Jesus' Sunday Sermons 2020

The Command

"This is my command: Love each other." ... Jesus ... John 15:17

The Promise

*"If anyone loves me, he will obey my teaching.
My Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our home with him." ... Jesus ... John 14:23*

Holding these words in our hearts, we opened the door to the everyday Presence of Jesus, walking with us ... teaching us ... The Way.

And, onto the mountain,
there came the words
...as promised...

December 27, 2020

“I AM with you. It is such a joy to be with you. And when you recognize that I AM with you, it is a time for celebration. For in the acceptance, in the embracing, of My Presence with you, you knock down the barriers, and throw open the doors: to a brighter day; to more joyful existence; to understanding the meaning that you a connector of Heaven and Earth, that you are meant to bring Heaven onto the Earth. It is possible for you to bless everything you do, upon the Earth, with Heavenly Grace. This is all possible. The Holy Spirit of God is within you. Rejoice! And let us go into this new day, together.

“Right now, today, many of you have just finished reading stories, or watching movies, or talking, about all the miraculous events, leading up to, and at, My birth, upon Earth, and even following My birth. But I want you to look at them again. Retrace your steps, and see how much God loved Me, that He would send His mighty angels, in dreams, and visions, so that there would be no chaos, or confusion. And you just talked about it, you just read it, you just watched it, unfold. But, do not ignore it. When you close the book, on the story, do not put it down, and forget it, because it all happened, as it is reported.

“An angel did speak, in the temple, to Zachariah. An angel did visit Mary, a young girl, in a vision. An angel did visit Joseph, in a dream. Angels did sing, on the hillsides, and guide the shepherds, to come to Me. A Light, in the heavens, did guide wise men, from afar. An angel did come, again, in a dream, and tell Joseph to take us away. An angel did appear, to the wise men, and say, ‘Do not return to Herod.’ I could continue, but you do see the point. Can you imagine the chaos and confusion, if any of the individuals, involved in this story, had ignored the vision, ignored the dream, ignored the call, ignored The Light, ignored the songs? It would not be the same. It would be entangled, in worldly refrain, words such as, ‘Maybe I saw.’ ‘Maybe I heard.’ ‘Maybe it could happen.’ But these were people of faith. And they followed the visions, they followed the dreams, they followed The Light, and they followed the songs. They followed the signs, sent to show The Way.

“Now, you receive signs, visions, dreams every day. You have inner guidance, from The Holy Spirit, which is within each of you. But you have also been given free will to make a choice. You choose. Do you follow what Uncle Phil said to do? Or, do you heed the dream sent to you? Do you follow what your teacher told you to do? Or, do you heed the vision sent to you? Do you accept your friend’s advice? Or, do you seek The Wisdom of Heaven, from within? Pay attention to the choices you make, because this, I promise you. The answers, you seek, will come to you in dreams, and visions, and signs. And, if you have the wisdom to sit down, and go within, asking for guidance, from The Holy Spirit of God, that is within you, you will know The Way. And The Way will be made clear for you. For The Promise has always been, and it remains so. See, I send an angel before thee, to show you The Way. This is the only difference, the same can be for you, today, as it was for Me then. And there were threats, and there were dangers. Still, they listened. They took the guidance from Heaven, and made their way, in the world. You can do the same. With faith, accept what you receive, that is especially for you, and make your way, in the world. It is designed so you will meet your destiny. The Ways of God are miraculous. There will be no chaos, or confusion when you accept The Word, and follow The Way.”

December 20, 2020

“I AM with you. I reach-out, to touch you, to bring you words, which will sustain you, as you make your way, in the world, today; for, this is what you need today. You need courage and confidence, so listen to what I do say to you. Listen, be still. You will not hear Me, when you are surrounded by noise. Go quietly, find a space, where you can close your eyes, and be still, and speak My name, and I will answer. I AM with you.

“At this time of year, it is a custom, amongst many of you, to remember My birth, upon the Earth. It is not marked on the exact day of My birth, but a date has been chosen, when all those of Earth, can gather, and sing, and remember, and celebrate My coming. And this is good. It is as it should be. But this year, I humbly ask of thee, to rethink the celebration. Rethink the noise, and the chaos, and the weariness, and the worry, that the season of My birth seems to bring to so many. This year, really, make it a point, a point, rarely followed through to completion, to understand the great significance of a humble beginning, upon Earth, a Prince of Heaven, born upon Earth. But, where?

“You speak the words, and tell the story often, and pass it to your children. But do not let the significance, of this humble place of birth, go unnoticed, go unmarked. You must understand that The Creator of All Things, could have arranged, for My entrance, My birth, onto the Earth, to take place in a palace, or the home of a wealthy merchant, but that was not where it was to be. My birth was to be in humility, in simplicity, in quiet. In that way, those who were touched, by The Whisper of God, those who were stirred, by the movement of angels, would be drawn to Me, would find Me, as they were led, by The Hand of God. There were no trumpets, blasting the sound, giving the notification, that a new heir had been crowned. No, there were songs, from heavenly choirs of angels, but they were not on the steps of the palace. They were on the hillsides, with the shepherds, and the flocks.

“Do not let this opportunity pass you by. Take the time to revisit that story. And, as you ponder My birth, and the location of My birth, and My simple, humble beginnings, pray for the wisdom to flow to you, and within you, so that you see the significance, so you know The Way.

“God did not intend the Messiah to come to the people of Earth, and show them more of Earth, give them more material objects, push them farther from Me. The Messiah was intended to come to Earth, to remind all, who would listen: that the creation of Earth was of God; that the hills were of God, and would dance and sing, and the rocks and the rivers, would roll and ring, making the announcement of eternal life. The Messiah came, to the peoples of Earth, to lead them Home, to show them a life of service to others, of kindness and generosity to others, show The Way, so that those of Earth might care for others, as they cared for themselves.

“My story was not (of) one, who was born, into life in a poor way, having nothing, and then rising to fame. My story continued, throughout My lifetime upon Earth, in a humble way, a simple way. Ponder these words this week. Look around and see how you are beginning to celebrate, in memory of Me. And then, let your celebration, be one that remembers, Me, and My life, simply, humbly.”

December 13, 2020

“I AM with you. I bring you greetings. I bring you love. I bring you enthusiasm, for this new day, upon Earth. And I encourage you to go out, and see this new day, as it unfolds. I encourage you to: walk, in the rain, and walk, in the snow; walk in the sun, and let the wind blow your hair, and feel the energies of Earth. Do not close yourself up, behind walls and doors. Go out, and see the day unfold, because you are on Earth, now. You have the opportunity to experience Earth, now: to feel; to touch; to taste; to bite into an apple, and let the sensation move you. Enjoy it. It is of Earth. Eat, and drink, and enjoy Earth, for your time will soon come, when you are called Home. But for now, you have been given the honor of an Earth experience. Use it well. Use it with wisdom.

“Right now, you are on Earth. If you are hearing these words, or reading these words, you are a citizen of Heaven, residing on Earth. And, you have a dual citizenship. You are of Earth. You are of Heaven. You are both. Your biological parents gave you an inheritance, of the physical traits, which they passed to you. And you can use these physical traits, these things of Earth, to help you accomplish many things. You can use your brain to study, to research, to learn the information of Earth. You can walk long distances. You can learn how to drive a car, to take you from here to there. You can learn how to fly an airplane, to fly you from here to there. There is so much you can learn about Earth, and the world created by man, and your ability, to do so, begins within the hands of your biological parents, who have passed-on their heritage to you.

“But, at the same time, you are not left to just your physical inheritance, as you walk upon the Earth. You are not just one-dimensional, you might say. You have brought to Earth, special Gifts of The Holy Spirit of God, to use, whenever you wish to use them, as you walk upon the Earth. These Gifts are yours. These Gifts of Wisdom are yours. And they lift you, from a one-dimensional experience, into a new place, where you use The Wisdom of Heaven, The Gifts of Heaven, to augment the knowing, the information, the data, of Earth, of the world, created by man. And, when you use, both together, you then connect the ways of the world, your Earth experience, with Heaven, and you bless all you do. You bring wisdom to what you know. You mix them together, into a situation, that is aglow, with Heaven and Earth.

“Do not deny yourself this special privilege, because by using both of your citizenship rights, you will show others, how they too have dual citizenship, and can experience Earth, in this majestic way. Pause. Ponder.

“The birds of the Earth sing such beautiful songs. Listen. Watch them fly. See the glory they are, and take an everyday occurrence, such as the song of the bird, to another level. Bless it all, with The Wisdom of God. Lift it all, within The Wisdom of God, so that you might live upon Earth, knowing The Wisdom of God.”

December 6, 2020

“I AM with you. I come to you, and will always come to you, to speak to you, to touch you, but especially, when you are feeling down, or lost, or weary. As I walked upon the Earth, I reached-out to gather those, who were in need, those who were down-trodden, and I do the same, in the present. I reach-out to hold you, to touch you, to give you a message, to lift you up.

“This might surprise you, when I say that, most individuals, most human beings, upon the Earth, reject The Call, and turn their head from The Whisper, because The Call, The Whisper, is asking something of them. And often, that something, which is being asked of them, takes them out of the ways of the world, requiring that they use the ways of Heaven. This, in itself, can be challenging, if you place great importance: on how the world sees you; on what your peers will say about you; on staying in the ‘good graces’ of this person, or a group of people. But, when your intention is to follow through, with the mission you were sent to Earth to do, then something steps into place, something fits, just right, and you can barely explain it. But, at that moment, when you answer The Call, and you say ‘yes,’ to what you are being asked to do, there seems to be an army, surrounding you, offering anything you need, to do that which you are meant to do, to accomplish that, which you are destined to do.

“The promise is you will have everything you need. So, saying, ‘yes,’ in answer to The Whisper of God, is just the beginning. But you can be assured of one thing, if something is asked of you, you have already been prepared to do it. I pause, because that needs to settle, into your thoughts. There seems to be a mistake, floating around, that if God asks you to do something: you have to learn how to do it, first; you have to follow direction; you have to go here, or go there. No. If God asks you to do something, you are already prepared to do it. What is required is for you to say, ‘yes,’ then to rise-up to it, to meet, and answer The Call, and then, stand in The Light of God, and look around, and embrace that which comes to you, so that you might use it for The Glory of God. The challenge comes: when you meet an obstacle; when you face a challenge; when those around you speak harshly of what you are doing. Then, you must turn your head, on the ways of the world, and accomplish your goal, using The Ways of God.

“You have been given Gifts, and every Gift, you carry within you, that is ‘of Spirit,’ is a counter to any energy of darkness and shadow, which might assail you, as you complete your mission. You have it all, but do not give-in to those voices, who tell you: you cannot do it; it cannot be done; it will never be accomplished. Push them from you, lift your head, and move forward. When you hear The Call, when you recognize The Whisper, when you say ‘yes,’ it has begun.”

November 29, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you. Even if you do not hear My whisper, it is possible for you to feel My presence. And even if you do not feel My presence, it is possible for you to reach-out, and know I AM there. We touch in so many ways, and so many of the ways we touch are uniquely designed for us, for you and Me, to communicate, to have the opportunity to illuminate all you see, and to infuse it, with a spiritual energy, which fuels your life, upon the Earth, which brings Divine Delight to an hour, in what you might call, an ordinary day. This is not a special gift, reserved for just a few. If you will open your heart, and accept, we will be together, and you will know Me, as I know you, and you will remember.

“Waiting – as you know, waiting implies that: you have prior information; you have prior knowledge; you hold a promise, within you; and, you are waiting for the fulfillment of the promise. There are degrees of waiting. You might have to wait, in a line of people, to reach a ticket booth. But even waiting, on that line of people, implies that you have previous information, or you would not randomly just stand on a line. You know where that waiting on the line will take you. If you wait patiently, you will reach your destination.

“Waiting also implies some type of preparation, some action, based on information, and knowledge, you have received. If someone has told you that you have the ability to be an outstanding athlete, chances are you will act, on this information given to you, and begin to perfect your body, to strengthen your body, to stretch your body, to move your body. And once you have taken action, on prior information, you begin preparing yourself. You begin waiting, for your opportunity. And the same thing applies to almost anything, that you must practice, to achieve. You must practice, a musical instrument, to achieve success. And then, once you have achieved success, through practice, you have your opportunity to walk onto the stage. Actors, walk(ing) onto the stage to, assume a role, but they do not get to the stage without the period of waiting. And this, period of waiting, incorporates: prior information, or knowledge; action on that prior information, or knowledge; preparation; vigilance; patience. All of these things are incorporated in the act of waiting, waiting for the promise to be fulfilled.

“Today, take a journey back, and find that seed of encouragement, support, delight, and eager anticipation. Remember how eager you were: to practice; to build muscle; to gain strength; to recite a poem; to play a musical piece; to show a skill. Remember these things, and then, remember, it is all part of waiting.

“Perhaps, at this point in your life you have achieved the position of fulfilling the promise, the practice, the waiting, and now: you are onstage; or you are in the athletic arena, whatever it might be; or, you are standing at a podium; or, you are assisting another, using your skills, to help them achieve success. Whatever you are doing, and doing successfully, it is the product, and the result, of a promise, a practice, patience, waiting, and the promise fulfilled within you. If you are waiting, for something, continue, with patience, because the promise will be fulfilled, and you will reach your destination, because of prior information, and your willingness to act on that information, through preparation. You are not led to these exercises, and through this practice, unless there will be fulfillment of a promise. Waiting is a precious time.”

November 22, 2020

“I AM with you. Feel My Presence, with you. It is easier, to feel My Presence, when you are still, when you are quiet, when you have paused the songs, and ceased the prayers, and you sit, quietly, waiting; for, it is then, you hear The Whisper, and the stirring, within you, grows, and you acknowledge My Presence, and you know Me, and I know you; for, we are one.

“Joy, I wish for you to understand the beauty held within joy. For, joy is not a fleeting happiness, it is a permanent explosion of gratitude and thanksgiving, within you. When you are so grateful, for that which you have, you do not have time to let your mind wander, looking for things you wish to have, you desire this, you crave that. No, you are content within the gratitude for what you have. And thanksgiving is the song that comes from your lips, easily, fluidly, sincerely. Gratitude and thanksgiving, when these are yours, then joy is yours, as well, because joy is the product of gratitude and thanksgiving.

“I encourage you to make a list today, not just mentally, but with paper and pen, write that which you are thankful for, that which you are grateful for, so that you can see it. Those of you who are saying, ‘My life is so mean, and troublesome, right now, that I have nothing to be thankful for, or grateful for. I am in the midst of challenge.’ And, I say this, if you can speak, or think, or breathe, you have life. And, no matter how difficult your life might be, at this time, it is only a small piece of your eternal life. If you breathe now, you live forever. Think on this. You will make it through this period, this stretch of time, this season in your lifetime, when it might well be difficult; but, ahead of you, before you, stretches eternal life. And, it is yours. You did not have to do anything to receive it. It is yours, because you are a creation of God. And, before your creation you were not. Therefore, God has given you the gift, and it is yours. Nothing you do can take away this gift of eternal life from you. It is yours, so let that be the first thing you write down. And, even if it is the only thing on your list, it is enough. Be grateful that you will live forever. Be thankful that you will live forever. And soon, as you develop gratitude and thanksgiving, within you, for even one gift, you will soon know joy. For, how can you not be joyful, knowing you live forever?

“Most of you will acknowledge that there were hours in My lifetime, upon Earth, that were challenging, that were surely difficult, but the promise of eternal life, the reminder that there was something to complete upon Earth, before I resumed My eternal life, My forever life, (this) brought forth the courage, and strength, in Me, to say, I shall do it. For, I know what is waiting for Me, and it is true.

“So today, make that list. You might even find there are other things for which to be thankful. Gratitude might find a place in your heart, and grow stronger, and stronger, if only you will start to make your list, and go deep with your thought. Be thankful for the sunsets, and the sunrise, and the moon in the sky, and the stars. Be thankful for rain. Be thankful for a drink of water. Take it to its simplest, truest, form. Be thankful that you were born. And do not forget, in this list, that you are of God, first, and foremost, that you are citizen of The Kingdom of Heaven, you most naturally reside in The Dimension of Perfection, and all eternity is yours.”

November 15, 2020

“I AM with you. I reach-out and touch you, today, and bring you the message, I AM with you. Be not afraid, for nothing can harm you. You are an eternal being, and you shall live forever. The cloak you wear now, the human body, you are experiencing now, is temporary, and shall fall from you. It will return to dust. But the eternal you, the spirit that is you, shall live forever.

“My time upon Earth, some two thousand years ago, was a time of upheaval, turmoil, mistrust, suspicion, occupation. It was not a time of great comfort and peace. I came at a time when soldiers, walked in the street, and did as they pleased. I came at a time when people were told what to do, and where to go. I came at a time when people had to be careful what they said to others. I came at a time of intolerance. I came at a time when war could break-out, easily. I came at a time when the armies of another country subdued the peoples of My country. Yet, in the midst of all this, My message, to all who would hear Me, was: to love one another; to be kind to one another; to give, when you were asked for something; to not judge others. I came at that time, of turmoil and unrest, bringing the message of love. I speak these words to you today, because when you remember stories of My time, when you remember words I spoke, rarely do you remember that I was speaking, to love one another, when there was great hatred all around us.

“It is important for you to remember, this situation, and condition, today, because you might be tempted to say, ‘I cannot love that one. I cannot be kind to that one. How can I love that one, when they do not love me; and, how can I be kind to that one, when they are not kind to me?’ And I say, it is possible to love in the face of hate, and to be kind in the face of cruelty. As strange as this might sound, that is exactly the message I brought, to those of Earth.

“You can, love in the face of hate, when you are connected with God. I stayed connected with God; and therefore, when I was confronted with meanness, with greed, with anger, with jealousy, I did not respond in kind, I did not react in kind. My answer was the answer from God. And so, when God whispered, ‘Turn the other cheek,’ those were the words I spoke, that was the action I did. I turned the other cheek, and I told others to do the same.

“If you find yourself in a time of turmoil and unrest, right now, do not use that as an excuse. For I tell you, I lived in turmoil and unrest, but I also lived in The Love, and The Light, of God, and that far outweighed anything that the world could create, and throw upon Me, because The Whisper of God was within Me, reminding Me: to love one another; to forgive each other; to turn the other cheek; to give whatever was asked of Me to give; to feed the hungry, and clothe the naked, and give drink to the thirsty, no matter who they were, no matter what they were doing to Me. These were the whispers of God, from within. And they were mighty, and they were pure, and they were powerful.

“Do not let the situations, and issues, of the days, in which you live, keep you from doing that which God whispers, within. If you are listening, for the answer, from God: it will not approve your anger; it will not approve your hatred. God will lead you, in a quiet way. And the quiet way will be to love one another, and to be kind to one another, and to forgive one another. Do not curse one another with your hatred, and anger. Bless one another with The Love of God that is yours.”

November 8, 2020

“I AM with you. Smile, because you are truly a blessed, child of God. Even if you have reached the Earth age of, sixty, or seventy, or eighty, years, you are still a child of God, much like your Earth parent considers you their child, even when you have reached the Earth age of, thirty, or forty, or fifty. When you run home, to see them, and look into their eyes, you can tell, and it is no surprise, they are looking at you, as their child. No matter how tall you grew, no matter how many years you wear, no matter how much grey or silver might grace your hair, you are their child, and they love you. This is an Earth example. Can you imagine? No, you cannot, you cannot imagine the love that God feels for you. But you will know it, fully, one day, soon. In faith believe it.

“Today, I want to remind you about a parable, that I spoke. It is in The Scripture. It is there for you to see and read. But I can tell you, I told this story, this parable, many times over, because those listening were in need of hearing it, because those who would gather around Me were often the ones dejected, and rejected, were sick, and shunned, were filled with guilt and shame, every one, many times, for something they had done, not knowing that they were carrying, all of the weight, of these secrets within, and it was not necessary, at all, because they were already forgiven.

“I remind you of The Parable of The Prodigal Son. Many of you remember, instantly, when you hear the name of the parable, and you think, ‘I remember reading that.’ Some of you will say, ‘I remember feeling sorry for the other brother, who had everything, but seemed to feel like he was denied, in the light of all that the brother had done.’ There are many tangents of this story of The Prodigal Son. Today, I want you to pick-up the thread of the one about the journey, away from The Father, taken by The Prodigal Son.

