those you consider friends, acquaintances, and even family; there is this isolation, that you must hold your own, and be strong. I tell you, you will enjoy days of peace, the very second: you drop the defense, resist the call of ego, and open your heart to the possibility, that the presence of God is with you, and each one, surrounding you!

“Sometimes you can cover the presence of God: by being contentious, argumentative, making it very important for others to know, or believe, that you are right, and another is wrong; you can pile these things one on top of another, until you can no longer hear the song of God, The Whisper, the sweet words; but I promise you this, there will rise-up, from amongst you, those who will speak, and their words will be sweet, and different! The light that comes from them will illuminate all! It will chase the shadows and darkness away; and, the words they say will not separate one group from the other, but will be of common ground, of the goodness of every woman, man, and child, of the possibilities of Earth, filled with people whose intention it is to love one another, and be kind. At first, you will see one or two, but then, as you look around, the numbers who are willing to stand-up, and give voice to The Whisper of God within them, will grow in number, and soon they will drown-out the voices of chaos, and confusion, and dissention, and Earth will begin to breathe, and relax; and, those standing, singing the song of God, will grow in number, until those who inhabit the Earth, fill it with songs; and, the song of the Earth, will fill the heavens! This is coming, because dissention and unrest cannot last; if your heart is touched with peace, and you hear The Whisper of God within you, rise-up; for, even if you rise-up. alone, you shall not stand alone for long!

“Rise-up!”

January 20, 2019

“I AM with you! It does not matter where you are, your location does not prohibit My conversation with you. The only thing that can inhibit My conversation with you is that you shut the door, you control the passageway. When you believe you can hear Me, you hear Me, no matter where you are. When you believe you can feel My presence with you, you feel My presence with you, no matter where you are. When you believe The Holy Spirit of God will fill you with wisdom so that you might speak the truth of God it is done, it is accomplished, no matter where you are. Understand the power which you hold within you. Acknowledge the gift you have been given, the gift of free will, and then make your choice. Use your freewill to choose the path you will take.

“Today, I wish to speak to you about the power that is within you. Perhaps, what I wish to say, will seem a bit harsh; but it is important for you to ‘know this,’ and to assign it the importance it holds. If you do not know it, you cannot use that which is yours most efficiently and effectively.

“It is time for you to understand the power of your thoughts. First you think it, then you say it, and do it. You create, within your thoughts. You bring your thought, onto the Earth, by speaking your thought. By pronouncing your thought, it lives, and the deeds which follow bring it solidly onto the Earth, and it lives, because you created it. This morning I AM not speaking about making a window-box, or building a bridge, or cooking a meal, or repairing a car. These are material things. They are created with your hands, and they are transient, and no matter how well made will eventually fall, or deteriorate; but that which you create within your thoughts, lives forever!

“This message is repeated to you, because it is difficult, when you are in human being form, to comprehend eternity, something living forever; but your thought does live forever; and, when you speak your thought, those words leave your lips, and they have life. Perhaps it is not a life-form you are used to addressing, or recognizing, but the vibration leaves your lips, and rides upon eternity. The words you say do not go away, they do not melt. There will come a time when you can go back and find the words you say, floating. They do not die. They do not pass away. The words you say cannot be gathered up easily. They cannot be undone. I say this to you, because it is important for you to know what you are doing!

“Most of you hearing these words or reading these words this day have had an opportunity to experience unconditional love. Most often it is experienced when you hold your first child, a baby, newborn. There is love; and you feel it; and, you begin to know, the gift of love, once given, not as a reaction or a response, but a love coming directly from your heart, created within your thought first, and then released, wrapping the child in the love you have created! When a baby is born: you can diaper and feed the baby, wash the baby, keep it clean, do everything you can to keep it healthy; but, if you are not creating love within your being, the child is missing the most important ingredient for its health, for its survival. Pay attention to the love you created within your thought for this child, and how it wraps the child. A child which is raised with the gift of love is confident, and sure of who they are. This love they begin to see, and use, and understand, is a gift, they give others, first hand. This is how they know love, this is how they understand love; and, it all began with your thought, a thought that does not die, or go away, but continues to move, saturating others, filling others, so that others too might know the love you created. Once you begin to understand this process, it is easier to understand the process of creation; as you have always thought about it coming from God, The Source of Creation, it is time for you to recognize you are continuing the creation of God with your thoughts.