“You might recall, in the story, that this boy, this young man, wants to go out into the world, and do all the things that he has heard about. And he says to his father, ‘Give me my inheritance, right now. I am going.’ And his inheritance is given, much to the surprise of the other brother. And the father, sends him on his way, not with anger, not even frustration, but a blessing, and a kiss. Most of you know what happened. There is no need for Me to remind you that this young man fell into every den of iniquity there was. There was not anything he left undone. And he threw his inheritance away, because of his desire to taste of Earth, and the ways of man. But soon, the inheritance was squandered. People took advantage, and he took advantage. He began to know the ways of the world, and fell so low, that he was rejected. And he looked around, and all the people, that were there, when he held the gold in his hand, were gone. He could not afford to pay for the things he had enjoyed, just days before. And he began to see what he had done, and he began to feel the misery of being alone. The only place he could find work, was on a farm, and even on the farm he was rejected. He was told to take care of the pigs, and soon found, that, that is where he would live. So, he lived, and he ate, with the pigs, and there his life would have come to an end, rolling in the mud, under the feet of these large creatures of Earth.

“But something was whispered, within him, to rise-up, and seek the forgiveness of his father, for he looked around and said, ‘No matter what he does to me, it cannot be any worse than this. Even if he punishes me severely, it cannot be worse than this hell I have put myself in.' And so, he rose-up, and he took the journey home.

“The father did not close the door, and lock it, when he saw the son coming, tattered, and worn, and dirty. He threw open the doors, and called all the workers from the field, and began to make a huge feast. Of course, the other brother was chagrined, to say the least, because he had been there all the time, working side-by-side, with the father, but there was no feast for him. Yet, up the hill came the bedraggled one, the dirty one, the one who felt he had sunk so low, he must live with pigs. Here he was, coming up the hill, in the light of the morning sun. And the father did not say one thing. There was no retaliation. There was no punishment. There was the ring of the father he placed on the son. You see, you keep yourself hidden, when you feel you have fallen so low, when all you need do is to stand-up, and go, into The Light. It is the voices, the trickery, of the shadow, and darkness, that keep you in place. It is the tear, from your eyes, that begins to wash your face. It is the hand, of the father, that slips on the ring. It is the voice, of angels, that sing.

“Do not stay, where you are, when it is low, and there are shadows, and you feel there is nowhere to go, no place to go, because that is inner trickery, that is an illusion. There is always The Light, and all you have to do is to rise-up, and walk, into The Light. Do not carry darkness and shadow, within, when it is already forgiven. Walk into The Light. Take The Hand of God. Wear The Ring of Heaven. Let your life experience begin fully, and completely, today. Rise-up, and cast from you, all darkness and shadow, without delay, for no one is keeping you down, and no one is keeping you in place, except your worry, your guilt, your shame.

“I reach-out My Hand, and say come. If you are hesitant, let us do this together. Walk, with Me, into this new day. And as we walk, we will talk. And when we finish talking, we will dance, and sing, and you will look down, and see, on your hand, The Ring of God.”

November 1, 2020

“I AM with you. Rise-up, and greet, this new day. I AM with you. I AM with you from sunrise to sunset. I AM with you all through the night. All that is necessary, for you to spend time with Me, personally, is to acknowledge My Presence with thee. I AM with you, and the only way you can begin to understand that this is possible, is to open the door of faith, and allow it to happen, one breath at a time, for it would not be any other way. You cannot find a book that will tell you how to believe this is so. This comes from within you, within that place touched by The Sacred Spirit of God. That is where you go to believe. That is where you go to understand who you are, and to believe who you are is a sacred, precious, child of God.

“In order to understand, who you are, you must be still, and go within. Take the time, to take the journey, within, for you are not who you reflect to those around you. You are more than your physical presence, far more. You hold within you the seed of Heavenly Wisdom. And, not only do you carry this seed within you, placed there by The Hand of God; but, you have, within you, The Holy Spirit of God, sent for the express purpose of: guiding you; directing you; and, showing you The Way. All of this is within. You do not carry, that seed of God, in your hand. You do not have The Holy Spirit placed on a chain, to wear around your neck, for all to see. These things are hidden, within thee, in the important place, the sanctuary, that is within you.

“When you are faced with major decisions, that is where you go. You go within to find the answer, the strength, and the courage, to make the decision, that is the best decision you can make. Sometimes, you might find the best decision by asking family, and friends, or reading books, or listening to lectures. But do you really want to count, on what others know, to make your major decisions? No. The answer is ‘no,’ you do not, because then it is the decision: of someone else; or, an interpretation, coming from a book; or, compelling words, coming from a speaker, or a lecturer. You want to make these decisions, that come from within you. In this way, it is possible to make the decision that will compel you, lift you, and anoint each situation, with the sacred answers, within you.

“The decision-making process can be a challenging process. It can shake your confidence. It can leave you in doubt, about your ability to know which decision to make, which road to take, which place to go. And if you listen, to everyone around you, you might become even more confused, as the answers pull you in this direction, or that direction. But if you will go within, and sit with God, and ask for guidance, you will be completely enlightened, as you stand, as you rise-up, in The Light of God. And this, will be your strength and courage, because you will know. You will know the truth, as well as I did, when I walked upon the Earth. You do not have to open The Holy Book, many times, before you see, or find, a passage, wherein words are written down, attributed to Me, saying, these are not My words. These are the words of Our Father. This was vital. If you are to bring blessings, if you are to pave The Way to understanding, if you are opening the door to respect and compassion, it is best to do so with the key formed by The Wisdom of Heaven. When you are holding that key, you are using The Words of God. And God will not lead you to be greedy, or to seek revenge, or retaliation. God will not tell you to be angry, or to strike another, whether it is with words, or your fist. God will say, permit My love to flow through you, onto another person, or a situation. You will be changed, because The Wisdom of Heaven will flow through you, bringing the change, and washing, from you, all the debris, that is stored within you: placed there by your life experience; by the life experience of your mother and father, as you heard them talk, and saw them act, as you grew; based on the life experience of grandparents, and aunts and uncles. All these things, that you absorbed, as a child, will be cleansed, and washed from you, with this Wisdom of Heaven, flowing into you, and through you.

“I encourage you, this week, with every decision you encounter, to turn-off the ways of the world, and go within, to that sacred chamber, within, and sit, and ask for guidance. And you will receive it. Once you receive it, ask for courage and strength to be restored in you, so that you might rise-up, with confidence, and make the decision, as it would be in Heaven, because you are in Heaven, now. There is no need to wait. Live, as if you know, you are in Heaven, now. Live, and let The Wisdom of God, flow through you, now. The world, created by man, is weary, and growing weak, and needs The Breath of The Holy Spirit of God. Bring it upon the Earth, today.”

October 25, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM here. Come with Me. Set yourself aside. Draw near. Be quiet. It is necessary, so you might hear, clearly. When you knock, when you call, the door is open, the answers are given, freely. No one is turned away, but you must prepare to hear. You must practice sitting quietly, so you might hear Me. I reach-out to you. I call to you. I will join you in The Garden of Earth, and we will walk, and we will talk, and you will know Me. Come, I have something to say to you, today.

“That, which I AM going to say, to you today, might surprise many of you. To know God, to know The Ways of God, you must make the effort to have a personal relationship with God. And you must assign this relationship the importance it deserves. For, you know, in your lifetime, you have met people, along The Way, along your life journey, and these people somehow drifted away, even the ones you thought would stay. Earth friendships require attention. If you do not pick-up a telephone and call, or pick-up a pen and write, or get in a car to travel to see them, the distance between you grows and grows, and soon you do not know where they are, what they are doing, how they are feeling, because the distance now seems as a sea. The same thing can happen between you and The Creator. It is vital, that you take the steps necessary, to maintain a relationship with God. I say this, because I know it, to be true. When I came to Earth to walk amongst you, I maintained My relationship with Heaven, with God. And I asked the questions, and I set My prayers before God, and God answered My prayers, sent Me the answers I needed.

“Many of you are wondering why you are regularly a part, a member of, a faith community. No matter what church it might, no matter what temple it might be, you are a member of that group, and you chose that group, because it was comfortable being there, and you liked the other members of that community. And you go on Sundays, you might go on Wednesdays, you might go other days during the week, maybe daily. But, when you are quiet, you know, you are missing something. Something is missing. What is it? You are placing more importance on the members of your community, what they say, what they think about you, than you are placing on the importance of connecting with God. That is your first step. That should be the first thing you do. Without this personal relationship with God, everything else is just something you do, it has become routine, it is a part of who you are. You identify with a certain group, with a certain community, with certain people. But it can, sometimes, feel as an empty exercise, if you do not have that connection with God.

“This takes practice. It takes a willingness to mark off some time, every day, and sit, and ask for guidance. It does not have to be complicated, in fact, the more complicated it is, the slower the success, sometimes. Be quiet. You cannot hear God, speaking to you, if you are repeating a litany, a petition, let us say. You cannot hear God answering your prayer, if you continue to say, what is: ‘the trouble,’ ‘the problem,’ ‘the situation,’ ‘the issue.’ The truth is, God knows. Therefore, sit, and simply ask for guidance, and it will come to you, once you have established a practice, once you have made yourself comfortable in The Living Room of God, because sitting with God gives you Living Room, room to live as you are meant to live. And the words of God, flowing to you, will give you the courage necessary to do that which God is asking you to do.

“Today, I AM suggesting, that possibly, you are finding excuses, within your community of people, not to step into the power that is yours. Do not become lost in a sea of mediocrity. Do not forget that there is a mission. Listen. Ask for guidance. Wait for the answer and embrace it. The truth will come from God. God will not offer you excuses, as to why you might be able to accomplish your mission. God will give you wisdom, support, and encouragement, to do that which you are meant to do. Seek first The Kingdom of Heaven, and you will be at peace, no matter what community you find yourself enjoying. First things first. Practice establishing a relationship with God, and everything else will fall into place. Sit in The Living Room of God, and God will tell you all you need to have the living room you need.”

October 18, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you, we are together. We meet in a quiet place, in a sacred sanctuary. And when you are still, you feel My presence with you, you know you are no longer alone. The only time you are alone, is when you are alone within the thoughts, leading you to be worried, or concerned, or anxious. And these thoughts prompt you to move here, and there, to hurry around, to scurry, when I call you to be still, and quiet, so you might see that all that worry, being created within thee, is not real. I AM real. We come from the same Place. You are of Heaven, and so it is with Me, and today, I reach-out, and touch thee, and say, ‘Come. Sit, and be still, with Me.’

“During the times, which are prevalent upon Earth, right now, within the turmoil, rising-up, in the world created by man, right now, it is important for you to remember who you are. You come from Heaven. You are a creation of God the Father. And you have been sent into the care of Mother Earth, for a while. And, while you are of Heaven, walking upon the Earth, for a while, Mother Earth will sustain you, and nurture you. The Green Kingdom, every second of every day, assists in your breathing, so you might breathe of Earth. The Green Kingdom provides food so you might eat, and taste of Earth. For a brief time, you are of Heaven, and of Earth. You are of the good of Heaven, and the good of Earth.

“It is important for you to guard that which is you. There will be many tempters, and temptations, to lead you away from the goodness of Heaven, and the goodness of Earth; but stay vigilant, and be mindful, and do not be swayed, by the promises made, because a walk into shadow will make your life difficult. It will steal your glory. It will rob you of all of the joy you feel, as you exist within the goodness of Heaven, and the goodness of Earth.

“Do not set-up camp with those who hold anger upon their hearts. And while you believe that this anger, brewing within the hearts of those around you, will not touch you, you are forgetting that anger is contagious. Anger burns, as a fire, and will consume you. Anger is as a plague. Remember that. Anything done, within the energy of anger, holds anger within its fiber. That, which is created in anger, holds the energy of anger. And those, who hold anger in their hearts, do not know joy. This is clear, direction, and guidance. I AM not hesitating, or hiding, this guidance. Do not associate with anger.

“You are of Heaven, of all the good of Heaven. And you are of the good of Earth. Father God, Mother Earth, The Creator, The Nurturer, The Sustainer, they work so you might live. Mother Earth is taking care of you, until you return Home. Look at her and see the mighty gift of life she gives unto thee. Man can cover a great portion of her, with concrete, with cement, and bricks, and mortar, and other things; yet, up through a crack, there comes the sign of life beneath the hard, crusty layer. And all around the edges, the signs of life grow-up, in grasses, and flowers, and bushes, and trees. And, if you crack, and break, this hard layer, that has been poured upon her, it only takes hours for Mother Earth to respond to the light of the sun, and show the green grass, and the delicate flowers, which soon spring-up as a meadow, filled with flowers, and bees, and butterflies. Mother Earth will never stop nurturing, or sustaining you, for she is good.

“Do not waste your time on anger, and hatred, on greed, on retaliation. Do not waste your time on shame, and guilt. Come, sit with Me, and I will tell you that you are of the good of Heaven, and the good of Earth. These things must be repeated, until you remember who you are, because, when you remember who you are, it will become easier for you to turn from the dark, from the shadow, and dance in The Light of God.”

October 11, 2020

“I AM with you. I reach-out, and in the reaching, part the veil, and touch your heart. I AM with you, and I whisper, to remind you, you have access to all that I have, to all I have been, and all I shall ever be. You have access to all of this, and Me, throughout eternity, for we are One. As you seek the answer to this mystery, you will draw nearer, and nearer, to the answer. We are One. You have heard it said, many times. You have read it, over, and over. But you have yet to absorb it, into your being, so that it is a piece, and part, of your fiber. We are One. Believe it, as it is so.

“This oneness, of which I speak, makes itself evident in the realm of the unseen, in the spiritual life. Oneness is much harder to see, in the material world. In the material world, you look all around you, and you hear people pronouncing that: they need a new dress; they would like a new car; they are seeking food, because they are hungry. But: one person might have a new dress, and it would be simple; while another might have a new dress, that is rather grand. One might drive a car that is basic. Another might drive a car that has the most surprising features on it. You go through your day, and you see, that what each person has is not the same as the other; and it does not take long to realize, that what one person has, another person might not have the ability to have. It might be denied them. There are categories. There is division. What is one person's meal might be another person's feast. It does not seem equal, at all. And, in this inequality of availability, it is difficult to see oneness. It seems scattered, limited.

“If you sit with that, for a while, and you begin to wonder about wealth, treasures, that makes oneness even more of a challenge to realize, in the material world. But, if you will step, into the spiritual realm, you will see that it does not matter who you are, or where you live, or what you are doing. Your circumstances matter not one bit, when it comes to the availability of The Treasures of Heaven. They are all yours, yours for the asking. Forgiveness, it is there. Unending amounts of forgiveness, equal access. Those who desire forgiveness, to know forgiveness, can have as much as they want. And, when they are filled, forgiveness then belongs to the seeker. If you ask, for forgiveness, and you hold this forgiveness, within you, it is yours. Then, you have forgiveness, that you too can give away. And, if you are connected spiritually, with God, you can throw open the doors, and let that forgiveness flow into, and through, you, out to others, with no limit. You can be the access door for another to receive this unending flow of forgiveness; and you can take this through each of The Gifts of The Holy Spirit. They are not being used. There are rivers of compassion. They are not being used. If you go to these rivers, that are there for you, and step into them, and let this forgiveness, and compassion, and generosity, flow all over, and through, you, then it is yours. The Wealth of Heaven is yours. Do not spend your days, struggling, and fighting, to amass a treasure that is crumbling in your hands.

“Seek The Eternal Wealth of Heaven. It is The True Treasure. It is The True Oneness. Everyone can have equal portions. Turn your head from that of little value, and immerse yourself, in The Treasures of Heaven.”

October 4, 2020

“I AM with you. And I offer My presence with you, in such a way, that those of you, who will accept The Gift of My presence with you, will feel it, sometimes in an unusual way. Your hands will become warm, your feet will tingle, the top of your head will feel as if it has been tousled a bit, by The Wind. Or perhaps, you will just know it, within. And with this knowing, you will begin to acknowledge this trans-dimensional communication, often called prayer, unites those of us here, with those of you there, because it is all One; you are here, and we are there. And when you use this information, to full advantage, you walk over the Earth divinely inspired, divinely led.

“Today, I would like to encourage each of you to try something, a bit different. It is certainly not taught, or encouraged, by the rules of modern day, the world created around you. It is acknowledged: when you walk out in nature, in the woods; when you touch a tree, hold a rock, listen to the song of a bird. The ways of the world do not fit comfortably in the ways of nature. Nature is, and so are you.

“I would like each of you, today, to open to what is yours, because what is yours is beyond earthly value. You have access to Divine Wisdom. You have access to Eternal Love. You have access to total Forgiveness, for anything you think you might have done, or said, or thought. You have this extraordinary ability, to reach beyond who you think you are, and come to know who you really are. And one of the ways, you can begin to appreciate this, is to begin your day by receiving all that is yours. Do not leave it laying around on the floor, or a chair, or on the top of a desk. Accept what is yours.

“There is a flow, that comes from The Creator of All Things. And that flow moves directly toward you, without any kind of restriction. There is not a marker over each person, saying, this person deserves that much, and that person deserves this much. No, it is just there. Access it. Access the most creative power, which is love, and let it flow into you. Soak it up. Use it. It is there. It is yours. Be the sponge. Breathe it. Feel it. And then, let it flow through you. And, as you move through the day, offer it as a Gift. Yes, give it away. Let it flow, unabated, through you. Just as it comes from The Creator to you, continue this creation, because in doing so, you are going to begin to see how it feels to be part of The One. Do not hesitate, because of fear of rejection. Go up to that person, and offer them, The Gift of Love. Now, whether they accept it, or not, is actually up to them. But The Gift, once given, is there. It cannot be denied. You have offered The Gift of Love. Continue to do it, without fear of rejection. It does not matter: who picks it up, and receives it; who takes that love, and holds it, as a precious gift. What matters is you are receiving it, acknowledging The Gift, and believing it so valuable, that you let it flow, from you, to others. You are in The Divine Flow when you do this. And, if you do it enough, you will find some who will receive The Gift. And that is a glorious moment. One that should be celebrated. That Gift continues to grow. That person, that received your Gift of Love, will go out, and do the same. And you can do it with any beautiful energy. Give The Gift of Forgiveness, if necessary. And, if it is rejected, do not stop, continue. Do not let fear, of being thought foolish, stop you from giving The Gift of Forgiveness.

“Give The Gift of Peace. For, once you move into life, doing this giving of gifts of love, and kindness, generosity, compassion, which is so needed, it does not matter to you anymore whether it is accepted. What is important is the giving. Give The Gift, so that you can truly say, just as your Creator says, ‘I have given The Gift. Whether you accept it, or not, that is up to you. But still, I offer My Gift to you.’

“I did this. When I walked upon the Earth, two thousand years ago, I did it. And it will bring you great peace to deliver The Gifts of Heaven to Earth, as you make your way, as you continue your journey, as you follow your destiny. Deliver The Gifts. Do not stop. Do not hide behind a wall of fear, of rejection, or being thought foolish. Boldly go into the day, and say this, ‘I offer The Gifts. I give you The Gift of my Love. I give you The Gift of my Compassion. I give you The Gift of Joy and Peace.’ The more you give, the more you will find you have. And your life will be rich, and full, and free from fear, of any kind, because The Gift, once given, is Divine.”

September 27, 2020

“I AM with you. In great celebration, I AM with you. As you begin to believe I AM with you, the celebration is deeper, richer, filled with sacred song and dance. For in the believing, that I AM with you, you come to an understanding of The One. You can separate pieces and parts of The One, but still, they are One. I touch you with My love, today. I touch you, and give you courage, and strength. This communication, that we enjoy, is powerful, and will enrich your life, because that is My intention. As we share The Whisper together, the quiet times together, we draw nearer, and nearer, and in that way are the example of Heaven and Earth, within The One. It is easy to see it that way, when you think of it, Heaven and Earth, united in our communication. In the words we share, in the love we give each other, we are One.

“Today, let us look at God’s Creation. When you think, or say, ‘God’s Creation,’ you look around you, and what is included in your thought of pronouncing God’s Creation, are: the magnificent forests; the wooded areas; the trees; the grasses; the bushes; the flowers; the rivers, and oceans, and streams, filled with water, that brings life; the sky above you; and the ground beneath you, and the animals that move over it; the birds of the air; and the fish of the seas. All these are included, in your thoughts, when you make the pronouncement, ‘God’s Creation.’ And the awe, that you feel, is exhibited in the way you make that statement. So often, it is pronounced in a special way, a unique way. It does not sound like you are saying, ‘grocery store,’ or ‘laundromat.’ You pronounce it, ‘God’s Creation.’ And your respect, and wonder, and awe, are held in the way you say it.

“It is time to include your self, and all others who walk upon the Earth, in that sacred setting, because you often hold yourself, and your brothers and sisters, from all the nations of the world, apart from that sacred setting. It is as if you see yourself, and others, observing God’s Creation. And, often you are, but you are, observing it as, part of it.

“When you see, a magnificent tree, in all its wonder, reaching-up from the Earth, growing in the light of the sun, you cannot see what is beneath the tree, in the soil of the Earth. Yet, you see, in the beauty of the tree, and the radiance of the tree, and the fruits of the tree, and know that, that which you cannot see, hidden from thee, beneath the tree, is good. The root system is good, the soil is good, because the tree is radiant, and growing, as it should, in the light of the sun. You do not have to see it to know it, because the part of the tree you do see is good, producing good fruits, growing. And the same can be said, for the flowers, and the bushes, and the grasses. You can, look, and see. And, while not being able to see beneath, you know when beneath is good, because of what is growing above, in the light of the sun.

“You do not have roots, coming out of your feet, attaching you to the soil of Earth, moving through the soil of Earth, feeding you up through the roots. You are free. This you carry within you. The rich soil, within you, is your spirit. When you look at another human being, and you see, the radiance, and the light, coming from them, you hear the words they say, and you see the deeds they do, and you see how they are growing, in the light of a new day, in the light of the sun, growing healthy and strong, you know that, that which is within them is good. It is rich.

“You see, nature, what you call the tree, and the flower, and all around, that you always speak of, when you are talking about God’s Creation, is the same as you. Your roots are within you. And when you are, going inward, each day, tending that garden, the spiritual garden, the sacred space, that nourishes your physical body, in a way that goes beyond food and drink, that place is where your strength and courage abide. Within you is your root system. Tend that garden within you. Make sure that what you are feeding your root system, within you, is good, is rich, is fulfilling. And then, you too, like the tree, and the flower, and the grasses, and bushes, will grow, in the light of the sun.

“There is much you cannot see, that goes into making the tree magnificent, the flower beautiful, the bushes and grasses amazing. And there is much you cannot see, that goes into making you, and your brothers and sisters, all over the Earth, magnificent, amazing, radiant. Life, the source of life, all life, is unseen. Today, go out, and look, and see, and remember to include all others, and thee, in God’s Great Creation, paying attention to that which you can see, and you will know that which you cannot see.”

September 20, 2020

“I AM with you. Let us walk together. In the morning, when The Garden of Earth is fresh, and the dew is still on the roses, as we walk, I will listen to you, and you will listen to Me. We will walk, and talk, and we will be good company, you, and Me. And we will share the beginning of this new day, quietly, as we walk, and talk, and pray.

“When you live with feelings of lack, your life is filled with shadow and darkness, because, as the lack continues to draw your attention, it becomes more, and more, the focus, of what you think, and say, and do; and you continue, in this downward spiral, raising-up lack, and attributing to it, all that is troubling you. I would like for you to look at your situation, today, no matter what your situation might be, in a different way. Set aside your thoughts, of lack, and be still. I would like to introduce you to the real you, the spirit that is you, the creation of God, that is you. And, as you meet, the real you, you will begin to see the eternal power, and the mighty presence, that is you. And all this eternal wisdom, and glory, and light, is sitting unnoticed, unclaimed, unknown, because your focus is on the material you, the temporary you. And, your thoughts, of lack, are focused on the material world, the temporary world, when you have within you the eternal you, when you have the ability to see, what is happening around you, from eternal eyes.

“There will be no fear, within you, when you connect with the eternal you. And there will be no lack, when you connect, with the eternal you. You will come to see that the wealthiest of human beings, living in the largest, and grandest, homes, with all material belongings around them, can still live in lack. What they have, everything they have accumulated, is temporary. It will not go forth into eternity with them. It cannot, because, it has no spirit. That which goes with you, into eternity, is your true wealth. You can have millions of dollars at your disposal, and how you think of this monetary, temporary, wealth, and how you talk about it, and what you do with it, can change temporary possessions to eternal possessions. If you take that money, and lock it away, and only open the safe, and look at it, each day, you are doing nothing with it. But, what if you use, that which you have, for good? Look at what you have through the eyes of eternity, and then it shall be understood that, if you have excess funds, or clothing, or cars, the excess, that above what you need, is to be shared with others. You can use all that you have for good, thus creating eternal treasure from temporary, material, possessions.

“The ball, you offer, as a gift, to a child, who has no ball, will remain in the material world. But the creation of kindness, love, sharing, generosity, compassion, and understanding, created within the giving, becomes part of eternity. In this way, Heaven and Earth, are as one, through that which is created by you, and this eternal treasure shall pass with the real you, the spirit that is you, and live, forever. It is of Heaven. It is of Earth.

“Connect with the real you. Set aside the thoughts of how you look, what you wear, what you eat, where you live, and make that journey within to meet the real you, the spirit that is you. Do not ignore the eternal you, turning to the ways of the world, which are temporary, fleeting, passing, and sometimes deteriorating and crumbling, even as you purchase them, and draw them near to you. There is within you a fountain, of eternal, life-giving, waters, and it will not stop flowing. It is there, and there is no end to it. But, if it is ignored, you cannot enjoy the riches of it, the beauty of it, the fulfilment of its presence with you.

“Today, get to know the real you, the spirit that is you, animating the temporary cloak, of the physical body, you think of as you. For when it is your time to return Home, your spirit will be set free from the body, and you will move-on, into eternity, and nothing will go with you, except all that you created of light, and love, and peace, of understanding, and charity, of compassion, of honor, and respect, for all that is good and holy. Today, it is time to meet the real you, the eternal you.”

September 13, 2020

“I AM with you, not from far away, from some distant place, which you cannot reach, I AM with you. I AM near to you. I AM ever-present with you. When you call upon Me, I will speak to you. There will be times when you love Me, and talk to Me, that I will show Myself to you. I AM with you. And I will continue to guide you, until you reach The Portal of Heaven, which is right next to you. And, in The Time of Passing, you see it, and you see My open arms, as I await you. I AM with you.

“When you stop, and think, about My being with you, all the time, ever-present, you begin to question how this is possible. How can I be so near to you, yet seem so distant, so far away? It is because you cannot see Me. I AM in the realm of the unseen, yet it is possible to see Me. This too is a mystery, a puzzle. ‘How can it be?’ You wonder. And then, the gift of faith takes over, and you just believe, because somewhere, within you, you know the truth, and that inner truth leads you to believe, to believe something you have temporarily forgotten.

“All things exist together. What you think, or say, or do, has impact, and it travels through where you are, and where you will be, and from whence you came. These things you think, and say, and do, travel through all of this. Remember, every day, that you are creating with your thoughts. And because Heaven is near to you, those of Heaven know your thoughts, they hear your words, they see your deeds. We are with you. Just because you cannot see Heaven around you does not mean that Heaven around you does not see, and hear, and know, you. Believe this, for it is true. It is worth every effort put forth, to replace shadowy, dark, thoughts, with thoughts of Heavenly Grace, because these thoughts will ennoble you, and bring you great peace. It is worth every effort to pay attention to the words you say, to the tone in which you say the words, because in pronouncing the words, you are bringing your thoughts, more fully, into the present with you. And the tone, with which you speak your words, travels-out through time and space, covering where you are, moving toward where you will be, found within the places from whence you come, because it is all with you. Heaven is near to you. Remember those words. And, even by thinking them, you are scratching the surface of something you have forgotten. Ponder it, and ask for guidance, and it will burst into life, and you will remember. It is worth every effort you put forth to replace your deeds, which hold shadow and darkness, with deeds filled with strength, and courage, compassion, and love, understanding, and kindness. In this way, you show, all who are willing to see, the gift you are creating for all eternity.

“You are forgetting these things, and in forgetting, there comes the possibility, and the opportunity, to think thoughts of shadow and darkness, speak words of shadow and darkness, perform deeds of shadow and darkness. But, in the remembering, that Heaven is with you, and all that you think, and say, and do, is communicated with God, and all who will watch, and see, and listen, dwelling in The Kingdom of Heaven, then you begin to monitor, with care, so that what you are creating there is a reflection of Heaven within you.

“I AM with you. The Kingdom of God is near to you, and with you. Rise-up, as you are a citizen of The Kingdom of God, journeying upon the Earth, for just a while. It is time to remember this.”

September 6, 2020

“I AM with you. I bring you words of encouragement, and support. I bring you words of guidance, and direction. I bring you light, so that you might see, with clarity, and avoid the pitfalls, and the rocks, and the debris. I bring you, The Way, and invite you to follow.

“So many times, people come together, to create something, or to build something, and no matter how hard they try, it cannot be done. It falls apart, disintegrates, many times, before it is even halfway complete. It is important to know, that when you are trying to accomplish something, the foundation, that your creation is to rest upon, must be secure, it must be good, it must be strong.

“Even when the efforts, to find peaceful resolution, are sincere, there can be failure. Why? It is because the foundation lacks the binding element of love. My message, to those of Earth, was built upon the foundation of love, and this is why this message stands today. The foundation, of all that I did say, was love. The building blocks, the foundation, is still held together, after all of these years, because of love. So, everything, that is put upon that foundation, comes from love.

“It is impossible for you to use The Gifts of The Holy Spirit without there being love in that communion. You cannot be understanding, of another's position, without the element of love. You cannot hold compassion, for another person's situation, without the element of love. You certainly cannot forgive, another person, or yourself, without being immersed in the element of love. Most of you are so used to hearing pieces, and parts, of My messages, that they seem simple to you, because they are familiar to you. Love one another. You hear that from the time that you understand the meaning of words. Turn the other cheek. You hear that from a young age. Be charitable, be kind, be humble. You hear, all of these directions, but there are distractions, which seem more interesting, a bit more complex, and they draw your attention away from the simplicity of love.

“When you know true love, you know respect. You cannot love, another person, if the element of respect is missing. And, when it is missing, there is a crack in the foundation. You cannot love, another person, and be abusive, to that person. It is impossible. Love would not permit it. Therefore, with the presence, of abuse, there is another crack in the foundation. Make sure the foundation, of whatever your endeavor might be, is strong. Make sure your foundation holds the element of love, because with the element of love comes all the good things. The Gifts of The Holy Spirit spring forth from love.

“When you are interested in peaceful resolution, before you take any steps forward, set your foundation, and make sure to incorporate the element of love, no matter what you are doing, because this will ensure success. If everyone comes to the table, seeking agreement, and resolution, in a peaceful way, make sure that each one, who comes, can say they are bringing an element of love. You cannot build a peaceful resolution on a foundation of hatred, or anger, or retaliation. Hatred, anger, retaliation, do not hold the elements of love. They do not flow with the element of respect. Understanding, and compassion, is missing, as well.

“If you are striving to succeed, in peaceful resolution, what is needed is the element of love, respect. You cannot force resolution. You can invite others to the peace table, but you cannot use force to establish peace. You cannot use harsh criticism, or judgment, to shame others to accept a resolution. It is so important that resolution is of peace, and love, that you have a heavenly example, ever present with you. You know what it is. God, The Creator of All Things, The One Who could demand, and command, anything, put first, free will. And this gift is given to all. It is set in place, because, when you go to God, you go of your own choice, your own free will. And, that makes the union firm, and lasting, because the foundation is love: love, coming from The Creator, to you; and, love, returned to The Creator, by you. There is no coercion, no force. It is the free will choice you make within yourself.

“When you set a course, to find peaceful resolution, let your creation rise-up from a foundation, holding the element, the binding element, of love, and you will succeed, because you cannot fail, when that, which you are doing, is built on a foundation of love.

“I AM with you. I AM with you. I reach-out to touch you, with a blessing from The Dimension of Perfection, a place you call Heaven. It is everyday practice for you to contact someone, in a different place, in a different state, or a different country, sometimes, all the way around, to the other side of the world. You do not consider doing this a miracle. You consider it the possibility, presented to you, through technology. That should make it easier for you to embrace the fact, and the truth, that it is possible to communicate between the dimensions. It has been done so, for so many generations. This communication, this Trans-dimensional Communication is often called prayer.

“Today, I would like to speak to each of you about the importance of creating The Power of Love, within you. I brought the message of love to Earth, to be delivered, to those of Earth, during turbulent times. I spoke of love, and charity, and forgiveness, during a time when My people were occupied, when those, from far away, held rule over us, that in a matter of hours your whole world could be turned upside-down, because a company of soldiers rode into town, and took what they wanted to take from you, and then rode away. I speak these words to you today, because it is easy to excuse, an unwillingness to create love, and blame it on turbulent times. But today, I want you to remember, that it was during such time, when The Message of Love was delivered, to those of Earth.

“Anger upon anger will not defeat anger. You cannot create love within anger. The only thing, that will over-power anger, is The Power of Love. This is not the ways of the world, created by man. This is The Wisdom of Heaven, delivered by The Hand of God, sending Me to Earth, to deliver a message, that held such importance, that it had to be delivered in time of turbulence, in a time when it, most assuredly, was difficult to love your enemy, when those perceived as the enemy were killing your children, shaming your wives, causing financial destruction, disrupting your life. Yet, that was the message, in those times of strife. Therefore, I say it to you today. Create The Power of Love within you. And hold onto to The Power you create, there. Let it be cherished treasure. Let it be sacred. Let it be The Way you see to peace.”

“I AM with you. I AM calling to you, from within your being, because that is where we meet. I AM spirit, therefore I reach-out to touch the spirit that is you, the authentic you, the real you, the eternal you; and that is spirit. You have donned the robes of Earth, for a while; but, no matter what your name, or how you look, or where you are, first, and foremost, you are spirit, eternal spirit. And this is often why, physical death is hard for you to fathom, because, at the core of your being, your spiritual being, you have eternal life. It is time for you to know the difference between your temporary role, as a human being, and your eternal presence, as a spiritual being.

“When you desire quiet, to read a book, or to write a paper, you might decide to move away so the noises of recreation do not disturb your concentration. When you wish to have conversation, with a dear friend, or a loved one, you might move yourselves away, from the sounds of celebration, so that you can hear one another, clearly. And, you might run, and hide, from the sounds of devastation, shaking the Earth, threatening your wellbeing; and, you continue moving yourself away, from these threatening sounds, seeking shelter, seeking a place of safety, seeking a place of comfort.

“When you sit, in a room, in a house with many rooms, it is possible for you to hear what is happening in adjoining rooms, when it is quiet. When it is quiet, you can hear pieces, or parts, or sometimes, the entire conversation, of individuals two, or three, rooms away, unless there is noise in the room where you stay. Then the sounds, taking place, in your room, distract you. The noises cover-up the voices, just rooms away.

“All around you, in the world: there are sounds, and songs, and noises, and conversations; there are threats, there is comfort. It can be quite difficult to find a place, where there is no sound, no noise, no clanging, no banging, no crashing to distract you. But when you make it your intention, to find a place of peace, and quiet, away from the noise of the world, you enter a different world, a realm wherein your feet are on the Earth, but your communication is with The Dimension of Perfection. When you take the time, to find that place of peace, you actually experience being in the world, but not of the world, because the realm you enter, in that sacred sanctuary, alone, is the realm of Heaven, you carry within you. And the conversations, taking place, within your inner chamber, are more real, lasting, than the conversations you have in the outside world; for, those conversations, will grow stale, after weeks, or months, and it is difficult to remember what was said, and the feeling the words carried. But The Heavenly Kingdom, you carry within you, is there, with you permanently, offering you memory, for all lifetime, upon Earth, or moving through eternity. They are different. The world can be distracting. Do not let it be so. The world around you can be majestic, and beautiful. Make it so, by maintaining your connection with The Dimension of Perfection, by being guided, and directed, so that you move over the Earth, with sacred intention, to harm no creation, to do good for all creation, and to make the world a better place, because your feet have passed that way, and your heart has been lifted-up in prayer, with the words you say, in the passing. You are physically in the world, but you are spiritually eternal. Make a difference, today, in your thoughts, in your deeds, and in the words you say.”

August 16, 2020

“I AM with you. Some will try to tell you that this is not possible, that it is in your imagination, that it is not true. And I say to you, I AM with you. It is not necessary for you to know, at this time, how this is possible. In faith, you know it, you feel, it moves into you, and it is truth, unseen, but true. There will come a day when you will know how it is possible, but today the ‘how’ is not important. What is important is, it is possible.

“You each have been given the gift of Heavenly Wisdom. It is within you in the form of The Spirit of God, and no one can take that Heavenly Wisdom from you. But you must choose to use this Heavenly Wisdom. You must choose to use this Golden Compass. It is there within you, waiting. Some of you might hesitate, and the hesitation comes from the energy of fear, and doubt, because you do not want to choose to use that Golden Compass, or that Heavenly Wisdom, in the event that it might lead you into a difficult situation. And it very well could, an uncomfortable situation. The Heavenly Wisdom, might whisper to you, at a very important meeting, when an oral count is taken, that in a sea of a ‘yes’ vote, you might be called to rise, and say, ‘no.’ This is possible. It is uncomfortable. But sometimes, when you are called to do something very difficult, and challenging, in a place where you feel you will be the only one standing, once you listen to The Heavenly Wisdom of The Holy Spirit, and make the choice to follow, and to use that wisdom, which has been given to you, you turn around, and others begin to stand with you, because you have spoken eternal truth. And eternal truth crashes through the lies, and distortion, of the ways of the world, and plants a seed, from which a mighty tree, shall grow, and will grow. Everyone might not join you, but those hearing Heavenly Wisdom, coming from you, without anger, or hatred, but just a resolve to follow the guidance of The Holy Spirit within you, will respect what you say.

“The Spirit of God will not lead you into anger, or hatred, but show The Way with compassion, and understanding. Words do not need to be belligerent to deliver the truth. The truth can be spoken in a whisper, which will be heard around the world.

“I encourage you to listen to what The Holy Spirit within you is guiding you to do, to say, because the instant you say, ‘I will,’ you will be filled with the courage, and the strength, to follow through. In such cases, the gift of discernment will also be with you, because as you are willing to rise, and say what you are being guided to say, you will recognize love filling the words, because Heavenly Wisdom does not ride on the shoulders of: anger, or hatred, or vengeance, or retaliation; they are simple truth from The Dimension of Perfection. And when others hear simple truth, it is recognized as just that. There is no need to embellish the truth. The truth will stand on its own. If you will stand on your own, the truth shall be with you.

“Use the guidance of The Holy Spirit within you. Do not wander the Earth, feeling you are lost, and alone, when The Golden Compass of God is within you. It will take you to places you would never choose to go, without being guided to do so. But when you arrive, you will know what to say, and you will know what to do, because the Heavenly Wisdom is within you. It is a different adventure. It is the journey of your lifetime. It is riding upon The Wind. It is speaking, and knowing, The Ways of God.”

August 9, 2020

“I AM with you. Hello. How are you? What do you want to do, today? It is a new day. What thoughts shall you create, today? The new day is with you, and I AM with you, too. Let us walk through this new day together.

“If you are reading these words, or hearing these words, you are in a portion of a day that is new. It could be beginning, or ending, for you, but still, you are in a day that is new. And each new day, that comes to you, is an opportunity for you. You have the opportunity to leave your mark on the day, to contribute to the day, the new day. And it is the same with every new day, which is given to you. And it is given to you so that you might continue the creation that God began, the creation that came from the hand of God; and you are to be a part of the creation story, not just living in it, but creating it. But let us take a look at this new day.