“So, this is a beautiful way to spend your week, holding these words, and recognizing the power you hold; but it is important to add that, just as you can create this magnificent gift of love, and send it forth, there is also the possibility that you might create frustration, worry, anger, greed, envy. You can insert any shadowy or dark energy there, and it will be the same. When you begin creating anger for another person, a situation, an institution, no matter what, this anger does not stop, it does not fade away, it is created by you, and goes from you, and moves-out into the world. It goes into you, as well. You cannot do harm to another without harming yourself. It is impossible. The energy is powerful. When you create it, it becomes a part of you. Every time you get angry, anger becomes a part of you. Every time you get lonely, and you ponder this loneliness, the loneliness settles within you. Take these words I have spoken to you to heart. Understand the power of the creation within your thought, and begin living anew, in the coming days, knowing what you are doing, not only to others, but to you.

“You would not choose to drink a cup of poison. You would choose to drink the cup of clear, fresh water. See it that simply. Do not poison yourself, when you can quench your thirst. Take the time to notice what you are creating this week. Go out, and continue the creation of God, filling yourself with life, and love, and light, and peace; for as you are filled, so too are those around you, so too is forever, so too is eternity! Fill eternity, for the glory of God, today!”

January 13, 2019

“I AM with you. Yes, I AM truly with you in as many ways as you desire to know Me, and I will show thee The Way. The course of your journey will be as difficult as you imagine, or as amazing and wonderful as you can imagine. Your thoughts will determine your experience; therefore, whenever you acknowledge My presence with you, I will guide you, and show you The Way!

“The New Covenant I was sent to deliver was not shrouded or clouded. With great clarity the direction, for those who would hear Me, was: to love one another; to be charitable in all ways; to be aware of the trials of others; to tend the sick; to visit the imprisoned; to feed the hungry, and give drink to those who thirst; to turn the other cheek, and to forgive, even unto death. These were simple directions, without qualifications assigned in any way. They remain the same, to this day.

“For those of you who will hear, do not limit the opportunity that is yours, do not restrain what you can do, do not complicate that which is simple, and pure. You are upon the Earth for a brief time. Embrace the opportunity as the gift it is, and live, loving, without qualifications, or limitations. Live, and let the glory of God live with you, in you, and through you!”

January 6, 2019

“I AM with you! When you open the door, and accept the gift, you hear, and you know Me. Faith is the seed, planted within you, that wipes away doubt, and permits you to believe, in the face of all that is taught in the world created by man. There will be the day when you come to know, that the best guidance, the best direction, in the path to happiness is held within the gift of communication, this trans-dimensional communication, which is often called prayer, reflection, or meditation. And in these times of stillness and quiet, when you make it your intention, to open to all the possibilities that are yours: you are blessed beyond measure; you are fueled and filled until your cup truly doth runneth over; and you live, as you are meant to live while you are upon the Earth.

“Living upon the Earth, amongst all the beauty of Earth, the natural wonders, that are all for you, to look and see and know, you still encounter challenges. These challenges, presented by the ways of the world, can be resolved, often-time dissolved, by the choices you make. Do not permit the choices made by others to dissolve your joy, the love of life that is within you, happiness. This is easier to do, when you understand that to experience an emotion: happiness, joy, kindness, compassion, and understanding, and any other emotion you wish to insert at this point, requires, that you make a choice; and, the same thing is true for those shadowy or dark energies. You must make a choice to be angry, to be frustrated, to be guilty, to be ashamed, to be a tortured soul. You must choose, and while this statement might sound harsh at first, it is true; and, the beauty of it is, it is true in such a way, which allows you to alter the energies, the experiences, the emotions that you feel, and create, and sustain, and feed within your being; but, before you can begin to master these things, you must understand, each individual creates with their power of creation, that, which they experience. The same situation can come to many, and there are many different ways to face or experience the situation. A devastating occurrence can impact the lives of many; but, watch and see, how some master devastation, by going to the well within themselves, and finding a place of peace, where they can be still, and then rise-up above the dust and the clamor, while so many are running in fear or terror. How does this happen? It happens with practice, it happens with determination.

“So, I will leave you today with this. No matter what another has chosen to experience, it does not have to be your experience! You have been given the gift of freewill, and that extends to the choices you make every day. While you cannot ‘change,’ another’s decision, another’s experience: by cajoling them, by arguing with them, by pleading with them, you can alter every situation by blessing them, by forgiving them, by releasing, by letting go. Do not hold-on to that which is not yours.

“You have the opportunity to create; therefore, create light! It is what you create within your being that will eventually overpower the shadow or darkness created by another.

“There are very few arguments that end with one side saying, ‘you are right;’ but, every argument will end, if there is one person who could be engaged, but chooses to be still, to see, to know, and forgive!

“Use your freewill choice to choose The Way! It is the road to peace, happiness, and fulfillment!”