“As it is given, it is pure, ready to be filled with that which you create. It is a day, that you are preparing to bury a loved one; or it is a day, that you are preparing to marry a loved one. Yet, it is the same day. It is a day, that you are beginning a course of study, schooling; or it is a day, that you complete your course of study, finish your schooling. Yet, it is the same day. It is a day, when you begin a new job, filled with enthusiasm; or it is a day, when you retire from a job you have held for years. Yet, it is the same day. It is a day, pure and pristine, unless you add to it, the baggage of unforgiven situations of the past; or it is a new day, when you forgive all that is past. Yet, it is the same day.

“While it might appear to you that everyone around you is experiencing this new day, in a relatively ‘same’ way, this is often not the case. It could be a day of remembering, one who is no longer with you; or an anniversary, celebrating one who is with you. It can be a day of many things, but you cannot know what all those around you are thinking, or remembering, or celebrating, or recalling, in any way. These things, of the past, have a mark on the present day. It is what each individual carries, within, as they march through the new day, and into another new day.

“If you begin to look at the present, in this way, you will see it is more like a procession of individuals, making their way through the journey that is theirs. And, while you do share the present time, it can be different for each of you. So, set your course this week, to remember that. Do not be so quick to judge, or find fault with, those around, who often can be an annoyance to you. Remember they, too, are making their way, as best they can. The memories might slow them down. The happy celebration might quicken their step. All of the thoughts they carry definitely have a profound impact on the day they see as new.

“No matter what you carry, what you celebrate, what you remember, today is your opportunity to create, anew. It might be a good idea to begin by creating forgiveness, for all that you carry from the past, so that you can free yourself, at last, and prepare to walk into a new day, and experience it, in a new way, free, forgiving all things, being compassionate to those moving around you, creating a sphere of love, an environment of light, a realm of peace.

August 2, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you, and you can hear Me, and feel Me, because we are one. We are one. We are one in spirit; therefore, there is the possibility of communication between us. But communication is impossible, between two parties, if one party does not take part. This requires belief. This requires you set aside all the doubt, and open the door, as I knock, and say, I AM with you, today.

“It is important for you to place great value on who you are. It is important for you to feel that you are sacred, that you are ‘of God,’ that you have great value and worth. It is important for you to get to know who you are, the spirit that is you, the spirit that animates the body of dust you wear, temporarily. Once you honor yourself it is possible to show respect and honor for others. It usually follows that, when you respect yourself, you respect others. But if you wish to have an extraordinary spiritual experience upon Earth, get to know that spirit that is you, that sacred spirit that is you, and then, you will recognize the sacred spirit in others. But until you recognize it in yourself, it is almost impossible to recognize it another. You remain on the physical level, never going higher. Once you connect with your spiritual presence, the spirit that is you, and you begin to communicate with yourself, on this higher level, relationships change, totally, because there is respect for the sacredness of who you are, and who all those around you are. Once this recognition is in place, that which you say to others changes, as well.

“Do not say anything to another person that you would not welcome, and embrace, when it is said to you. This comes easy for those who have recognized their own sacred state. And in honoring, and respecting, another, you would never choose to throw words, that are mean of spirit, or course. You would hold your words to be a blessing upon that eternal spirit that you recognize in the individual standing before you. And once this journey, into a higher living state, begins to take hold within you, you no longer connect only physically, but the time will come when you connect spiritually, first, with every individual you encounter. It will become easy practice, for the spirit that is you, to greet the spirit standing before you, with honor and respect.

“Know who you are. Treat others the way you would wish to be treated. And to do these things, it is important to make the connection with who you are, on the spiritual, eternal level. The higher living experience will come when you no longer feel the physical identity is all there is. Do not be limited with the thought that you are, ‘only human.’ You are spirit. Begin to live spiritually, first; and greet and treat others around you spiritually, first.”

July 26, 2020

“I AM with you. I bring you words of encouragement. I reach-out to touch you, so that you might feel My presence with you. And each time you pause, and still yourself, you draw closer, and closer, to feeling My presence, because nothing else is moving around you. Be still, so that you might know Me better. Put down your books. Turn off the television. Turn off any device that might ring, and disturb you, and hear Me.

“There is so much the individual can do to make the world a better place. But somehow, there has come into thought that it is necessary to create organizations that can reach many. And there are organizations, which can reach many, who are in need. But today, I want to address what you, an individual, seeking to help, might do; and know, while you are doing it, that: you are the hands of God, the feet of God; the words you speak are the words of God. These things will be a gift to God, from you, so be thoughtful in what you choose to do.

“It is important to do something, on a personal level, because, even though the organizations, that reach many, are doing good works, there is the temptation there to believe that they will resolve all the issues, and take care of all the problems. I would like you to consider the issues, and the problems, closer to your front door, possibly even behind your front door, within your family. Look around, and you will see the face of someone who needs, and longs for, kindness, and compassion. If it is within your own family, let it begin with a smile, a tender word, and a kind touch. If it is on your street, let it be a wave of the hand, and an open smile, and possibly an invitation to come, and sit on your front porch for a while, and talk. Look around at what is close to you, and you will find so much to do.

“If you see a need, take care of that need, quietly. If someone is in need of food, take them food, quietly. It is not necessary to call them, and ask, if there is a need for food. If you feel there is a need for food, take care of that need. And the same goes with clothing. Be observant to what is said around you, what is happening around you. It does not require that you knock on the door, and announce your presence, with arms filled with gifts. Quietly, make the delivery, and move on.

“There are individuals, locked in isolation, behind bars. Go visit them. You do not have to say who you are. Go visit. Find out what you are allowed to take, into these jails, and take it, take books; because, every time you stretch yourself to do a deed of kindness, you are the hands of God, and you are delivering the gift of hope to many who possibly have none. If there is an acquaintance, or a neighbor, who has possibly sprained their ankle, or broken their leg, do something, quietly, without asking, if there is a need. Arrange for the grass to be cut, or water the flowers in the front yard, or come just to sit for a visit, and bring something tasty, and sweet.

“There are things that you can do every day that will make a difference. Even if you are only able to do it once a year, think. If you continue this for a lifetime, it is possible for you to touch maybe thirty, forty individuals. But, once you do a deed of kindness, once you reach-out and fill this lack with a plentiful gift, the individual you touch with kindness is more inclined to do the same. So, from your one gift of kindness, many could be touched, as your gift turns to two, and three, and four. Do not believe that what you do on a personal level does not count, does not make the mark. It does.

“Today, set a course to do something, in a personal way, for another human being, and you will feel, within you, your spiritual body, flexing its muscles, and growing stronger. You will find courage growing, and you will find the strength to do more, and you will find the means to do more.

“Let us begin, anew, to take God’s love to the personal level of what you can do for another, without seeking compensation, or reward. Today, begin to think about: how you can clothe the naked, and give food to the hungry, and drink to the thirsty, comfort the homeless and the sick; how you can visit those who are isolated; how you can do anything you see that needs doing, and do it for the glory of God. And the glory of God will shine about you, and touch all around you, and the light of Heaven will be seen through that which you do.”

July 19, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you, and you are with Me. My presence, with you, is a reflection of eternity, all around you. Eternity is moving around you. It all flows together. You do not have a sealed box for now, and for later, and for that which was. No, these things are not in a box, sealed, and tied-up. They all flow together, as one. It is possible for you to breathe the air of yesterday, and breathe the air of tomorrow, while you breathe the air of today. It does not matter if you understand these statements, totally. What matters is, are you willing to accept these statements, and move along your path, knowing each revelation will come to you, as it is time to come to you? With every step you take today, you are preparing to step into tomorrow, when it is time, and when you are ready, when today passes into tomorrow.

“I would like to address, for a moment or two, a vital piece of communication, which is missing, often, and that is listening. In the world created by man, you have come to a place where every individual, each person, and most often children, as well, will feel it is important to say what they are thinking, to make a pronouncement. This is what I think. This is who I am. Listen. But what has happened, in this attempt for the individual to be understood, is that no one has been shown the importance of listening. So, you have thousands of voices, raised in explanation of who they are, why they do what they do, and say what they say, and go where they go. But no one is listening. This is not communication. This is proclamation. Today, if you want to see the world from a different perspective, hold your tongue, and listen. Now, do not listen with the purpose of catching someone in a mistake, of correcting someone's error, of trying to tell them a better way to do it. Listen with the purpose, and the intention, of knowing what the other person is attempting to relate to you. And listen, with a purpose and intention to take what they say, and understand, their ways, better.

“The more you listen, the broader, and the wider, your perspective becomes, and you are no longer just one dimensional, holding your stance, in what you believe; but, you begin to understand how others feel. You begin to know what they believe. And you know these things, at a personal level, because you are willing to listen.

“Your pronouncements, of that which you believe, and you think is correct and right, can often be altered, be made fuller, and richer, and deeper, by opening your arms to embrace what another is endeavoring to explain to you, to say to you. You become kinder in your ways.

“When you listen, it is possible for you to know the hearts, and the thoughts, of many. And there is no limitation, no boundary, to how many you can hear, and know, and understand. This is the road to wisdom, which is often neglected, because so many feel it is important to make their statement, to make their stand. But who will listen? If no one is listening you might as well not take a stand, for no one hears in an ocean filled with petition. Listen. Pay attention. And, as you do this, you will find that those who wish to speak to you, to talk to you, to share with you, are showing you their heart. And their numbers grow, because they cannot find many that are even interested in what they are saying. And, over this sea, of voices raised, it is necessary to get louder and louder, because you feel, the louder you speak, and call-out, the more likely it is that you will be the one heard. And this is misinformation. It just makes everyone else get louder, and louder, as well.

“When another person comes to you, and they begin speaking to you, and they begin sharing with you, that which is within them, take the time to listen. This is a blessing, and a gift. As you listen, and listen well, you find that many wish to speak with you, and many wish to tell the stories that they hold within, because when they come to you, they are given center-stage. They are the important statement, being made, and you are not correcting it, or topping it, or rejecting it, outright. In this way, you permit each person, who comes to you, to be true to who they are. So often, people walk around without saying what is on their heart, because they know they will be corrected, rejected, or become the source of mockery.

“Freedom is given to another when you listen. They are free to be who they are in your company, and then you begin to know that individual at a heart level, at a soul level, going deeper than the façade. And this is freedom. Listen to what is being said to you, and set aside the need to say what is important to you, at that time, because the more you listen, when the time comes for you to rise, and take a stand, the stand you will take will be of wisdom. You will have earned the respect of those whom you heard, and you know. And by hearing, and knowing, you have found wisdom. You do not have a one-dimensional position. You find that you can embrace, those who come to you, if you will just listen. And, as you listen, the loud voices will grow quiet. And there will be a pause, all because one person is willing to listen.

“I encourage you to go into this day, using these words as an example, so that when one person comes to you, and begins speaking, listen. Listen to their heart, and you will know. Listen, and therein you will find wisdom grows within you. This week, set the course to peace, understanding, and compassion, by listening.”

July 12, 2020

“I AM with you. Moving through the corridors of time, I AM with you. Reaching-out so you might feel My presence, drawing nearer, I AM with you. I whisper, speak your name, and you hear, and recognize, My voice. You know My presence, and I know yours. You know My name, and I know yours. You recognize Me. When I speak, you hear, and listen, and know. I will never lead you astray, but guide you to where you are to go, so that there you might meet your destiny and move along the path.

“When I was a very young boy, upon the Earth, I knew it was important to stay connected with God, to stay in touch with The Creator of All Things, so that I might walk The Way, rather than to be led astray by distractions. And even thousands of years ago, I can assure you, there were many distractions. I was open to the ways of God, listening to the ways of God. And one day, I found Myself in the temple, surrounded by men of great learning, men who had studied, sometimes argued, about rules, and laws, and commandments, and the things of God. But I was very young, and had not read the books, or the rules, or the laws, as completely as they had, yet I knew them. I knew them within Me, in every fiber of My being. I stayed open. I kept the connection open between Me and Heaven. While My feet were firmly planted on the ground of Earth, I was connected with Heaven. And so, when I spoke, that one particular day, the things that God was telling Me to say, the elders marveled, that one so young could know so deeply, and completely, and fully. They did not seem to recognize at all that they were the words of God, coming through the lips of a child.

“This happens all the time. Individuals get caught-up with what they know: about the latest things that have been written; about memorizing a litany of rules, and regulations, and man-made-laws. And as these things crumble, when the truth fails within them, another set is put into place, and once again the litany begins. And those, who know all the right words, begin to feel rather arrogant and pompous, because they know the way, they know the right things to say. But without the connection with Home, these things are not blessed with The Wisdom of God; therefore, in many ways, they are empty words, meaning very little.

“The Wisdom of God needs to be heard, every day. If it is not heard every day, it is possible for you to spiral into darkness and shadow. Even though you are repeating the words of commandments, and laws, and rules, and regulations, your heart is not filled with The Wisdom of God. Therefore, when you bump into something that has not been written down, has no directions attached to it, you fumble. You cannot think how to move through it, because the world, created by man, has not come up with a guideline for the issues at hand. And I tell you this; no, I promise you this, if you stay connected with God, if you keep your channel open, you will know the ways of Heaven, as you walk upon the Earth. And the ways of Heaven will be The Wisdom of God. And you will not need a guidebook to tell you how to make your way through any situation, any relationship, or any issue at hand, because the words of God will be pure, and simple, of Light, and Glory.

“I know of which I speak because this is how I walked upon the Earth. I did not close My thoughts and fill them with the things of the world. I talked to God all day long. I was open, and the energy moved into Me, and the Power was Mine to use upon the Earth. And I tell you this, from the time of your birth, you have the same opportunity. This is why I could say to you that you could do everything I was doing, because that which I was doing was of God, down to My words, most often I would say, these are not My words, they are The Words of Our Father. You can find these words written. I did not hide them. I did not attempt to exhibit powers that were only Mine. I made it clear, these miracles were Divine, and from God, and the miracles were performed so that all seeing them might know The Glory of God, in The Works, and The Powers, of God.

“It is all there for you, My brothers, and sisters. You too can be filled with The Glory of God; stay open! You too can hear The Words of God, every day; stay open! You too can walk upon the Earth, filled with The Wisdom of God; stay open! Open your heart; feed your spirit; tend your soul; stay open to the ways of God!”

July 5, 2020

“I AM with you. I cross all barriers of time, and come to you to enfold you in My love for you, to whisper to you that you are loved, that you are precious, that you are a treasure to behold, and I behold you as such. I applaud your courage and strength, as you walk your mission, as you take your journey over the Earth. But as you continue your journey, always remember, you are never alone. I AM with you.

“Sometimes, an energy moves over the Earth, and you never quite know where it will settle, where it will give birth to ideas or other creations. This energy just flows. Sometimes, the energy is chaotic and confusing, tumultuous. These are the times I wish to address this morning, as I come to you, urging you, encouraging you to not get caught-up in chaos and confusion. Do not be distracted, so that you use your energy turning in circles, running in circles, accomplishing nothing, or very little.

“Answers are found in quiet. When there are important issues at stake, you very rarely will find the answer, that is just right for the situation, in heated debates, because heated debates tend to point the finger, or direct the blame, loud voices insisting that the shame might fall on this one or that one, that one group or another has caused all the problems, which ignited the fire, which is burning in the chaos and confusion. It never seems to come out, as intended, when answers are sought in debate. And the same thing applies to commands and demands, to rules and regulations, because you cannot regulate, or make a law, demanding that another person have love in their heart, before speaking. This is what is needed when there is chaos and confusion. In chaos, and confusion, you find a healthy dose of ego, and a lot of judgment. Very few are capable of just seeing, watching, knowing what is happening, observing it, but not judging it.

“The Holy Spirit of God is with you. In times of turbulence and turmoil, The Spirit of God calls to you, beckoning you to get away, to move, out of the confusion, into a place of solitude and quiet. Find your sanctuary, a place where you can be still and listen. Be still is important. Even in a litany of prayers and petition, it is difficult to hear the answer coming through. Remember, God knows what is on your heart. It is not necessary to repeat it, just listen, and receive the answer as given. Do not permit yourself to be distracted to the point that you grow in anger, as the chaos and confusion grows in power and strength. Do not give-in to hatred. That which is torn asunder, in a minute of anger, could be gone forever. Be slow, be still, be mindful.

“Look around and watch the faces. Listen to the words and follow only the words that are of peace and love. Do not join-in to the mobs, and the angry voices, calling-out, pointing blame, building the fire, giving more life to the flame with every breath coming out. Let the breath that comes out of you be The Breath of The Holy Spirit of God.

“Seek the place. Listen. Be still, and you will be the peace that is necessary in a world of chaos and confusion. Hold the light, so in the darkness others might know, might see. Be the peace in the chaos, so others might know, and find peace. Be still and listen, for God is speaking.”

“I AM with you. And, when you close your eyes, it is easier to feel My presence with you, because with the act of closing your eyes, you close the door to the material world, and there we are, together as one. Close your eyes, and you will feel Me. Close your eyes, and you will know Me better. Close your eyes, and you will see Me, as I AM with you.

“Today, let us think about the gifts. And today, I AM not going to focus on just the gifts of Heaven, The Gifts of The Holy Spirit of God. Let us address the gifts of Earth, as well. And let us address the gifts of the material world, also.

“If it is possible for you to do, within your mind, create three quadrants, like three people, standing shoulder to shoulder. Separate them a bit, and now you have three areas, three distinct areas. Now, take the people out of the picture, totally, and hold your vision on those three empty quadrants. Now, in the first quadrant, yes, way over there to the left, fill it with all the material things you can imagine, at this time: cars, boats, coats, clothes, trinkets, gadgets, houses. Fill it up. Now, in the middle quadrant, envision whatever pieces and parts of nature you prefer. Let them come to life in that middle quadrant: trees, and rivers, and meadows, or hills, or deserts, and seas, and oceans, whatever you will. Fill that middle quadrant with nature, the gifts of Earth. Now, that leaves the third quadrant for the gifts of Heaven. You can see the cars. You can see the trees. But can you see the energy of love? Right now, at this moment, I would like for you to fill that third quadrant with love, flood it with light, pack it with compassion, and understanding, forgiveness. Fill it with all The Gifts of The Holy Spirit that come into your head; but, put those gifts to action. If you are thinking of love, see acts of love. If you are thinking of peace, see peace created between two or more people. If you are thinking of forgiveness, let the act be simple, outstretched hands. So, you have three quadrants of value, three quadrants that you believe are worth something.

“The only things, in each of these quadrants, all of these quadrants, that can be equally experienced, by every human being upon Earth, come from the middle quadrant, and the heavenly quadrant, let us call it, The Gifts of Heaven, the unseen. Every person, upon the Earth, cannot equally have the same car. Every person, upon Earth, cannot share in what is created in the material world. Isn't that interesting (that) it is designed that way? I believe, on Earth, it might be referred to as 'those who have, and those who have not.' And, your status, in the world created by man, in the material world, comes from how much you have, how much you have cost you to purchase, how shiny the baubles. But this is not equal in any way, because it was never designed to be so.

“God created the Earth, and Mother Earth gives forth trees, and grasses, and flowers, and seeds which can be replanted, and replanted to sustain those of Earth. These gifts, these natural gifts upon Earth are equal to everyone. The rich and the poor can stand under the tree. The rich and the poor can wade into the sea. The rich and the poor can breathe-in the aroma of a flower. It is for all because it comes from God, who loves all, in equal measure.

“And the heavenly quadrant, look at it and see. Everyone of these gifts, love, compassion, understanding, all of these gifts that create peace, and kindness (they) are not determined by how much money you have. The rich and the poor can know love equally, forgiveness equally, kindness equally. These are the things of true value, these are the things of eternal value, because your first quadrant is going to crumble. It does not take imagination, or much of it, to envision the clothing, you stacked in the first quadrant, see it falling apart, moth-ridden; see the cars rusting; the houses falling into disrepair; see those who have not take the shiny baubles from those who have; see the frustration, and chaos, and confusion, created in the world, where it is not possible for everyone to experience the car, the house, the dress, the toys.

“So, I ask you, why do you struggle so to store-up these things, which have no eternal value, and seem to divide rather than unify? Look at your quadrants during this day, because those things of value, those places where all can live in the love, and light, of God, in equal measure, in those places, you find peace, and happiness, and joy. There is nothing wrong with the car. But if you are filled with love, and peace, and joy, generosity, and kindness, then these things that you are creating within, these things of eternal value, will somehow enhance the car. But the car will never enhance forgiveness, or compassion, or understanding. Make straight your perspective on that which is of value.”

June 21, 2020

“I AM with you. You might not completely understand how this is so, but there is something you do understand. When you are feeling defeated, and heavy, and low, it is difficult to feel anything else but the experience of that moment. When you are feeling filled with life, and joy, and delight, it is difficult to feel anything other than what you are experiencing at that moment. When you are happy, and filled with song, you rarely think about, and ponder upon, sadness. And, when you are filled with sadness it can be a challenge to remember the times of laughter and song. But there is something you can do, through all of your experience upon the Earth, and that is to stay open, listen, so that you can hear Me, feel Me, and know Me, on a spiritual level, because I will sit quietly with thee, when it is necessary, and I will dance with thee, when it is the experience of the moment. I AM with you through it all, and I love you.

“Today, many of you are celebrating a day set aside to honor fathers, and this is good. And if you have lived to adulthood, maturing with each year of your life upon Earth, you will acknowledge that, through your life, you have experienced the guiding hand of father, father figure, even mentors, who step-in and take the place of a father for that time in your life when you need the guidance and experience they offer: fathers, champions, providers, caregivers.

“My earthly father was named Joseph. He taught Me a trade, talked to Me about making My way in the material world, taught Me a lot of things. And I love him. But it is important to remember that those of you upon Earth have two fathers, at least. But let us address, for a while, your biological father, and your Spiritual Father. While I was upon Earth, I can tell you now that, I was closer to My... or, to Our Heavenly Father than to My earthly father, because I knew Our Heavenly Father was with Me all the time. My thoughts would go directly to Him, and He would fill Me with grace, and all that I needed to go out and do the work I was destined to do. As much as you are loved by your earthly father, and as much as you might love your earthly father, your Heavenly Father knows you better, understands you better, and yes, I will say it, loves you more. It is a love you do not comprehend, while you are upon the Earth, but is with the love of creation. All that you are eternally is within you. Your Eternal Father has given you eternal life. Your earthly father, your biological father, has given you the temporary lifetime upon Earth, but it is fleeting, and over very quickly, and then you return Home.

“While you are upon the Earth, it is important for you to listen, and learn from your father, from father figures, from mentors. Listen to the experience they are willing to share with you, because it will serve you well, in the material world. Appreciate, and be grateful for, whatever guidance they give to you, because they are sharing their knowledge of years spent in the material world. But if you listen carefully, they might also say to you, things about your Eternal Parent. God is your Eternal Father. Listen for guidance and direction. Pay attention to what your Spiritual Father is telling you, guiding you to do, encouraging you to do.

“Today, upon the Earth, in certain places upon the Earth, is a day of celebrating fathers, being thankful, being grateful, for what they do for you. But it would be appropriate also today to celebrate your Eternal Father, The One who has given you eternal life, and all the gifts you need spiritually to make your way upon the Earth. Therefore, let there be celebration of fathers, father figures, mentors, and Our Father in Heaven. It is appropriate to say, Happy Father's Day.”

June 14, 2020

“I AM with you. Feel My Presence with you, for it is true. All that you have heard, and all that you have read, about oneness is true. It is true that The Kingdom of God is within you. It is true that I AM within you. And while it might be difficult to comprehend, as you are in the material world, I assure you, it is true. When you set yourself aside, in quiet and alone, there come to you flashes of memory, and glimpses of The Kingdom of God within you. And at these times, you reach-out and grasp the thought that has come to you, to have it fade, and move from you, evading total comprehension. But I assure you, it is true.

“Today, I come to you to ask you to help Me, in a way, by being an example of what I would like to say, by being an active participant in the story I wish to relate, today. And it has to do with eternity, eternal life.

“For those of you who are listening to these words, I ask you to close your eyes. And as you get accustomed to what plays-out within you, imagine that you are the only one upon Earth. Imagine there is no clock, no deadline, no work schedule, not one thing around you to distract you from experiencing the eternal present with you. And as you do this, you begin to realize that it is all the eternal present. It is all with you. Stretch your imagination to the place of seeing, with your eyes closed, it is all the eternal present. And now you look around and realize you have a mission. There is something God asked you to do before you left The Dimension of Perfection, you refer to as Heaven, and now you are upon the Earth to do it. It does not matter what your mission is, but it is yours to do, and there are no clocks or timetables to which you must adhere. You are there, in the eternal present, with a mission.

“Let us say your mission is to plant a garden, The Garden of God. And as you accept this mission: you find that your hand is filled with seeds; you find that every tool you need, to create a beautiful garden, comes to you. As you think it, it comes to you. And you proceed, at your own speed, in your own time, doing what you would like with The Garden of God, dedicating it as The Garden of God. And so, you continue. That is how it is meant to be, with no distractions stopping or hindering thee. Think about what you could do, if you embraced that which God has given to you, and used it as your mission for The Glory of God, with no time limits, no restraints, no conflict, no worry.

“Now, while your eyes are closed, and you are in this space, now imagine you are not the only one upon the Earth, but you are surrounded by a few people, who are only there to support you, you see them. They are cheering you on. They are saying wonderful things. They are encouraging you to move forward and see what your garden brings. While your eyes are closed, and you are in the garden, now imagine the only others around you are your detractors. They are pointing. They are telling you this, and that, and the other, and confusion sets-in, and confidence is gone. And you sit, staring at a garden that seems to have no purpose, but to be trampled underfoot, by the dissenters. Now, bring back, within your vision, the supporters. Now, you have your supporters and your detractors, and it becomes a chaos that will not stop. In fact, it is hard to figure-out who is the supporter, and who is the detractor, sometimes. You have been distracted from the mission of creating a garden.

“It is important for you to set yourself aside often, and return to that place, where it is you, being provided for by God, in a timeless situation, where you can make your contribution to the eternal present, without conflict. For, if you remember, even in your imagination, when your eyes were closed, and you were alone, there was a sense, and a feeling, of confidence, trust, faith as you made your way. Do not let the loud voices distract you any longer. Let your focus be on what God has asked you to do. Let your focus be on what you have asked God permission to do, because this is your Earth adventure. It is yours, just as Mine was Mine, and you can be easily distracted, if you do not hold firm, and stay focused. What you need will come to you. If God has asked you to do, no matter what has been asked of you, that which you need will come to you, because it is God working from within you. Have this faith, have this trust, and this faith and trust will provide confidence and courage. And your garden will grow: and it will feed many; it will delight many. And you will walk upon the Earth as a confident woman or man of God, listening only to The Whisper within, until that Whisper leads you Home.

June 7, 2020

“I AM with you. It is beautiful that I AM with you. I shared, with those around Me, I AM with you. I come to you, especially when you are in need. I AM not knocking on the door of your residence. I AM whispering from within, so that you might know of My Presence with you.

“Today, spend some time, seeking wisdom and understanding of eternal life, because if you are living now, you have eternal life. And this piece of your lifetime happens to be, being spent as a human being, walking upon the Earth, an important ambassador from Heaven, upon the Earth, to make a difference, to begin restoring Earth to The Garden it is intended to be.

“You know, when you have a good friend, and I AM not speaking of acquaintance, I AM speaking friendship, when you have a good friend it is a way for you to live life more fully, to share your inner thoughts, to share how you feel about something, and know that those inner thoughts, those shared feelings, will be held in friendship. And so, such a relationship is to be treasured and cherished. But sometimes, what happens is: you receive a promotion at work, and you are assigned to another city; or, your friend receives a promotion, and is assigned to another city. And you say, ‘good-bye,’ as one of you leaves and the other remains. Now, this closely knit friendship can be frayed and unraveled, if you do not stay connected, if you do not write, if you do not call, if you do not visit. That is simply put, but each of you can understand My words. If you do not maintain a relationship, it often fades away, becoming a memory, and you will realize you must put an effort into keeping that connection.

“I AM saying these things to you because I would like for you to use this example, with your relationship with God. I AM free to share with you that as I walked upon the Earth, I took Myself aside, so many times, during the day, during every day: go in a room and close a door; or, climb a hillside and stand in The Wind. But wherever I went it was to reconnect again, so I could feel The Power of God within Me, so the confidence would remain within Me, so wisdom would flow through Me. And this was important.

“Use My example. Do not become so disconnected from your Creator that it is difficult to pick-up the phone and call Home, that ultimately you find it not necessary to write a letter Home, because the longer you stay disconnected, apart, the more difficult it is to return to that space of love in your heart. Most of you hearing these words, or reading these words, right now, can relate to what I was saying, because you have either had a friend, or you have been the friend, who had to move. And there might be a relationship in your life that remained strong and was the source of courage and confidence for you, during difficult times. You also might have lost a close friendship, because of the disconnect. And there are times when you remember that close friendship and wish it had not been so frayed. The only thing breaking it was the disconnection. Pick-up the phone, call the friend. Pick-up a pen and write a friend. Use your device to contact the friend.

“Put God back into the relationship again. Call Home. Step aside, for a while, and whisper the name of God. Be filled with The Power of God, so you can walk out into the world with courage and confidence, and lead the rest of your life upon the Earth with boldness and an eagerness for everything that comes to you, because you have everything within you to respond to earthly events in a heavenly way. Be at peace. Be still. Reconnect. Call Home.”

Pentecost

“I AM with you. And you believe I AM with. By faith we draw closer and closer together because you believe. Our conversations are from within. No one can hear that which we say to one another. But we know our intentions are upon our hearts, and I AM with you. We converse with thought. Let us continue our communion all through this day. It is time, you are ready. Let us walk and greet the new day.

“Many of you today are celebrating an event that happened thousands of years ago. You are celebrating what has come to be call Pentecost. Today, I wish to address the events around Pentecost, and how knowing of them can help you to grow in a way of life that is divine and sacred. Many of these things you remember, you recall reading, they have been taught to you, and this is true. Those I gathered near to Me grew to love Me, understand Me, and to believe in Me, as we walked together. We were so close we knew, sometimes, what the other was thinking. It was clear when they understood what I said from the look on their faces; or, from another look on their face that they did not understand what I was saying. Often, they did not understand, but as we walked, and talked, they let My words soak into them, so that believing in Me instilled in them believing the words I was saying. Beyond what they could comprehend, they believed. They believed when I said, I AM here, I AM with you, I have been sent from Our Father, I AM The Messiah. And so, we walked, and talked, and they believed in Me, and they left all they had to support Me. Now, can you imagine the joy they felt when a crowd of people called out My name, and sang songs, and laid palm fronds before My donkey, so that I could ride into a city hailed as The Messiah? It was as if it were a dream come true, something that they wished and hoped for, but never thought would happen. And there, before their eyes, it was happening. And then, within hours, I was hanging upon a cross.

“This would shake any to see such brutality and agony play-out before your eyes, add to it that one who had walked with them, and with Me, was the one person who they felt had handed Me over to be murdered. Yet, after the horrific event occurred, they witnessed My rising-up. Another promise fulfilled for them to see and know Me, not in a temporary basis, in a body, but to know Me eternally. They could see I was risen. They needed Me to stay with them for a while, so I did. I finished lessons, restored their faith, filled them with promise, and as I had said, the time came, and I returned Home. But not before the promise was made, the promise to send another, through Our Father, to be with them forever, The Counselor from Heaven, The Holy Spirit of God, dwelling within each of them, guiding them; in fact, guiding all who would listen. They knew this. They knew the promise, but still, when I was gone, doubt slipped in and opened the door for fear to follow.

“They hid, cowering in a room together, afraid to go out, afraid to move, afraid. And as they hid there, the doubt grew. The dust of doubt covered them, slipping into cracks and crevices of their faith, dimming the light, denying them glory, and the shadows, created by an accumulation of this dust of doubt, made it possible for fear to slip into place. They did not even want to go out. This was what was happening when the promise was fulfilled, and The presence of The Holy Spirit was announced by a mighty wind, a wind so strong and powerful, and earth-moving, that the dust of doubt was scattered by The Wind; and fear was crushed, strangled, no longer the power it once had been, shielded by the dust of doubt.

“It was instantaneous, the majestic sound of a roaring wind brought them to their knees, and then, as they were cleared of doubt and fear, they rose-up and could see above each other the tongues of fire. The Holy Spirit was within them. They not only knew what their ministry was, what their calling was to do, they had the faith, and the courage, and the confidence, to go out and do what they had once been afraid to do.

“Today I tell you, this same Wind is within you. The Holy Spirit of God is within you. Acknowledge The Presence and: feel this dust of doubt, that might have settled on you, scatter; feel fear be denied, chased from you on The Breath of The Holy Spirit of God. And know The Fire is within you, and it will illuminate all things. To use this gift God has sent to you, you must be still and quiet, and ask for guidance, and rise-up and do that which you are being led to do, because today, in the world created by man, there are many things that are set before you. Something is set before each of you, and you know it is yours to do, yet it might be something you do not want to do, something you are afraid to do, something you might doubt you can do. When these feelings grip you, you can be assured they can be overcome, if you will rise-up, put your faith in The Holy Spirit of God, and move forward. Just as the disciples rose-up, and one by one left the room, and walked-out amongst the people of the city, you too will find the courage and the strength to rise-up, and go do what is yours to do.

“Today, rid yourself of the dust of doubt, shake the mantle of fear from you, and stand-up. Let The Glory of God, and The Grace of God, shine from you, because The Holy Spirit of God dwells within you.”

May 24, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you in the darkest of nights, and in the brightest of days, in the coldest of winter, or in the warmest of summer. I AM with you through tears and laughter. I AM with you. I know your journey, for it was Mine, and I want to encourage you to make the most of your time upon Earth, because it is a sacred journey.

“Most of you are accustomed to reading books, listening to stories, watching movies, all the time delighting in the adventures of another, or others. It seems a part of being on Earth that it is easy to assume that another knows how to do something better than you, that another can make a great adventure, that another can face peril. You watch the movies, and read the books, and tell the stories, and they are exciting; and you often picture yourself as the champion of that story, or that book. And I AM here to encourage you to do exactly that, only to go one step farther. I AM here today to encourage you: to live the life you were intended to live; to write your story, with every thought you have, every word you say, and every deed you perform. Write your story. Leave your mark so that others will know what you did.

“There are many books written, and Sacred Scriptures are, filled with individual(s) who took-up a cause, who was a champion, who performed noble deeds. But if you go a bit deeper, you will see that these people, who performed noble deeds, often stumbled, just as you. They were in human being form, yet at times they rose beyond that, they went beyond what most would consider the norm and reached the sublime.

“I encourage you to ignore the times you have fallen and refuse to use them as an excuse for not accomplishing great and holy things, while you are upon Earth, because many, who walked before you, whose stories you do know, to some degree: were filled with doubt, like Thomas, you had to show him everything; or, had a bit of fear, like Peter, who was so afraid that he denied Me, even when he was told ahead of time, the fear was strong. But what was stronger, and what finally drove fear from Peter, and doubt from Thomas, was the truth of The Holy Spirit of God, filling them with wisdom, exploding wonder all around them, until in the face of all that had been accomplished, in their time, they could not deny, they could not doubt any longer.

“You will face obstacles and challenges, and you will have periods in your life where what you have thought, said, or done leads you to a place where you do not feel worthy of rising. But I tell you, you are. If you need examples, look in The Bible, look in Holy Scriptures, and you will see the falls, and you will see the rising-up, and you will begin to know how the difference comes about when Spirit takes over, The Holy Spirit of God.

“Write your story, and cast yourself in the role, the starring role of your story, and write it as you live it. When the falls come, and they surely will, do not attempt to hide them. Do not make excuses for them. Hold them up, so all can see: look at this lesson; look at this lesson that life upon Earth brought to me. And show what you do with the lesson that was brought to you. Show the glory of rising from the fall to a place of wonder.

“Those living upon Earth can appreciate the fall, the lesson, and the resurrection from it, the fall. And it gives courage and encourages others, because they see, well I too fell. And they see you rose-up, and they will know they too can rise-up. Life is so wonderful: when you live it one step at a time, taking one step in faith; and making all things that come to you extraordinary, not trying to make excuses, or hide them, or deny them, but saying, 'Look, this happened, but The Holy Spirit of God led me out of this to a new place, and I see.' And, by illuminating all that happens, you grow in wisdom.

“Life is meant for growth. You move-on, life is not stagnant. It is not a statue, or a painting, where you are set upon a pedestal, and never touched, remaining the same, from the time of your conception to last for decades and decades and generations. You are not a statue. You are not a painting. You are a child God, traveling over the Earth, for a while, to bring The Kingdom of God onto the Earth, more completely, more fully, through what you think, and say, and do. Begin today to write your story, in such a profound way, that it impacts those around you. Do not hide your fall, reveal your fall, and reveal how The Holy Spirit leads you from the fall to the light.

“All My disciples, all those who followed Me, and listened to Me, experienced darkness and shadow. But when we talked, we used their experience, of darkness and shadow, to bring light, by making them lessons. I used My time, coming face to face with the demons, and the devil, and the tempters. These periods of darkness were changed to periods of enlightenment when the truth was told. Let your days and nights of darkness and shadow be a light that will show you a way to live the lessons all through the day and night. Use them as steppingstones.

“This week will present many opportunities. Do not blame others when challenges seem to appear as if they will hinder your progress. Do not place a blame of an obstacle on another. Look at the obstacle, look at the challenge, and then pray for a way to walk through it into a new day, growing stronger and more confident all along The Way, for I AM with you all of the days.”

May 17, 2020

“I AM with you. The sun has risen, the new day is dawning. It is a new beginning, and I AM with you. I AM with you throughout the day, available, ever-present. Use the resources given. Use the resources with you to help calm your fears, chase away your worries, and give you answers to that which concerns you. When you realize the wealth of that which you carry with you, when you believe firmly and completely that I AM with you, every minute of the day, your day will begin to change, and so will The Way you live, for The Way you live will be a sign that you know I AM with you.

“Do not deny yourself the opportunity to be all you are meant to be. Do not sell yourself short. Do not belittle that which is grand in scope. Do not hide your shining hours and minutes upon the Earth beneath a basket of doubt. You are truly meant to be walking upon the Earth, right now; but many of you are walking upon the Earth blind. You cannot see your destiny because you are denying your opportunity to be.

“I encourage you to go within. As you begin every day, stop. Before you put on your shoes, or anything else, go within, and slowly begin the day, from within. Your inner landscape is rich. The soil is life-giving. There is everything within you to grow that which you are meant to be. But you must turn the soil, you must make sure the roots are deep within that garden prepared by God. If you begin each day seeing it that way, you will understand that your true growth, your true potential, comes from within. Make sure that your roots are deep within the love of God.

“Once you have established that your garden is set and ready for the day, rise-up, because all that you are tending within you will produce fruit all around you, in the world created by man. It does not matter what occupation you have chosen, or has been chosen for you, in some cases, might be. It does not matter where you go to work or to study. These things do not matter, if you are coming from that enriched garden with you. You are carrying that fertile garden all over the Earth with you. And as you make sure it is well-tended, and weeded, and cared for the love of God will produce bountiful fruits from that which is within you. Every job you do, every task you perform, will be enriched by that which is within you. Life will cease to be a series of tasks, and chores, and jobs, and it will begin to be the opportunity to bless and enrich every task, every chore, every job.

“You know what happens to a plant if you cut-off the roots before setting it in the ground. It will be beautiful, for a day or so, but with no root system it cannot grow. Visualize the roots of your potential, moving through the soil of your inner landscape. Let them go deep, let them reach far, because there is no boundary, there are no limits, to who you are, when your roots are deep in the garden of God's love. And that which you produce will not just fall upon those who are worthy. The fruits that come from you, when your roots are deep, will be a gift to all, and this is God-like. Your presence will be a blessing to all, and this is God-like. Your potential is to bless the Earth, to bring the peace of God to Earth, to bring The Kingdom of God onto the Earth. But you cannot do this until your inner landscape is providing the richness of life. Today, seek to know, better, the richness of life.”

May 10, 2020

“I AM with you. Let us begin this new day together. We will walk together, and you will talk, and I will listen; and you will talk some more, and I will listen more; and occasionally, I will whisper, and you will hear Me. We will be talking heart to heart, spirit to spirit, and in that way, there is no misunderstanding about the verbiage, the language. We are connected in a way beyond vocabulary. We are connected in spirit, and in spirit we are one.

“Today, where most of you, hearing these words or reading these words, reside, there is a celebration, honoring mothers. This celebration is not being observed all over the world, yet it is being observed where you live, in a large portion of the world, (it is) a day set aside for mothers.

“You could write volumes about mothers, the importance of the roles they play in the lives of their young ones. Yet, as you begin on that journey there are many branches, many tributaries, because all mothers are not the same. Mothers are individuals. Some might be as gentle and nurturing as a spring rain, while others let their presence be known through thunder and lightning. But there is one thing that does remain the same, that is the exact same for every human being upon the Earth, and that is where My focus will be today, because it is most extraordinary to find a cord of unity that weaves through all of humanity, yet this one is the thread, is the binding cord. You were born of woman. You passed through a doorway, you moved over the threshold, passing from one dimension to another, and without this passage, without the doorway, without the threshold, you would not have the opportunity to experience life upon Earth, Mother Earth.

“You are breathing: therefore, you did pass through the doorway, you did move over the threshold; therefore, you are living the story of your life, you are writing the book of your life upon Earth. It is not necessary for you to agree with the person who gave birth to you. It is not even necessary for you to know the face of the person who gave birth to you. What is important today, what is important for you to know, is that this individual gave you the opportunity for your lifetime experience, gave you the opportunity to fulfil your destiny, to live-out your mission, and return to your Eternal Home. Stop and think on that. And, if today you find that you cannot say, in your heart, you have a loving relationship with a mother, or that you even know what your mother looks like, you can stand-up, and say, ‘I honor that doorway. I honor the threshold. I honor the individual who gave me the opportunity to experience life upon the Earth.’ Every individual, upon the Earth, can do that. This is your common ground. This is where you are exactly the same.

“It is important for you to return to that place of passage and give honor. Without that portal, without that threshold, that door, you would not be upon the Earth. That is the only way you arrive upon Earth. You must pass through the doorway, the body of that individual: to begin to write your book, your story; to live-out your destiny; to embrace the opportunity and do and live, as you are meant to do and live.

“I know some of you today are very thankful and appreciative of a certain person, who might have given you an opportunity in the business world. They might have been your mentor, for a while, and sent you out, ready to walk into a place of business, knowing what they know, filled with the wisdom of many years, so that you could achieve success. And when you talk about your business success, you often mention that person as the one giving you the opportunity to experience the success. You might speak of coaches of many kinds. You might remember some type of athletic coach who showed you: how to do things properly; how to hit the ball more effectively and more efficiently; how to perfect a certain stroke, having your hands cut through the water, propelling your body farther than you would have gone otherwise. In your lifetime you have met many people who have given you an opportunity to excel at something you wanted to do, and you appreciate their effort, you speak of them often, and you give them honor in your gratitude. Today, return to the doorway which made it all possible. Today, honor the individual who gave you the opportunity to experience life on Earth, for a while.”

May 3, 2020

"I AM with you. My joy, in touching you in this way, I give to you, so you can experience My joy, and make it your joy, as well; for when you close your eyes to the world created by man, and take My hand to walk over the Earth, seeing the beauty of God's creation through My eyes, you will know the value and great gift it is for you to have the opportunity to live upon the Earth, and to bless the Earth with all that is yours to give.

"As you live your life upon the Earth, and as you grow in years, maturing to adulthood, you see many things, learn many lessons, you are taught what to do in certain situations. Some of the teachings lean more toward financial preparation. How to save money so you have a support system when things go wrong in the world of finance. You are taught that it is a good idea to purchase insurance policies: to guarantee that health care will be covered; to guarantee that your car can be repaired; to guarantee that your life will be covered, when you return Home, and your family needs the funds to continue. You are taught it is a good idea to support institutions that are important to you, to how you think, to what you think is good for the world, and all those around you; so you support arts and science; you support churches and schools. And there are many more ways to use the finances that are yours to insure what comes your way will not destroy the life you have come to know. But I tell you the longer you live, you see institutions fail and crumble, taking with it (them) your trust and your misplaced finances. These things seemed good, but the results seemed harmful. Placing your trust in something temporary can often not achieve the goal you desired. It is part of living on Earth, you must accept that which comes your way, and bounce-back to live another day.

"But there is one way, that you can invest, with certainty. Your investment will not be something you can hold in your hands, or count with your fingers, but your investments will be doubled, and doubled many-fold; and you can deposit or withdraw, with no service charge at all. And that which you deposit in this unseen bank will be with you forever. When it is time to withdraw, you may withdraw, while your deposits keep earning and multiplying and growing. I give you an example. If you wake-up one morning, and you feel kindness welling-up with you, this is good. So you begin your day, and the first person you encounter along The Way is the beneficiary of your gift of kindness. And as you part ways, you continue your day, but that person you encountered also continues their day, and the next person they encounter is the beneficiary of the kindness that you have established within them; so what began with one, and became two, is now four, and throughout the day, this kindness, that began as a seed within you, continues to grow in value; and where there was one, then two, then four, there becomes eight, then sixteen, then thirty-two, then sixty-four. By the end of the day your gift of kindness has touched more than one hundred people. Your gift of kindness has touched more than one hundred people! Think on this. Think about what you could do, not only with kindness, but with compassion, and forgiveness, understanding and charity. All of these valuable gifts you carry within you, can be multiplied over and over. It is the best way to invest in the future of the world, and it is the best way to invest in your eternal life.

"I AM not saying that it is wrong to bank money, to purchase insurance, to attend churches and support them. I AM saying do not do this and ignore the great treasure that you carry within, which can be multiplied every day, which will not be diminished, unless you are willing to throw it away. This is banking on your eternal life. Do not ignore the opportunity that you have been given to create a wealth of kindness, and love, forgiveness, compassion, charity, all these things that you carry within. Use the treasure that you have brought to Earth well. Do not ignore it, and do not throw it away.”

April 26, 2020

“I AM with you. This is a great day! This day upon the Earth will never be repeated. It is unique in its own way, just as you are unique in your own way, and I come today to whisper, to give you strength, to give you courage, to honor your faith, and your trust, and your belief in those things you cannot see, yet you know them to be true. Today, I come to celebrate life with you!

“When you are upon the Earth, living-out your temporary lifetime, you are very busy, most of the time, gathering this and that and the other, building houses, building roads, digging gardens, doing research in laboratories and in the fields, going to school and to work. These things occupy a lot of your time. But if you will give Me just a few moments, I would like to remind you of something. On the day you were born, you came into the world, into the physical world, with nothing, except that which you carried within. You were a small baby, naked, crying, ready for the adventure of a lifetime. And, while you appeared helpless, and weak, and needy, the truth was, and is, that you carried treasures from Heaven within you, the gifts you had been given by God: gifts uniquely suited for you, and the person you would be, while you were upon the Earth; gifts to use so that you might bring Heaven to Earth, during your lifetime, as an inhabitant of Earth. But as the months and the years passed, most of the time, the innocent, weak, and helpless baby begins to walk, and talk, and eat, and grow, and go to school and learn, and begin to know that life in the world is not easy, unless you have the ability to take care of yourself, and then possibly a family, friends, and others around you; and, sustaining your physical life and health, working to guarantee shelter, begins to take priority. And, if you are not mindful, you forget that you have the cherished treasures of Heaven within you: building blocks on which to create a better Earth; building blocks on which to create thoughts of kindness, generosity, compassion. All of these things are hidden from view, and often hidden in a way that you do not use them to the full advantage. The busy life, in the world created by man, can be a distraction, and you work hard, and long. You work with love to help those you care for, and you do a good job. But in this process, do not forget the treasures within. They were given, with the hope that you would use them, rather than ignore or abuse them.

“Now, once your lifetime has reached its end, and it is time for you to return to Heaven, you leave the Earth as you arrived upon the Earth. You do not take your clothing, your jewels, or anything you have amassed that is of the physical nature. When you return Home, you return Home with the treasures you carry within. And once you have passed through the veil, and you are back Home again, feeling comfortable and well, it will be time for you to give account of the treasure that was left within you so that it could be multiplied upon the Earth, and used for the glory of God. Make sure, while you are now living upon the Earth, that you work with your gifts within, in such a way, that come the day of your recounting, you will be able to say, ‘Look. I left Home with these gifts, and look what I did with these gifts, while I was upon Earth. I created compassion and kindness. I created a lot of light, and love. And oh, look at this gift. This gift I used to create forgiveness.’ You will be able to say such things, and all who are listening, when you return Home, will see that you multiplied your treasures, your gifts, four and five times, over and over. And there will be great celebration, because you will have taken the gifts God had given you, and worked with them, and played with, and loved them, in such a way, that when you return on that day, you can say to God, in a most joyous way, ‘This is what I shall bring to

You. This is My offering to You. So long ago you gave me the gift of life upon Earth, and now I return it. Look and see what was done with the gifts You gave unto me.'

“I leave you today with this scenario so you might begin to prepare better for your return Home. Forget the gold, forget the silver, forget the new cars, and the big house. Begin to feed the hungry, and clothe the naked, and give shelter to the homeless, and love those who hate you, be kind to all of creation, and love God.”

April 19, 2020

“I AM with you. You say it, and the more you say it, it settles into you so that you find it possible to believe that I AM with you. Most of the time you cannot see Me, but most of the time you can feel Me. You can feel My presence with you. I AM with you. It is a promise I made to those I loved, thousands of years ago, and it is a promise I make to you today, and I will repeat the promise every day. I AM with you. You know when someone you love is near. You do not have to see them. You might be in another room in your home, but you feel their presence. There is something different in their presence. You feel it, and you know it. It is the same with us. I AM with you, and as you make your way along the journey that is yours, I will be with you, every step of The Way. When you actively seek My presence you will know I AM with you; and, I will talk with you, and walk with you, from the time of the rising of the sun, until the moonlight, and the day is done. I will be there, even as you sleep. I AM with you.

“When I walked upon the Earth, thousands of years ago, I had a list of things, information to impart to those who would listen. It was not just idle chatter, I was not making conversation, I was imparting Heavenly Wisdom to those who would open their ears and hear Me. If you take the time to look back, to read through the stories, the books, you refer to them as the gospels, pay attention to the information that was written down, when I would speak to those gathered. Why did so many follow? Why did so many gather? It was because I was telling them what they longed to hear. God knew they were ready. Their hearts were thirsty for words of love, for words on how they could practically live a holy life, and to do so while they were in the midst of their day, whether they were: out in the fields; along the roadside; in their homes; or, in their villages. And so, I told them, as God directed Me, I gave them exactly what their heart called-out for.

“The first command, to ‘love one another,’ is familiar to you, and it was what they wanted to hear then, too. It is practical, ‘love one another’. You see, it sets you apart, when you willing to love those who are not loving you. It gets the attention of those who are watching. It stirs questions, in their thoughts. Why would you love someone who is being hateful, meanspirited, challenging? What is the purpose of loving one another, to that degree? For any who really want an answer, who need to know why this loving was (and is) so important you must be willing to sit quietly, to follow closely that Whisper within you, and soon you will begin to see; it is very clear. If you are willing to stand in the face of an angry attack, the anger stops there. And, once you have mastered the ability to love over hatred, aggression of any kind, that love begins to alter your entire environment. You no longer multiply the anger, you are bringing peace, and once this is done, the anger begins to subside.

“You very rarely find two people, standing on the street, with one railing for hours, and hours, and hours. It takes two, or more, to continue the verbal battle. If one is not willing to participate, then the other is left to wage war alone, and after a while, they tire and grow weary, and the words are less weighty; and, while the other has stood loving and praying, they have created an atmosphere in which it is possible for aggression to be stopped, calmed, and moved, by the song of peace.

“You will not think this is possible to do, if you sit and talk with friends about it, because the talk will end-up, probably, deciding that it is not possible to subdue war with peace and love. But, if you take yourself to a quiet place and sit, if you are willing to be still and use that mental picture of two individuals, facing each other, one angry and fierce, the other still and quiet, you will begin to understand the power of loving one another. So, this was one of the first things I taught enthusiastically.

“I brought to Earth a handbook of how to live The Way, while living your life upon the Earth, and it had to do with loving one another, yes. But, it also had to do with, ‘How do you pray, how do you make communication with God?’ That question was asked, and once asked, I answered by leaving with you the words to The Lord’s Prayer. I also taught you how to treat your neighbors, to treat each other. I left these words with those I loved. I asked them to go out and teach others what I said, so that they too might know The Good News. And, it was written-down, so you too could look and see, see things such as: the meek shall inherit the Earth; do not hide your light under a basket; give food to those who are hungry, and be compassionate and understanding; do not let a mob mentality take-over, to such a degree, that you are willing to stone another person, in public, for all to see.

“The Way has been made clear for you. You know exactly how to live your life, and what to do. That is general information for all of you, and it is the same today as it was those thousands of years ago. Now, the difference comes in the promise of The Holy Spirit of God filling you from within, to guide you specifically, regarding your mission. So, I tell you, My brothers and sisters, today, you have been given the general book, you know the guidelines, you know how to treat yourself and others, and, if you will go within and hear The Holy Spirit of God, you will also know every step to take along The Way to fulfilling your mission, which is uniquely your own. This is how much God loves each of you. God left no stone unturned. You have it all, but you must be willing to listen and follow. But, the most important thing is, to make it all happen as it is intended to unfold, you must be willing to love one another. I AM not saying: you must be willing to love those who are kind, those who are just; you must be willing to love those filled with mercy and kindness. You must be willing to love, even those who will not love you in response to the gift you are giving them. When you reach a point that you know the power held in that message, ‘love one another,’ the rest of your life upon Earth will be one of peace and joy. The power of love is the strongest, most effective, power created, period. Love in the face of all things, and you will be at peace, for you know The Way. It has been written down. It has been set before you. Now, follow, and I will be with you, every step of The Way.”

April 12, 2020
Easter Sunday

“I AM with you. Look around you. See where you are living and breathing, right now. Wherever you are it is a piece of your eternal life. Look at it, study it, know it, and then, as you live it, bless it by how you live it; for, no matter where you might be, as a part of your eternal life, it can be blessed and made holy by what you do, by how you think of it, by the words you say of it. Therefore, today I AM with you to encourage you to bless this piece of your eternal life you are living, right now.

“Today, I see many of you celebrating that piece of My eternal life, which you call Easter. You have just completed many days of a time you call Lent, during which you reflect and pray about portions of My lifetime upon Earth. You walk a bit closer with Me. You speak less of the things of the world and turn your heart more toward the teachings of Heaven. And, once this period of Lent is complete there is great celebration, because all of the prophecies, spoken by the prophets of the Old Testament, were fulfilled, every one of them. That was My task, My honor, and I completed all of the prophecies about The Messiah before I said it was done.

“You see, God does not leave the children, walking upon the Earth, to wander in darkness without hope, and those prophecies were the hope of the people who were waiting. And, once those prophecies were fulfilled, there was great joy, amongst those who saw The Light, recognized The Light, and embraced The Light. I did bring The Light. I brought in the teachings, the illumination, of The Dimension of Perfection, of Heaven. I taught the things of God. I spoke the words God asked Me to speak. I did that which Our Father asked of Me. And, by doing so, I delivered The Light. And, for those who embraced The Light, they carried The Light with them, so this Light, that they embraced through these teachings of Heaven, illuminated the darkness and the shadow for them. And, there was no fear, because in these teachings they also accepted eternal life. And, when I did rise-up, on that day you celebrate as Easter Sunday, all the teachings about eternal life were confirmed within them. The Light lives. And, when you hold The Light others can lean toward The Light, and The Light will move into them. It is possible for you to walk amongst those of Earth, with your Light shining brightly, and not saying one word, pass The Light to others, because those who see The Light know The Light. Those who reject The Light turn from The Light, and The Light is not with them. They do not know The Light, because they turned from The Light. But, for those who know The Light, and embrace The Light, The Light is with you.

“Today, celebrate The Light. Celebrate the illumination from Heaven. Celebrate that God loves the children of Earth so much that every measure will be taken to rekindle a spark, so it returns to a flame. And, you rekindle the spark every time you speak My name, for when you speak My name, I AM with you; and, I will be with you forever. I AM The Light. I have given unto you My Light. Therefore, you are The Light. Rise-up and be The Light.”

April 5, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you all of the time, for We do not withdraw, We stay fixed and constant, so that you might find sanctuary, and peace, support; and, We will not waver or depart from you. Your very thought, your every prayer, is a greeting, and We are there. We listen, and We know. Held within this Promise of Presence with you is divine and eternal love, which will support you, and provide the courage and the strength you need to complete your mission and come Home. I AM with you.

“Today, let us touch upon the topics: of support; of trust; of love, friendship. Most of you have people around you, and the people around you are often classified, in your thoughts, as family, friends, acquaintances, co-workers. And, this is normal, this is how most of you see those around you. You draw your loved ones near to you, and you support them in what they are trying to accomplish. You do the same for your friends. But, if you have lived more than thirty or forty years, you have found that there are times when those around you will cheer-on your victories, applaud your accomplishments, dine with you and exchange love for all you do, and this feels good. This energy of support, coming to you, actually encourages additional growth from you. This support and this love nurtures that seed within you. And, when you could have faltered you do not, you continue to achieve and accomplish, because of the support that is given to you. But then, you will find, as you have reached the age of over thirty or forty, that the same ones who have given their love, and support, and encouragement, can turn from you, can reject you, can disappear from view, when difficulties arise, or challenges are placed in front of you, when the rains move-in and the sun is no longer shining. This does not mean they do not love you. It means that fear, or doubt, or worry, or concern has ensnared them, and pulled them from you. I know, for one day I was hailed, and cheered, and acknowledged as The Messiah. The crowds lined The Way, separated to create a path. Many laid-down their cloaks, and palms, to celebrate My entry into their lives, and into their city, when only days later, the chant, the cry, going-up from the people, would be, ‘Crucify Him’. That is how quickly events upon the Earth can change.

“I say this to you today so you will know: there is a constant place, a well so deep it will never run dry; there is a place where every tear in your eye will be dried by the hand of God, every desire will be met, and support will be given to you by the hand of God. God will support you in your mission, because God has given you the mission, and God has given you the gifts, and the tools, and the courage to complete the mission. So, if you find yourself in a place where others turn from you, and leave you standing alone to complete your mission, open the door and go within, and sit with God, and you will be given strength, and courage, and the desire to rise-up and complete the mission, feeling the hand of God on your shoulder. It will be at that time that you realize your measure of faith is leading you: to take the first step into a place where others have not gone before; to demonstrate what others have not done before; to elevate to a place of divine experience upon Earth that others have not known before. Do not be afraid. The hand of God is upon you, My whisper can be heard within you, and The Holy Spirit of God will lift you up, upon golden wings, and you will fly. But, these things are not easily done, when you place your faith in the world created by man. These things shall happen, and will be done, when you place your faith in The Creator of All Things, and let it stay there until you are Home.”

March 29, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you as the breeze, which you do not even notice, until you see the leaves, stirring, waving, moving. And, I come to you, in such a way, so that when you are aware that the leaves are stirring, and you know The Wind is there, when you feel a stirring within you, you know I AM there with you. This is not something that you just hear, ‘I AM with you.’ When you hear the words, they go into you, and you are moved. Something within you stirs, as the leaves on the tree, and at that moment, you hear and know.

“And so today, I talk to you about being there with you, because as the years, and the decades, and the generations pass, between the time I was walking upon the Earth, and the current day, it seems to slip further and further away, making it difficult to know I AM with you. It is written, you can find it, and you can read it, daily; but, it seems to be harder and harder to believe, as the years go by. But, just because it is harder to believe does not make it any less the truth. I said it then, and I will say it now, ‘I AM there with you.’ The Kingdom of God is within you, and The Way The Kingdom of God is to roll upon the Earth is through you. And, after so many people believe this is possible, and summon forth The Kingdom of God to flow through them onto the Earth, then the Earth and the Heavens will respond, and the time will have come, and the veil will part, and Heaven and Earth will be as One.

“When I walked upon the Earth, I said many things. So many of My words were words of love and support for those around Me. They were My friends and I loved them, and they loved Me. They were My friends and I believed in them, and they believed in Me. They were My friends and I knew their weaknesses; still, I believed in them, because I knew who they were. I knew their mission. I knew it was holy. Therefore, I gave them guidance and direction. This, guidance and direction, was often the source of lessons on how to follow The Way. I left a map, a very clear map: love one another; turn the other cheek; feed the hungry; clothe the naked; take care of the women and the children who are lost and afraid and weakened; take care of the elderly; take care of your parents; love those down the street, blocks away, and countries away, as much as you love those who say they love you. All of things are possible to do, but they are possible only when you let the love of God flow through you onto the Earth. This, My brothers and sisters, is the key. When you insert that key, of loving one another, into the door, which has been locked and sealed, and you turn the key, with your intention to love one another, the door flies open, and the love of God flows through it, in a mighty way, and there is no closing that door, because the door you open will be one of the doorways through which Heaven and Earth become one. The truth is, My brothers and sisters, that Heaven and Earth are one within you.

“It is time to step into your spiritual maturity. It is time to stop blaming this one and that one for this thing or that thing. It is time to realize that Heaven and Earth are one within you. You are the connector. You, and only you, have the right to open that door and let it flow through you; for you see, no one can force you to do this. It must be that you believe it, and when you believe it you hold the key; and, through this powerful gift of believing comes the settling-in of knowing; and, knowing is what prompts you to insert that key, into the door that was closed, and turn it. Through believing and knowing you unlock the door, and everything begins growing together as one.

“The door is there. The key is with you. Believe, know, and unlock the door, for I AM with you, too. You are of Earth. You are of Heaven. You hold the key to unite the two within you, and as they are united within you, they sprout, roots begin to grow, and the fruits of the gifts of God are seen upon the tree that is you. Today, believe, know, and act upon it.”

March 22, 2020

“Today and all days, I AM with you. Especially while you are walking upon the Earth, it is good to know I AM with you, because sometimes the things of Earth, situations and occurrences, and issues of Earth, can be distracting, sometimes bring you to your knees. And, at those times I AM with you, too.

“Today I would like to give you a brief tutorial, if you will, on how to pray, in such a way, that you receive your answers, that you actually hear God: speaking to you, guiding you, directing you. It is important for you to remember that, when I walked upon the Earth, I did pray. I sought the guidance of Our Heavenly Father, every day. I did as I was told to do. I touched those I was told to touch. I gave My love freely, and I laughed often. I enjoyed the company of others, but frequently I withdrew, to take Myself away, to shut the door, to close-off the distractions: so that I could connect with Our Father, in a private way; so that I could ask, and receive; so that I could hear clearly that which I was to do. And today, that is what I would like to talk to you about, hearing God clearly; (having) no questions, because you know you heard God, clearly.

“There are many forms of communication between Earth and The Heavenly Dimension. And, you use each one of these forms of communication, frequently: the thought of God; the feeling of gratitude for the gifts of God; the smile, reflecting that you feel The Presence of God with you; the tingles that move over your body, when you are touched by The Presence of God, and you say, ‘Thank you.’ There are moments when you talk to God, quickly, as if God was a friend, sitting in the car, next to you, and you happen to mention something you are thinking about, such as, ‘Aren’t those rolling hills beautiful?’. It seems as if, when you say it, you are saying it to no one, but you know, you are speaking to God. And, there are many other forms of communication, but the communication I wish to share with you today is that powerful communication when you sit quietly, and: you hear The Voice within you; you know the direction. It is a sacred gift. But, you cannot hear The Voice of God clearly when you are distracted. You cannot hear The Voice of God clearly when there is music playing. You cannot hear The Voice of God clearly when there is laughter, even joy around you. The distraction keeps you from hearing, clearly. Oh, you might know that God is speaking to you, but exactly is what God saying to you? If what God is saying to you is important to you, if you say that what God is telling you is important enough to remember, you must create a space where you can go, hide your face from the world, and be still.

“When you are given the opportunity to go within, to be removed from the distractions of the day, to sit in quiet and pray, take advantage of that opportunity. And, if you do not find the opportunity avails itself to you, create the opportunity yourself. You know when you are harried, or worried, or confused. You know when you feel overwhelmed. In those times excuse yourself, from the world, and go to a place that is quiet. Close your eyes, go within; and, make this journey within sacred and special. Let it be a ritual, seeking The Voice of God in silence, for that is the only way you are going to hear, clearly. That is the only way you are going to retain, completely, that which God wants to say to you, and there is much God wants to say to you.

“You might recall, when you were in school, and times of testing were approaching, and you would try to study, as best you could, peering into a book, sometimes hands supporting your forehead, as you put all your effort into reading the words on the pages of the book, and trying to retain what you were reading. Yet, it could be very difficult to do when your roommates were talking, and laughing, and chattering about this, or that, or the other. It could even be difficult to do if you were alone, and you could hear the songs of the birds, or perhaps a thunderstorm, rolling your way, rain tapping on your window. Often, when you found yourself unable to study for an important test, you would pack-up your books and go to the library. Sometimes, you could reserve a room, almost cell-like. You could go into this room, close the door on the world, and concentrate on the words you wanted to remember, on the teachings that were important to you.

“This coming week I would like you to use that example to go to God. Pack-up yourself and go to that library within. Be sure to reserve a room that has no windows, and a door, and when you find that little cell, enter, close the door and sit. In this way you will begin to hear The Voice of God. At first, it will be The Whisper, and it will be so quiet, that you strain to hear. But then, it becomes clear, and you relax in The Whisper, and you begin to hear. Your heart quickens. Your soul is filled with joy. Your spirit is singing the song of silence, as The Whisper of God comes forth to teach you all you need to know. This week, take some time to separate yourself from the ways of the world, so you can begin to hear The Whisper of God. Let this become a practice, because until you are in quiet, until you are in the stillness, until you are comfortable in silence, you will not know the joy held in The Whisper of God.”

“I AM with you. I AM with you as the mountaintops hold the light of the new day. I AM with you as the leaves on the trees hold, tenderly, each drop of rain. I AM with you as the setting sun sets forth a highway of golden colors atop the ocean. I AM with you, and I AM with you in a special way, when you believe I come to you, I stay with you each day. It was stated prophetically, in the Bible, I did say the words. If you loved me, if you keep these commands, these teachings, if you believe in Me enough to do this, I will be with you, I will live with you. And so, I come to you, and say, you see, I keep My word. My word is sacred. I AM with you.

“It is possible to know The Will of God, to know the ways of God. It is possible. But, to do this completely, so fully that it transcends all the worries of the world, and lifts you up to a plateau of light, and peace, and love, requires that you believe. It requires that you accept the love of God, that you embrace the mission that you have been sent to do, and that you rest yourself, and are renewed, in the light of God, flowing through you, so that you might do all that you are meant to do. No matter who you are, no matter where you are, no matter your position, lofty or low, you have a mission, upon the Earth, and it is vital, it is vital to The Divine Plan. But, you cannot complete your mission, until you know The Love of God within you, and believe.

“Your spirit is eternal. You come from God. You can pick-up The Scripture, The Holy Book, and you can see where I left these words, this message. God is Spirit, and you are spirit: Our Father, Our Creator. This does not set Me to one side, and you to the other. It is “our,” we are united, we are one. Therefore, if your spirit comes from The Creator of All Things, held within this spirit is the knowledge, the wisdom, of all things. God does not hold this from you; but, many times, while you are assuming the role of a human being, you forget The Power within you, and you turn from The Power within you, and you try to make your way in the world created by man with all your power and strength, forgetting that The Hand of God is right there, all the time, but you turn your back, and walk away.

“This connection you have with Our Father, Our Creator, is strong, and it will be with you when everything else is stripped from you. How often have you seen friends, family members, or acquaintances, have a fatal disease, watch all of their strength and health be taken from them. And, in that, what appears to be, their darkest hour, they come back with a light and a power that you did not see within them before. But, before they had not fallen to their knees, and called-out, ‘Help me, God.’ How often have you seen family members, friends, or acquaintances, lose everything they had, of a material substance, yet they rose from despair, and came back different, filled with a light that was not there when they wore rings and coats, and drove cars, and lived in a very large dwelling. It took the loss of it all for them to stand tall, in The Light of God. When everything is stripped from you, you know God. At your moment of weakness, you know God. God is within you, and this is why this happens. Everything external, everything having to do with your human body, when it is gone, you go inward. That is when you know God; but, it is not necessary to wait until you are near the experience a human dying process to know God. It is not necessary to lose everything, of a financial nature, to know God. God is within you. I said this too, but who amongst you believes it? I AM in you. God is in you. You are in God. You are in Me. I say these things, and they are recorded, but who amongst you believes it?

“If you will take all that your spirit knows, and put it to work, in the world created by man, you will have an Earth experience, using Spirit wisdom. It will alter your life upon Earth. And, as you begin to move through the world created by man, your everyday life, using The Wisdom of God that is within you, you light The Way, so all can see how you are meant to live each day. You also light The Way for others, in a most extraordinary way, that you might not have considered before. As you take The Wisdom of God, and weave it into the fabric of your day, it becomes your daily experience, you remember it. The things that are touched by The Wisdom, and The Grace, and The Glory of God each day, are no longer, what you say, ‘a God thing,’ or ‘a God experience.’ They become ‘your experience’ on Earth, because you are living with the Wisdom of God that is within you.

“Now, if you believe in this relatively new idea of ‘cellular memory,’ you will begin to see, in short time, in brief time, that you are now, taking into your cellular memory, the experience of Earth that is of Heaven, that is of God, that is The Wisdom of God, using that of Earth to create a new experience. And, what you are beginning to know of cellular memory will lead you to understand that you can pass, all that you know about living on Earth, using The Wisdom of Heaven, to generations to come, because great-great-great-grandchildren will be carrying your cellular memory of God upon Earth, living within you.”

March 8, 2020

“I AM with you. I AM with you. Some of you read these words. Some of you speak these words. Some of you believe these words. I AM with you. You have access to Me. I AM with you. The Holy Spirit of God has been poured-out upon each of you. God is with you. The Spirit of God is with you. You are of The Spirit of God. You come from God. God created you. Just knowing these words, these words alone: should be your shield of bravery, courage, strength; should be your shield of laughter, and dance, and singing. It should be a crown upon your head. It should be the entrance to a life of joy and adventure upon the Earth, with no fear, no doubt, no worry or concern. For, if you believe God is with you, and if you believe The Holy Spirit of God is within you, and if you believe I AM with you, as well, how can you fear, how can you be worried? Let us begin this day together. I reach-out to you, and say, ‘Come, I AM with you. Believe.’

“It is true The Kingdom of God is within you. A piece of The Kingdom of God is within you. Do not diminish that which is within you, piling upon it debris. You must guard this Kingdom within you, and do so mindfully, knowing what you are doing, because knowing what you are doing shows that you know the gift you carry.

“It can be tricky, maintaining this precious gift, but there are signs to know when you are under attack. If you have been tempted to anger, and you realize there is conversation within your head, within your thoughts, convincing yourself that you have every right to be angry for this, or that, or the other, or that you have every right to withhold your love from this person, or that person, there is a battle within that conversation, that inner communication. You are being tempted, you are being swayed, to go to the ways of darkness. And, while The Kingdom of God is within you, it is pushed all the way back to a corner, and the residue, flowing from this type of conversation, builds a wall. And while you know, you have no right to be angry, while you know, you should not hold your love from any one person, the voices within will attempt to convince you that you are right to be angry, that you are right to withhold your love. And, this turns into a minor battle within your being. And, while this is going-on, the ways of the world will attempt to distract you from what is happening within your being; and, these things will pop-up, turning your head toward a new job, or a friendship, or discourse between other people. Many things will be thrown at you to distract you from maintaining your inner being, your inner sanctuary. But, know this, no matter what is going-on around you in the world, nothing is more important than what is going-on within you.

“Nothing is more important than the battles that rage within the human being, the pushing, and prodding, and fighting. These battles are real. These battles are choice, and you choose every day. Within your being, you are prompted to choose between: good and evil, life and death, fulfillment or lose. And, these battles rage within each of you, from time to time. Oh, sometimes the battlefield is scattered with debris, within your being, and at other times, the battle is dormant, quiet, waiting. No matter what the position, you must be vigilant. Know what is going-on within you. All the good, and all the evil, is at your disposal. All the good, and all the evil, is waiting to flow out upon the Earth, coming from you. It is your choice.

“It is less likely that the battle will flow-out onto the Earth, if you know what you are doing. So today, I give you a clue. If today you are sitting, comfortably in a chair, and with purpose and determination, are maintaining anger about something from the past, or the present, it is not The Kingdom of God stirring within you, telling you that you have every right to feed the wolves of anger. Know who you are listening to, know who is guiding you, and do not permit the dark side to gain a foothold in your inner sanctuary.

“In parting, I ask that you close your eyes. Be still. Envision The Kingdom of God within you. See it. Now, open your heart. Open your chest, and open your arms, and let The Kingdom of God flow from you onto the Earth. See it. If you see it as flowing water, see it. If you see it as a beautiful meadow, see it. If you see it as an ocean or a mountain, see it. But, see it, because it is there, within you. Protect it. You are the guardian of The Kingdom of God that is within you. Today, walk upon the Earth as if you know it.

March 1, 2020

“I AM with you. I come to you. I seek you. I reach-out for you. I AM with you so that you might have courage and strength to continue along the path, to know The Way, for The Way can be challenging, unless you accept My presence with you; and then, we shall walk, and talk, and laugh, and sing, all along The Way.

“My brothers and sisters, I wish to turn your thoughts inward today. The words I speak to you are intended to compel you to go inward today, because that is where you find truth, eternal truth, unchanging, unwavering, truth. And, one of the most interesting aspects of this journey within is that the truth you find is uniquely for you, for God knows all of your past. And, God has created a plan, a Divine Plan, that is perfect for you, and all the lessons of your past. All these things carried within you have been building-up to this time, your time upon the stage, your walk upon the Earth, your challenge, your story, your glory. So, do not look around and hang your head in shame for what you have done in the past, or thought in the past, or said in the past. Do not hang your head in shame for what you are doing now. It is part of the lesson that you are to carry into tomorrow with you, so that you know clearly, and fully, and completely, without hesitation, that all you have encountered, in your walk upon the Earth, was there for a reason, for a purpose.

“Everything which has happened to you, everything which has come to you, everything that you chose to do, can be turned into a glorious lesson, which will assist you in following through; but, you must be prepared to go, and see, and acknowledge these challenges, these temptations. And once you see, and once you know, and accept the truth, ah, then you can rise-up. From the seeing and the knowing comes the blessing and forgiving. And, from the darkest place you carry a lesson of great value. These are your pearls, these things that you have seen, and done, and said, being created, or better put recreated, into valuable pearls, which you can wear, a declaration of what you have seen, and what you know.

“You cannot do this unless you find yourself a quiet place, and you will be still. I say this, because your journey to truth is within. Within you The Holy Spirit is waiting to guide you, to counsel you, to be with you. And, the questions you ask, and the answers you receive, are not designed for another, or others. The answers you will receive, from The Holy Spirit of God, pertain uniquely to you; and, they are designed this way so that they will give you courage, and strength, and confidence, to go forth and do that which you are meant to do, to meet your destiny, knowing its glory, knowing your destiny is The Divine Plan of God.

“You cannot hear these things when you are moving about, running about, doing this chore or that chore. You cannot hear The Whisper within, when you are singing, and shouting, and dancing. You cannot hear what is going-on within you, when you are talking to others, or seeking counsel from other human beings. For, as well intended as other human beings might be, in guiding you to the right place, they can only tell you what they know, how they have been guided. Their journey is not your journey. Your journey upon Earth is yours alone. But, with each child of God, upon the Earth, willing to rise-up and complete their mission, take their journey, all of the unique journeys and missions come together to be one glorious presentation of The Presence of God upon Earth. You hold within you all you need to know, because The Holy Spirit of God is within you, there waiting. Most of the time, there, waiting. Waiting for you to be still, waiting for you to listen, waiting for you to believe the words I said thousands of years ago. For, I did leave My followers with the promise that The Father would send a Counselor who would be with them forever. But My words did convey: that this Counsel would be from within; others would not hear it; it would require faith to follow it; but, you would not be alone. And, this is the only way that you will not be alone – to listen to The Whisper within.

“Resist the temptation, this week, to chatter, and move about, and jump about. Resist the temptation to seek your answers in other human beings. Resist the temptation to seek counsel and comfort in the arms of other human beings. Take yourself to a very quiet place and sit. Be still, and you will feel The Presence within you; and, when this is comfortable for you, you will begin to hear The Whisper; and, when you begin to recognize and hear that Whisper grow, you will know exactly when to rise-up and go forth. And, at that moment, you will rise-up, and you will go forth, and you will bring Heaven onto the Earth everywhere you go; but, this journey... must begin... within.”

February 23, 2020

” I AM with you. I greet you with great joy. I give you courage and strength through the words I say so that you might rise-up and live The Way. When it is necessary I touch you, when it is appropriate I call-out to you, when it is a tender time I whisper, and in the stillness, and in the quiet, you hear Me, for we are one.

“These words I say to you so that you might remember who you are. For, if you claim to know Me, if you claim to follow Me, you are different, and that is how it is meant to be. I carried-out My mission, came to Earth, did as I was to do, brought many messages, which total one great message, summed-up clearly in the command to love one another. But, there are many tangents and many pieces to this, ‘love one another;’ and, I shared them, and I shared them clearly and openly, as I walked upon the Earth. I stood out, yes, because I was different. I was showing The Way into a new time. I said clearly, you have heard it said, an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. I also said, you have heard that you should not kill. I said many things in reference to the way people were living that day. A question arose about forgiveness. It was the standard to forgive three times, yet I implored My followers to forgive seventy times seven times, and beyond that. In other words, there is no limit to forgiveness. In other words, ‘an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth’ was dead. It would no longer apply, because that was how everyone was living. I was calling on My followers to go a step beyond. And, for those who did follow, and do as My words would lead them to do, they began to live another life, a life upon the Earth that was filled with eternal life. You cannot know and live the words I delivered without stepping into a new life, an eternal life, a deeper, knowing, relationship with God. And, by doing these things all those around you become aware of The Glory of God in what you are doing.

“You do not show The Glory of God if you meet anger with anger. What you are showing is you have chosen a side, and you align yourself with the side of anger. You do not show The Glory of God if you choose to laugh with the crowd when another has come upon difficult times, or fallen in a great and mighty way. In your taking this position, you align yourself with the mocking crowd. This is not The Way of God. I did not come and say stone those who break rules. I did not come and say ignore the hungry or the naked. I came with a list of things that you could do to draw nearer to God and to know the ways of Heaven as you walk upon the Earth. Therefore, if you fit-in comfortably with the crowd, who will laugh at others, who will mock others, who will judge others, and who are willing to stone others, you are not showing The Glory of God, you are showing where you stand.

“Today, I encourage you to review and know. You know The Way, therefore there is no need for anger. You know The Way, so there is no need for doubt, or worry, or hatred, or greed. You know The Way. What you are missing is living The Way. If you stand-out, because you are living The Way, then as you stand-out you are living The Glory of God upon Earth. I encourage you today, to begin to live another Way. I encourage you by offering My strength in the words that, ‘I AM with you,’ to choose The Glory of God in the face of anger, to choose The Glory of God in the face of deceit, to choose The Glory of God in the face of rejection, to choose The Glory of God.”

February 16, 2020

“I AM with you. We greet, and the acknowledgement is sweet and tender. Our companionship is treasured, and as we talk none-others are aware, because our meeting place is within you. It is ours, and it is there we speak of things that will lift you up, encourage your journey, and support you, as you walk along The Way.

“Faith can truly move mountains, and it is a powerful gift which, when well-used, will lead you to: believing fully, completely, without doubt or hesitation; stepping-off the cliff, without looking back, knowing that angels will hold you, and you shall not fall or stumble.

“So many of you, My brothers and sisters, will make a statement of faith, and then go about your day. Some of you will make a statement of faith, permit that seed of faith to bring forth believing, and you will believe fully; and, faith and belief will then, at that time, change the course of your life; and, every day will be a day of great importance, as you move through your journey, encountering those who are brought to you, blessing them all along The Way; faith.

“So many words were spoken as I walked upon the Earth. Much guidance was given when clear direction was sought. I did not hesitate to announce, to all who would hear, that you too can do these things. These great works you can do, and then give the glory to God, for how else will your brothers and sisters know God until they see God present in what you are doing?

“It seems to be a habit to move through your life knowing that other people are destined to do great things, and they will do it, and you will stand and applaud and cheer their efforts. But it is you, you must grow believing from your faith. If you have just a small amount of faith, you are going to be able to move mountains. If those mountains are meant to be moved by you, they shall move, if you believe they will move. That which comes to you is yours to do. It is time to take the gift of your faith and let it grow. Let it grow into believing all you know. When you believe nothing can stop you, and you need to believe, because it is time for those who are called to rise-up and do, not watch others do, do. It is you being called. Listen to The Whisper within. It is God saying, ‘Rise-up. This is what you are to do.’ And, if you are ready, if you have been vigilant, if you are prepared, that belief, springing-forth from faith, will lead you all The Way, without doubt or hesitation. God not only has a plan for you, God has prepared you for that plan. You are the only you that will ever be. Make this time upon Earth exciting by rising-up and stepping into your destiny, for soon the call to come Home will be heard by you, and it would be good to know in your heart, with your last breath upon the Earth, that you did do that which you were meant to do. For, I tell you today, as I said thousands of years ago, you can do all that I did, and that I AM doing now, and you can do even greater things, but, they will not appear before you completed. You must rise-up and accept the opportunity. Let your faith lead you to believe the words you say and do even greater things, today.”

February 9, 2020

“I AM with you. This brings joy. As I whisper to the spirit you are, your spirit animates your body with joy, for your spirit knows Me, and responds to My call and My touch, responds to The Whisper from beyond the veil. And there we are, together. I reach-out and speak, leading you, showing you The Way. Still, after all these years, I desire to show you The Way. Come, walk with Me, listen, speak to Me, sing to Me, dance with Me. Tell Me of the joy that is yours when you see the seasons change, or the sun rise, or the moon set. Speak to Me, for I AM with you.

“It is easy to let a practiced phrase, sentence, even a solitary word, slip from your tongue, without thought, because it has been practiced and learned for many years. And, because of these words, spoken without thought, that tender phrase such as, ‘I love you,’ can be empty, without heart, because it has been practiced, and spoken when it was expected to be heard. I urge you, today, to not let your lips give witness when your heart is held captive.

“I encourage you to live the things you wish to say. When you say, ‘I love you,’ and that phrase is embellished with the actions and the deeds of a loving heart, your words carry weight, are profound, impact those around you. When you say, ‘Thank you,’ and the words are embellished by a grateful heart, your words are powerful and appreciated, because of the weight they carry. And, when you pronounce your beliefs, when you say, ‘I believe in God,’ ‘When I speak, God speaks to me,’ ‘Love one another with all your heart,’ ‘turn the other cheek when insulted,’ when you say statements of faith, intended to give witness that you believe, embellish your words with a believing heart, with a heart aflame with love for God. When your heart is with your words, they are powerful. When your heart stands alone, filled with love for others, no words are necessary.

“Your spirit, My brothers and sisters, came from God. The spirit that lives within you, which animates the body you are wearing as a mantle or a cloak, right now, is eternal. When the day comes that you believe this, and you know it fully, your body will follow your spirit. And, when your body follows your spirit, all will see and know the wisdom of eternity: through what you say; through the seeds you sow; through the glory of God that shines from you, and all around you!

“Do not speak thoughtlessly. Guard what you are saying, until you are sure that it is coming from your spirit; for, it is your spirit which knows God; it is your spirit which holds a piece of God, and The Kingdom of Heaven, within you. I can speak to you, because I speak to your spirit, we are one!

“Release the temptation to cling to the body, you see every day in the mirror, and embrace the spirit you are, for My brothers and sisters, you are an eternal being, but you will not know this fully, you will not realize this completely, until first you recognize the spirit you are!”

February 2, 2020

“I AM with you. I reach-out to you to give you support, to provide comfort, no matter what you are facing today. And, if this day brings to you cause for celebration, then I dance with you, I sing with you, I rejoice with you and in you, for the day has come for you to sing. I bring you words from The Dimension of Perfection where all is as it should be.

“Prayer is an interesting thing. Most often prayer is a litany of things needed, requests to be answered, longings to be fulfilled. And sometimes, the prayer is just beautiful communication, acknowledging God, being thankful for the gifts of each day, prayers of forgiveness citing how the lessons and importance of forgiveness have finally settled within you, and for this too, your prayer says, you are grateful. But few begin a prayer with the understanding that this prayer is a powerful instrument of trans-dimensional communication, going from one dimension into The Dimension of Perfection. And, when the response comes back, from The Dimension of Perfection, it holds wisdom, because you are getting answers from the eternal chest. This treasure chest holds all of the past, all of the future, and all of the present. Therefore, your answer is not limited to a precise time. When you ask, and you receive an answer in prayer, it holds all time, all truth, all knowledge. It is wisdom. It is important to maintain this communication.

“You are all used to hearing the word, ‘Heaven.’ Heaven means where it is all perfect, this place where it is as it is intended to be; but, it might be easier for you to understand, if you begin to see it as The Dimension of Perfection, where all beings residing therein are perfect. They have reached the state of perfection, where there is no anger, no retaliation, no sadness or grief. It is. You see clearly. There are no contradictions, no conflict. But sometimes, the answers, received in prayer from this over-flowing chest of wisdom, seem too simple. They are brief, not enough words, not complex enough to satisfy those seeking an answer to what they believe is a complicated situation. And so, you turn to books, or movies, or lectures, or advice from friends, and family, and acquaintances to see how they would resolve your situation. You have rejected the wisdom of eternity, seeking resolution in the ways of the world, which crumble and fall from day to day.

“Every single situation can be resolved, using the energy of love. Love is the only answer you need. But, when it is given as the answer, it is rejected outright oftentimes, because there is no complete understanding of love upon the Earth. You think you know what love is; but, until you know the ways of God, your understanding is limited. Therefore, do not seek answers from those around you in the world, receive the answers from The Dimension of Perfection, and soon you will grow in your comprehension and definition of love.

“In an atmosphere and in an environment of love all things are possible, all things change. You have evidence of the power of the energy of love all around you. It is obvious when someone is ‘in love’ with another person. In fact, in this state of love, their physical appearance is altered. They are radiant, happy, beautiful, filled with energy. You have seen it. Love can alter the appearance, the physical appearance. If you see this, in everyday occurrences, can you imagine what the ultimate form of love can accomplish when you are sitting with God and filled with the power of this love? Imagine it. It is important for you to believe in the power of love so that your next day, and your next day will be filled with excitement, so that you will be eager to experience the days that come to you, filled with love, because when you are filled with love, when you know someone loves you, you can do almost anything, because they have given you confidence, courage, strength through their support, through their loving support. You see this every day in those around you. It is also quite obvious when it is missing.

“Now, I ask you today to permit God to love you in the eternal way. Unconditional love is yours, and this love will support you, encourage you, strengthen you, so that you rise-up and walk through every adversity, confident that you will get to the other side, and you will do so, carrying the love of God. The only way you will know it is to do it. And, the only way you can do it is to accept it. Accept the love of God today and watch the change in you impact others around you, for the good of all.”

January 26, 2020

“I AM with you. When you believe this, it is a source of comfort to you. When you are trained in believing this, through practice, it becomes a part of you and you know I AM with you, just as you know a friend, who is not near to you, supports you, and all your endeavors, and the things that you wish to do, even when they live in another city, far away from you. It is easier to understand this support and love, when you place it in a human being form, than it is when you are speaking to Me, in the realm of the unseen. But, I assure you, I do not remain unseen all the time, and when your belief reaches the plateau where you believe, to the degree that I walk into your life and you see Me, as you watch things unfolding around you, in a miraculous way. Then, you take understanding to a different level, and realize it is not required to see, but to know, and to accept, so you might grow, and move into The Eternal River, The Ever-going Procession of Eternity. It moves, it continues, and it is very exciting.

“Seen versus the unseen, the unseen does not mean that you cannot see it, the unseen is not observed easily, but when the light is just right the unseen is revealed, maybe in a flash, perhaps for an hour or two, but it is important that the light hold it in such a way that you have time to observe it. Your human body functions in a way that requires faith for you to see the unseen, but you can partially explain it, even to a child, when you encounter a column of insects, which you did not even know was present, or anywhere near you, until the light of the sun caught it, at just the right time, when you could see thousands of insects in column climb to the sky. But it was not there, for you, until the light made it true, and the unseen became the seen right before you. This is how it works. If everything around you is flowing, effortlessly, living and growing, it is only ego that creates within you the idea that you are not part of it. Somehow you are special, set aside. You walk through the park, but you do not consider yourself a part of the park. You swim in the ocean, but rarely believe you are part of the ocean, at that moment. You would concede that the fish are part of the ocean environment, but you would not consider yourself a part of the ocean environment, because you believe you are special and set aside. If you sit with this thought for a while, your perspective will be altered, ever so slightly, and you will begin to see that as you walk through the park, you are part of the park. You walk into that environment, and there you are.

“Many of you will place objects along the way to follow this thought completely through, but I can assure you it is true. And, many of you will say, ‘Well, that is a very good thought for a day when you have nothing to do, but what about a project? You cannot just walk through the day when you have a project which has a deadline, which must be met.’ ‘And, that is a good question,’ I would say. But still, the day will unfold, as it is meant to unfold, and the project which holds such importance, if it is meant to be, it will become a part of that day, through you, because you will create it to be so; and, that is what you will do, and that is how you contribute to the continuing of creation.

“Putting a period at the end of that sentence does not put a period to the end of the questions that these statements bring forth in your thoughts. Yes, you must be prepared, but preparation does not mean worry and fretting, fear and doubt. Preparation means: when it is time to go to school to study, go to school and study; when it is time to get-up and go to work, get-up and go to work; when it is time to take care of your body so that it can respond, quickly and efficiently, to the control center, to what you desire it to do, then take care of your body; eat the right foods, exercise, laugh, dance, be happy. Make preparation, waiting for the time, when you are called to step upon the stage, and play your role, a role that is significant as time unfolds into eternity, all eternity. Be prepared. Do not worry. When you are prepared, no matter how it unfolds, your role will bring you forth, and you will do your part. You will create what is meant to be, and you will bring it into the dimension where you exist; and, in doing so, you have played the role you are meant to play. Preparation, opening to the possibility that you are one with the park, and the pool, and the ocean, and the desert, and the woods, and the rivers. Consider that it is not magic, it is miraculous. Consider it is not coincidence, it is the ways of God. Consider that, no matter how much you worry and fret, it will be. Take these few words into the day with thee, and know I AM with you.”

“I AM with you. I AM walking with you. You cannot see Me, but I AM with you, and while you cannot see Me, you most assuredly can feel My presence with you, when you are alone, and quiet, and still. When you are walking on a city street, and there are people passing-by, some bumping into you, conversations rising and falling, blasts from traffic moving by you, sounds of airplanes flying above you, it is difficult to hear Me, walking so near you, because of the distractions of the day. It can also be difficult to hear Me in your own home, when you are alone, with the sounds of vacuum cleaners, and children knocking on the door to come in, and televisions blasting the news, and music playing in your ears so that you cannot hear what is going -on around you. This too is the same, distractions have pushed Me away. You cannot hear Me, but I AM with you. The remedy is to find a quiet place, and be still, and let that sanctuary become real, and I will be with you in a most profound way, because many of you are seeking sanctuary today.

“Today, I want to speak to those of you who are in crisis mode. Things that you have been taught are being picked-up, as in a tornado or a cyclone, scattered here and there, and when they leave the air and fall back to Earth, they are no longer in places they were before. That which you have been taught is scattered to the winds. I wish to talk to those of you who are caught in doubt, or perhaps anger, at situations which are swirling around you, some brought not on your own fault, not on your own doing, but just because they have come to you, and are now yours to master. I speak to those of you who feel you are in darkness today, or at least shadow. And, these pieces of darkness and shadow are cloaking your heart, making it difficult to laugh or sing. These things I wish to speak to you about, today. If you find yourself in any one of these situations, or another situation which is near to these descriptions, be still. Lean toward Me so that you might hear, so that your ears are not caught to distraction, but the words fall upon them, and you know they are true. In times of doubt it is often impossible to reason the doubt away. Therefore, the best thing you can do is to be still. Being still is even better than calling-on God and speaking the litany of things that are distressing you, or confounding you, or bringing doubt to you, things that are wounding you, or hurting you, or seem as if they are causing sadness to take-up dwelling within you. God knows your heart, therefore be still so that you might hear what God wants you to hear, so that you might use these times of darkness and shadow to enlighten, and it is possible through God. As you lose what seems to be your last thread of faith, sit down with it, and wait to see what God tells you, because what God will say to you, in difficult times, will be exactly right for you. This is individual guidance from God, personal revelation from God, and God will not lead you astray. God will lead you through the darkness into the light of a new day.

“When you are caught in these times, it does not mean that what you have been taught before was wrong, and that you have wasted all those years, believing something that was not true. It means that it is time for you to transcend what you have been taught so that God might embellish your life with wisdom beyond what you could have been taught, because it is wisdom of God, from The Kingdom of God. And, because it is so, it will lead you, and be with you no matter where you go, and it will fit every situation, and every circumstance, without fail. You will be wiser, you will become, through this process, an enlightened being.

“Just to give you an example, let us say you are a doctor, and you have been trained. You have been trained very carefully on procedure, and how to follow a process, and take care of your patients, and bring them from illness or sickness to health again; or, if you cannot do this, at least give them a way to live with what has come to them, which sometimes means walking with a cane, or the use of a wheelchair. Let us say that a doctor has come upon a scene where someone is in great pain, and the pain is not ceasing because they are screaming, and moving from side to side; and, there seems no relief in sight, and nothing that has been taught, which will come to mind, relieves the pain. Then, through what seems to be intuition, the doctor proceeds. The process is totally ‘out of the box,’ not what was taught. But, midway through this process, the pain is alleviated, and the person is free. The doctor seems to be a hero for a moment or two, and he is thanked for what he did do. This does not mean the past training was wrong. The past training, in general, works well. But, when you encounter a situation that is not usual, then you must go beyond, and that is what the doctor did. The doctor did transcend the teaching of the past to do what he was led to do in a moment of concern for another, and it brought that person from pain and fear to calm and rest.

“This situation can be applied to those of you, who are having dark times, when institutions in which you placed your trust have apparently let you down, and you feel as if a rug has been pulled-out from under you as you tumble to the ground. God is your way out, and the answers will come. It does not mean you must curse the past, it means you must open at last to the revelation of God. It means you will rise above what is the usual, and find the unusual in The Hand of God, and The Light of God will bring you wisdom where there once was frustration, light where there was once darkness and shadow, understanding where there was once confusion, joy there was once consternation.”

“I AM with you. I reach-out, extend My hand, and offer guidance as you make your way through this day. I AM with you, and there is change around every corner, with every person who walks in and out of your life, with every situation that presents itself, and then dissolves. I AM with you.

“From the time you take your first gasp of air, and breathe-in at birth, there is change. It swirls around you, and things come in and out, flowing like a river. Yes, life upon Earth is very much like a river, never staying one place, moving-on, headed toward the destination, the completion, just around the bend. Today, I want to encourage you to make sure you are always connected with the one Constant, the ever-present Source of Love, and Light, and Peace in your life, and that is God. God will be the constant when everything else around you is changing. Using the terminology of the present time upon Earth, it could easily be said that it would be a good thing to make God your Best Friend. Talk to God about everything. When you are tempted (1) to go to this person, or that person, to relate something that happened to you that either upset you and made you angry, or upset you and made you sad, (2) and you tell this story to this person, or that person, there is really no resolve by doing this. It is just making it grow bigger, and bigger, and bigger. But I can promise you this, if you take every situation and sit with your Best Friend, your Constant Source of Love, God will listen, without interrupting; and, once you are done, once the story is told, God will guide you to the next step with wisdom. The direction will not be the same as the ways of the world would teach you, because God's direction and instruction will not be a way of retaliation, giving this for that, making life pretty miserable for the other person. God's direction will come to you in the form of love, a loving response, thoughts, words, and deeds, a way to resolve every issue, and have it truly dissolve before you.

“God is your Constant. Life is changing. Do not be tempted to hold what comes to you. Let it come to you, be with you, and then move-on, if that is what is intended for it to do. As you begin your journey upon the Earth, you begin it alone. You are born alone, and you will pass back through the doorway into your heavenly experience alone. But there are many blessings along your journey, while you upon Earth. Situations come, and they go. Some lessons come and stay, they remain with you, and you take them forward into each day. Some people come and go. Very few people come and stay, but it is meant to be that way. And, those who are meant to stay will be walking with you along The Way. You will not have to hold-onto them or make them stay. It is their destiny to stay to walk The Way.

“Today, spend some time thinking, and pondering: God as your Best Friend, God as the Source of the only divine answer to any situation; and then, letting people and situations come into your life and stay for the season they are meant to stay, and then go, moving on their way. That which is meant to be with you will be with you, without clutching, holding, or grabbing. It is the flow of your lifetime upon Earth. Let it come. Let it go. Make the journey with those who are with you, with God guiding you all The Way Home.”

“I AM with you. I AM with each one of you whose heart is open. I will not desert you, or leave you standing in the storm alone, for wherever you go there too I shall be, for we are one.

“When I walked upon the Earth My mission was sacred. I walked upon the Earth as fulfillment of all prophecy of The Messiah, a path that was set by the prophets who received the words and spoke the words. And, the words were written down, and The Way was established, waiting to be blessed, anointed, and fulfilled. And, when it was time, I came, sent from God, to announce good news, good tidings, that freedom would come to all who would embrace love, the new command, love one another.

“There were thousands whose hearts were ready to hear the words, and they embraced the words as seeds sown in the garden well prepared, but there were many whose hearts were closed. If I could not unlock the closed hearts with fulfillment of prophecy, the delivering of miracles, and words of love and kindness, and compassion, you will also not be able to convince the closed heart with words. No matter how eloquent they might be, no matter how truthful they might be, no matter how compelling they might be, they fall away as rain splashing on a rock. But, what can you do to share the good news within you? You can live it. The way you live, the things you do, the kindness and compassion welling-up within you, and spilling-out onto those around you will say far more than your words. In fact, these deeds, seen by the eyes of all around you, will be as seeds, planted in a garden. The words, which could not open the heart, brought to life will be evidence of the ways of God.

“Yes, you are here for a purpose, and yes God wants you to share all of the goodness you feel within you, but you must wait until it is time. If you throw seeds, if you cast seeds, upon sidewalks, the birds will come and carry them away, but they will not grow. If you cast seeds amongst rocks, that is not a fertile place, and like a heart that is locked the rocks will not embrace the seeds, to hold them, so that they might grow. Even if you sow the seeds in soil, they still might not produce all that they are capable of producing unless the soil has been prepared to receive the seeds. That is when the seeds produce flowers and food in great abundance, when they are sown in fertile ground. The garden flourishing is proof that the seeds were good, is proof that the gardener knew how to tend the soil before planting the seed. Therefore, to produce a fertile garden, one that you can share with everyone, tend your garden within. Take the seeds that God has given you and place them in the fertile soil of your heart, and your spirit, and your soil, and let them flourish.

“Seeds begin their growth hidden beneath the soil, and the evidence of that growth, that new life, is only apparent when the shoot, the delicate shoot, breaks the surface and begins to unfold, growing in the light. This is how you can change the entire world: by tending your own garden; by making sure that your garden is prepared, and ready to receive the seeds; by maintaining your garden and letting it grow, at its own speed, in its own time, until the evidence of the growth within you breaks through and embraces The Light, evidence of life for all to see. This opportunity is available to each of you.”
